TWENTY-FOURTH YEAR.

NORTH PLATTE, NEBRASKA, SEPTEMBER 4, 1908.

NO. 64

Fearful Accident at Ogalala.

Dr. D. T. Quigley was called to Ogalala Wednesday noon to assist in caring for five persons who were badly injured by the collapse Wednesday forenoon of cement block house at the residence of Peter Girman, a former North Platte resident. This building was situated in the rear of Mr. Girman's residence, and on top of it was a metal tank filled with sixty barrels of water. Mr. Girman, with the help of a stone mason named Alfred Fensterm was at work connecting up the pipes, and there were also in the building a hired man named Frank Kalviet and two of Mr. Girman's sons aged respectively ten and seven years. Mr. Girman was badly bruised on the head and chest, the oldest boy had a leg so badly crushed that amputation was necessary, the younger boy had his collar bone broken and was badly bruised and Kalviet had a leg so badly crushed that amputation was necessary at the hip joint and he will probably die, while Fensterm had his shoulder dislocated and his head and body badly bruised. The collapse of the building was due to the weight of the roof tank.

The Carnival.

The carnival feature of the present week has proven a successful one so far as everyone having a jolly time is concerned. The streets have been thronged with people each evening, and a noticeable increase in the number of visitors was apparent Wednesday and last evenings. The crowd grew so wild and boisterous Monday night that orders were issued by the city authorities prohibiting the use of wife-beaters, squirt guns, loaded rubber balls and other articles in the use of which the crowd had become too free with the result that many complaints were made. The prohibition of these had a tendency to greatly temper the actions of the crowd, but did not deprive them of the pleasures extracted from contact with each other. The amusement features have been well patronized, and the carnival company seems well satisfied. The fire department shares in the receipts of the company, and its share has averaged about forty dollars per night. The carnival will close tomorrow evening, and it is probable that the evening will be a particularly lively one.

Rev. Greenlee Will Resign.

Rev. Thos. B. Greenlee, for seven years pastor of the Presbyterian church, will tender his resignation next Sunday to take effect September 30th. Doctor Greenlee has been called to the Clifton Hill Presbyterian church in Omaha, and severs his connection with the local church because he does not feel that his physical strength will longer permit him to continue the work, especially as the erection of the new church will call for extra labor on the part of the pastor, notwithstanding the work is in charge of a committee.

During his pastorate here Dr. Greenlee has proven a successful and popular minister and is a citizen that has been held in very high esteem by all our citizens. The departure of Dr. and Mrs. Greenlee will cause universal regret among our people.

The Primary Election.

Returns of the primary election in Lincoln county will probably all be in by this evening and if so the vote will be canvassed tomorrow. The vote cast was extremely light, probably not one-third of the total vote being out. In Sunshine and Miller precincts no election was held.

No definite news of the result is obtainable prior to the canvass, but from reports given out by those bringing in the returns, it looks as though Kinkaid and Sibley will break about even in the county, and for state senator Stewart will have a lead over Dr. Quigley. In the city, Williams, candidate for railroad commissioner, received a large vote, notwithstanding he was opposed by the Nebraska railroad employees' association.

Presbyterian Church.

All the regular appointments may be expected on next Sabbath, and it is hoped that there may be a large attendance on the part of the congregation. A cordial welcome will be extended to all who may come to worship with us. The annual offering to the board of ministerial relief will be taken in connection with the service of public worship in the morning.

It is not to be construed that this French dry cleaner and extractor is a man or a woman, for it is not; it is a new machine that he has bought which cleans clothes by a dry process, and is something new in the clothes cleaning line. This machine not only cleans clothes thoroughly but does it quickly. It makes old clothes new and the specimens Mr. Reese will display shows what the machine will do. This device has been purchased by Mr. Reese at an expense that is not warranted, but he hopes to be sufficiently compensated by increased business for the additional expense.
