Railway Men in Politics.

Permanent headquarters of the Nebraska State Railway Employees Protective association have been opened at Hotel Rome and one or more members of the executive committee will be in charge from now on to look after the interests of the railroad men and their campaign against "needless agitation of the railroad question and reductions of rates which promise nothing for the general good, but threaten to cut the revenues of the railways to such an extent that wage reductions and decreased forces will be necessary," says the Omaha Bee.

"We are not going to enter the national campaign in any way" said S. C. Macomber member of the committee from North Platte. "We have no idea of declaring ourselves for either Mr. Taft or Mr. Bryan. Our interest is wholly within the state of Nebraska and we will not be identified with any movement to support either national ticket. But we are in politics just the same—Nebraska politics, and when the time comes we will be found looking out for the interests of the railway wage earners by knowing something about the men who are to be elected to the Nebraska legislature and who will be up for election to places on the State Railway commission.

"These are the places we are going to watch and the places which similar organizations in other states will watch, but let it be distinctly understood that the organization as an organization will not quibble with either the republican or democratic parties as to the national injunction question or other similar questions which may agitate some of the labor organizations or which may arouse the labor organizations and brotherhoods to which our members belong."

The members of the executive committee say the organization in Nebraska is growing rapidly and at present over 60 per cent of the railway employees in the state are enrolled. Several meetings are being held in different parts of the state every week.

To make the purpose of the organization clear a circular letter has been prepared which is being sent to all railway employees of the state. This letter says in part:

We desire to make clear that it is not our purpose to prevent, obstruct or oppose the passage of any measure which the general welfare of the state demands but we do propose to see to it that our interests shall hereafter receive the same consideration as all other classes of citizens, taxpayers and voters, instead of being ignored by the professional politician who imagines he is doing our thinking for us and whose only stock in trade is an extensive vocabulary composed principally of hot air. Not only is our numerical strength a gratifying feature, but the intelligence of each and every member is an inspiration prompting every member to greater efforts toward securing the results for which this association is formed. We wish to especially direct your attention to the coming political campaign, and impress upon you the necessity of carefully looking into each candidate's record as to his ability and his attitude relative to our interests. It must be clearly understood by those who will give our interests the full and fair consideration accorded to others. We do not antagonize the interests of the banker, merchant, manufacturer or farmer, but regard them as our friends whose interests and ours are mutual. We believe the interests of the 22,000 employees of this state are too important to be continually subjected to such political juggling as in the past. We have already gone on record favoring federal supervision of railroads and the adjustment of unfair rates, and stand ready at all times to support legislation which tends to promote equally the interests of all, through which prosperity will surely follow.

Quality is what you should stand out for when buying silverware or silver plate. Silver means silver here, and everything in plated ware is the best of its kind. We can show you a splendid variety of either.

Water Bonds Defeated.

By a vote of 319 to 292, the proposition to vote water bonds in the sum of ninety thousand dollars was defeated at the special election held Tuesday. To have carried, the bonds needed two-thirds of all votes cast, and were therefore 115 votes short of the required number.

The result by wards was as follows: First ward, 68 for and 80 against; Second ward 132 for and 164 against; Third ward 92 for and 75 against.

The defeat of this proposition to build a new plant, following a rejection of a proposition to purchase the present plant at its appraised value, leaves no other course to pursue but to grant a new franchise to the present company. In granting a franchise, which should give the city the option to purchase at the end of every two or four years, the company should be required under the contract to lay additional mains in order that the outlying residence districts have the benefit of water for domestic purposes as well as for fire protection. And in instances where two inch mains are in service, they should be taken up and replaced with four inch. The company can afford to make the needed extensions, for the increased revenue will pay interest on the investment, and in case of future purchase by the city the improvements thus made could be added to the physical value of the plant, less the usual per cent of depreciation for wear and tear.

Heretofore the money raised by the seven mill levy—the maximum levy possible under the law—has been insufficient to maintain additional hydrants, and the council has not felt warranted in ordering additional hydrants placed. Now, however, the assessed value of the city has been considerably increased, and the seven mill levy will probably create sufficient funds to pay for a number of additional hydrants.

We do not believe that those people who do not now have satisfactory water service, and who voted for the bonds, have reason to feel "sore."

Had the bonds carried and an attempt made to throw out the present company almost endless litigation would have followed and during this litigation the bonds would not have been salable—no purchaser would care to buy a law suit along with the bonds. This being true, the new plant could not have been built and the present company would not be in shape to make extensions; therefore the people who are without service or who have poor service would need wait until the matter was settled in the courts.

We believe that the water company will continue to treat the people fairly and that under a new contract it will consent to extend its system so that practically all the outlying districts can have water for both domestic and fire purposes. If it doesn't consent to such, it should be made to do so by the council.

Among other articles found and assessed were: 1,591 dogs, 3,653 wagons and carriages, 1,265 watches, 1,469 sewing machines, 21 threshing machines, 13 automobiles, 879 pianos and organs, 372 guns and revolvers, 46 engines and 54 type writers.

The farmers had on hand at the time the assessment was taken 7,445 bushels of wheat, 35,951 bushels of corn, 2,280 bushels of oats, 1,200 bushels of Kaffir corn, 645 bushels of potatoes, 2,119 tons of hay and 35 tons of broom corn.

Of the land in the county only 85,212 acres are placed as under cultivation and 1,233,586 not under cultivation. The actual value of all this land is $8,687,113, the land under cultivation having an average valuation of $20.23 per acre and the unimproved an average of $6.06, making the average value of all land $7.04 per acre.

In the county there are 1,505 improved town lots valued at $2,078,616, and 3,529 unimproved town lots valued at $250,445, making a total valuation of all town property of $2,372,060.

The total actual value of the county, exclusive of railroads, telegraph and telephones is:

Real Estate.....$8,687,113
Town property.....2,372,060
Personal property.....3,748,650

Total.....$14,807,823
To this is to be added the railroad property, the actual value of which is about seven million dollars in round numbers.

For tax levying purposes this total of $21,800,000 is divided by five making the sum of $4,360,000 upon which the levies can be made.
