Still Shipping Machinery Away.

A number of the machines in the Union Pacific shops were dismantled the early part of this week, loaded on cars and shipped to Grand Island and Sidney where they will be used for engine repair work.

Up to date nearly one-half of the machines in the local shops have been shipped out, and the shops have a deserted look both as to men and machinery. The prediction made by Master Mechanic Barnum relative to the force which will be maintained here seems to be coming true.

Rumors of a Settlement.

Rumors are now rife that a settlement of the strike on the Union Pacific will be effected between now and the first of September. If these reports are true, the men will go back at the former wage schedule, and that no further attempt at the introduction of piece work will be made.

Coupled with these rumors is a report that certain machinery used in the old Omaha shops will be sent to North Platte to take the place of the machines which were removed to Sidney and Grand Island.

These rumors are said to come from an authentic source, yet they are denied by local Union Pacific officials.

During the past week two additional freight crews were put on on the Second district. This action was made necessary by the rush of fall business which has now started.

Now that the boiler shop has been cleared of all the machinery, it will be fitted up as a sleeping apartment for the imported men, and the sleeping cars will be discarded.

Five of the imported men at the shops quit work Wednesday and four yesterday, but as men are being shipped in by twos and fives every day or two, the force of imported men averages about the same as three or four weeks ago—the minimum number being about fifty.

The Bee says evidences are multiplying that the Union Pacific will sue for peace with its striking employees and that Congressman Mercer will be the go-between. It matters little to the people along the line of the road who the mediator is just so the strike is settled and that it is settled quickly.

The Burlington has fixed itself so far as the rumored strike is concerned by advancing the pay of its trainmen, switchmen and baggage men. Will the Union Pacific, which has been regarded as "the best road in the country to work on," follow the example of the Burlington, which is known as a "scab" road? Is taking the lead in this matter, the Burlington has gained respect in circles where formerly it did not exist.

About twenty of the old standard engines are now in use on the Second and Third districts, and they have come in mighty handy, in fact without them it is questionable if the company could have kept their trains moving. At present there are seventy-five engines running out of North Platte, which is about one-third more than usual. This increase is due to two causes, an increase of freight business and the condition of the engines which precludes them from hauling the customary tonnage.

Today, if matured plans are carried into effect, the trainmen on all roads west of Chicago, with one or two exceptions, will make a demand for an increase of pay amounting to one-half cent per mile. Never in the history of this country has the business of the railroads been so prosperous, and they can well afford to pay the advance demanded by the conductors and brakemen. Especially so when the duties of these employees have been increased from one-third to one-half during the past three or four years by the advent of heavier motive power.
