RICHES FOR A POOR GIRL

ALLENTOWN MILL-HAND TO WED MILLIONAIRE.

Young Woman Fits Herself for New Position Before Marrying Man She Saved from Drowning on Two Occasions.

New York.—Living in a prominent hotel in this city preparatory to marrying a young millionaire whose life she saved two years ago in the Lehigh Valley river, at Allentown, Pa., is "Miss Jennie Clausen," who, when she met the man she is to marry, worked as a mill-hand at eight dollars a week in the Pennsylvania town. That she might be fitted for the life and social position to which her husband's fortune would call her, the young woman for two years lived in a home on Fifth avenue, owned by the young millionaire. She had $250,000 a year, and with a retinue of servants placed at her disposal lived the life of a social queen. It is said that she has taken such good care of the money that she has doubled it.

Store Where Only Wooden Shoes and Long Pipes Are Sold.

Albany, N. Y.—A man here has a store which is the only one of its kind in the country. In it he sells just two things—wooden shoes and long Dutch pipes. He has kept the store for years and has never enlarged his stock beyond these two items.

The proprietor is a Hollander himself, as his name—Van Wart—would indicate. He imports his pipes and his wooden shoes direct from the old country.

It must not be thought that there are enough wooden shoes worn in this country to maintain Mynheer Van Wart in affluence. Most of his sales are of small shoes which can be used for ornamental purposes, or at least alleged ornamental purposes.

He ships boxes and boxes of tiny wooden shoes to women who gild them and make them into dinner favors. Others are made up as candy boxes. Others are filled with flowers for luncheons or dinners.

A limited number really find their way to the feet of some imported citizens who know the advantage of having an inch of dry, warm wood between their soles and the wet ground. Wooden shoes are especially suited for gardeners, although they might be worn to advantage by anybody working in cold, damp or sloppy places.

While the pipe end of the business

lfe, and is ready to take her place at her husband's side, his social and intellectual equal. The man, whose name is withheld until the marriage, which is expected to occur this month, is a member of one of New York's wealthiest and most exclusive families.

Joseph Mack, one of the largest employers in the city of Allentown, and interested in both the silk and the automobile business, is one of the men who know all about the romance of the factory girl and the millionaire New Yorker. With the others he respects her wishes for secrecy regarding her identity and plans.

"You see," said Mr. Mack, recently, "I employ a good many persons. I trust my employes and they trust me. I could never break confidence with one of them without its effect, and I don't want them to break confidence with me. I can only say that I know the story. That is all."

The meeting between the factory girl and the young millionaire was the result of a chain of accidents. On his way to take part in a polo game in another city, the young man was halted by a wreck near Allentown. On the banks of the Lehigh river he watched at play a score of factory girls led by Miss Clausen, and in his interest in the game he made a misstep. With a cry he fell into the river, and would have drowned had not Jennie Clausen pulled him out.

HAT OVERBALANCES WOMAN.

Plunge Into Creek Averted Only by the Headpiece's Reverse Action.

Darby, Pa.—Overbalanced by the great weight of her "Merry Widow" hat, which was of a diameter exceptionally wide over for that kind, a young woman who said she was Miss Margale Stiekney of Nineteenth street, below Tasker, Pa., missed her footing the other afternoon while leaning over the banks of Darby creek, searching for wild violets.

After sliding down the steep embankment of the creek several yards, she escaped a drowning only by the great width of her hat, which caught in a blackberry bramble and arrested her headlong flight.

Three girl companions who were picking flowers with her screamed as they saw Miss Stiekney take her plunge, and Policemen Smith and Crumbaker rescued the young woman from her embarrassing predicament, at the expense, however, of considerable beauty of the headpiece that caused all the trouble.

WHERE SHE HAD THE BULGE.

Telephone Girl's Great Opportunity to Get Gloriously Even.

"You know that red-headed cashier that had the nerve to complain of me to the boss the other day," said the girl at the telephone desk, to a New York Times writer. "Well, I got even with him, all right. He ain't married, but he's got a best girl. His father owns a shoe factory over in Jersey, and rich—my! Well, she called him up the other afternoon at her usual time. 'Is Mr. Smith there?' she asks, in her most romantic voice. 'Yes,' I answers, just as honeylike as she. 'It's his wife wants him, isn't it?' With that Miss Girl hung up with such a jerk my ear hurt. Smith goes around wondering why she does not call him up. Every time he dares he says to me: 'Has any one called me on the 'phone, Miss Limit?' And I look as innocent as a kid and shake my head. 'No,' I tell you, us telephone girls can turn 'Joy to the Bride' into 'Nothin' Doin'' any time we please. Me for us."

SUFFERED TWENTY-FIVE YEARS.

With Eczema—Her Limb Peeled and Foot Was Raw—Thought Amputation Was Necessary—Believes Life Saved by Cuticura.

"I have been treated by doctors for twenty-five years for a bad case of eczema on my leg. They did their best, but failed to cure it. My doctor had advised me to have my leg cut off. At this time my leg was peeled from the knee, my foot was like a piece of raw flesh, and I had to walk on crutches. I bought a set of Cuticura Remedies. After the first two treatments the swelling went down, and in two months my leg was cured and the new skin came on. The doctor was surprised and said that he would use Cuticura for his own patients. I have now been cured over seven years, and but for the Cuticura Remedies I might have lost my life. Mrs. J. B. Renaud, 277 Mentana St., Montreal, Que., Feb. 20, 1907."

ALL IN THE FAMILY.

Afridi's Simple Explanation of His Easy Victory.

Many of the hill tribesmen in India join the British side and become most valuable recruits. Some years ago in a campaign against the Afridis one of the columns was much annoyed by a persistent "sniper" who followed it daily. Eventually one of the newly joined Afridi recruits requested leave to fall out for a couple of hours to settle the trouble. At the end of the time he strolled in placidly and flung down the head of the sniper.

On being congratulated by his officer and asked how he had managed to find his enemy so quickly, he replied laconically: "I know his ways, sahib."

"Why," said the officer, "was he a friend of yours?"

"My father, sahib!"

TO STAMP OUT DISEASE.

Washington.—As a means of checking tuberculosis in the principal cities of Brazil, the sanitary authorities of that country have instituted a campaign involving the expenditure of $1,250,000.

According to a report from Consul General George E. Anderson, who is stationed in Brazil, the authorities of the republic are prosecuting a campaign especially in Rio de Janeiro as drastic as that against yellow fever.

The Brazilian project includes as its material features:

"The compulsory reporting of every case of tuberculosis to the sanitary authorities; the complete assumption of charge of all cases of tuberculosis by public authorities, in which infectious cases are separated from the public and patients supported by the public; the establishment of hospitals, with complete isolation, for tuberculosis-infected invalids, and of hotels and boarding houses, agricultural colonies, and sanitariums for those not invalid; the absolute refusal of admission into Brazil of any person or animal having tuberculosis; the inspection of all foods and materials likely to carry bacilli of the disease, with power to destroy anything infected, and the betterment of food, housing and other conditions of life for the large mass of the population in which tuberculosis is rampant, for the prevention of the disease by fortifying the people against it by improving their general health.
