The Office of State Superintendent

is one of the most important to every man, woman and child in the state of Nebraska. A glance at the statistics given below, compiled in 1906, will give something of an idea of its importance as well as of the executive and educational ability required: School houses, 6,780; teachers employed, 9,639; children of school age, 373,829; total enrollment, 280,547; value of school district property, $12,076,560.06; total teachers' wages, $3,403,647.00; amount paid for books and supplies, 290,158.35; total expenditures, $5,452,289.66.

For this office western Nebraska submits to the careful judgment of the voters, subject to the decision of the Republican primaries, September 1st a man thoroughly capable and in every way worthy of this most important trust. Prof. James E. Delzell, for at least eleven years, has given eminent satisfaction as superintendent of the schools of our neighboring city of Lexington, and during his incumbency the schools there have been brought to a high state of efficiency. For five years he has been a member of the state board of education for normal schools, being at present president of that body. The experience thus gained has been of great value as to the requirements of our school system. Mr. Delzell will get practically the unanimous vote of this section for this most important office.
