WANTS MORE POWER. President Roosevelt devoted his Boston speech to a discussion of the trust question and went right into it without the least mental reservation.

"Of course, it is a truism that the corporation is the creature of the state; that the state is sovereign. Now, I want to make a real and not a nominal sovereign; to have one sovereign to which the corporation shall be really and not nominally responsible.

"What I hope to see is power given to the national legislature which shall make the control real.

"If we can get adequate control by the nation of these corporations then we can pass legislation which will give us the power of regulation and supervision over them.

"I want publicity as to the essential facts in which the public is interested."
