The Unloading Sale at The Leader Continues Unabated.

The Unloading Sale, which was inaugurated at The Leader on November 8th, continues to be a magnet which draws a great number of bargain-seekers daily to that popular establishment. People who have visited the store are fully satisfied that the sale is no "fake," but that it is a genuine bargain-getting occasion. They find that there has been a great reduction in the price of all classes of merchandise, and that the price-cutting has not been confined to the cheaper class of goods.

The patronage accorded The Leader during this sale has exceeded the expectations of the proprietor, and the large number of sales people have been kept busy every day since the sale began. Many of the people who have visited the store, and especially residents of the country precincts, have found the prices on goods so low that they have purchased a winter's supply of necessary articles, and in doing so have saved a nice sum of money. The Leader's prices on all classes of merchandise have always been a shade lower than elsewhere, but now with the great reduction which has been made during this Unloading Sale, the prices are far below those of any other store-and this statement is attested by all who have patronized the sale.

This sale will continue until December 8th, and while there is still. nearly three weeks in which to take advantage of the bargains offered, it is advisable that all do their buying as early as possible in order to get the best results.

Everybody is cordially invited to visit The Leader during this sale. Drop in and look over the bargain tables and convince yourself that this is a genuine bargain-getting price-cutting occasion. Money saved is money carned, and there is no way in which you can save money so easily and quickly as at

The Leader's Unloading Sale.

Homes In Italy. Speaking of homes and ways of living, Mr. Luigi Villari in "Italian Life In Town and Country", reveals a curious state of affairs. In Italian cities there are no slum districts. The poorest of the poor may be lodged in the same palace with people whose income runs over $25,000 annually. The poor are packed away in the garrets or in the cellars, to be sure, and their misery must be rendered all the more acute by the sight and scent of such

The Expense of Canary Birds. The keeping of canaries seems to be a fairly expensive luxury. To start with, a really good bird will cost $50. You can easily spend more, but $50 will buy a fairly good Norwich bred bird. The food the bird requires consists of various delicacies in the form of rye, bread, rice, meal and vegetables. Canaries are liable to all sorts of ailments, and this, of course, necessitates further expense, for the treatment of these complaints is anything but cheap. Of course, no fancier of
