State Officers Divided.

The latest state returns give the republicans five and the democrats four state officers. The democrats get the governor, lieutenant-governor, secretary of state and railway commissioner, while the republicans bag the treasurer, superintendent of schools, auditor, attorney general and commissioner of public lands and buildings. The republican get but three of the six congressmen-Hinshaw in the Fourth, Norris in the Fifth and Kinkaid in the Sixth. The plurality for Norris is twenty-three.

Plead Ignorance.

A number of voters who cast their ballots against Sheldon for governor and Williams for railway commissioner, now claim that they did not know Shallenberger and Cowgill were being boosted by the railroads. This plea of ignorance seems almost incredulous, for it was known all through the campaign that the railroads did not want Sheldon or William-in fact a strong fight was made against Williams at the primary election. There has never been an officer in Nebraska who more fully deserved a re-election than Governor Sheldon, and the political ingratitude shown him will never be forgotten by thousands of republicans in Nebraska.

The Total Vote of County.

Below is published the total vote received by the candidates in the election last Tuesday. The total vote is the largest ever cast in Lincoln county, exceeding by 1,340 the vote cast in November, 1907. The decreased vote for Sheldon and Williams as compared with the vote for Junkin, shows the work of the railroad employes, they having opposed the election of Sheldon and Wil- move. liams and supported Shallenberger and Cowgill.

In Hall precinct ten ballots were thrown out which, judges say, should have been counted.

The way in which the country precincts stood up for the republican ticket is to be commended, and as the country republicans saved the county, we extend congratulations to them and commend them for their good work. .

Seven-Cent Hogs Predicted.

A Chicago dispatch says: Prediction of 7-cent hogs is again heard in stock yards circles. Forecasta are all optimistic as to hogs with weight and quality and a general opinion exists that big hogs with finish have already touched the low spot for the season. Armour attitude is regarded as significant, that house having changed its policy and joined in the buying of heavy hogs. That there will be plenty of light stuff during the early part of the winter is certain and this only means scarcity of big hogs later, when the market is full of them.

Nebraska and the Brewers. Lincoln Journal.

The brewers have beaten George Sheldon. It matters less that an incidental result of their activity carried the state for Bryan, for Taft has plenty of votes without Nebraska's. But it matters much that they have been the means of meteing out punishment for his good deeds to as brave, honest and efficient a governor as this state can ever hope to have.

Here is a man who fought the people's battle for freedom from corporation domination at a time when victory was not sure or reform popular. As it happened, he won. Then he put out his words into deeds. He became the embodiment of the "suuare deal" in Nebraska. He risked and gained the wrath of special interests by defending general interests. When he comes up for the re-election which should have given him opportunity to complete his work these special interests plan his defeat. A standing army is at hand for that purpose. The brewers have only to pass the word and their saloon keepers, each with his platoon of followers, spring into line. No matter whether they fully control the new governor or not they have won, for by defeating Sheldon they have given notice that it is political death in Nebraska to oppose them.

What do the people of Nebraska think of this? Are they getting tired of finding an army of brewers and saloon hangers-on in the way of every movement of whatever kind that tries to cleanse the politics and straighten the laws of the state? If the railroads can induce their employes to support railroad candidates, that cannot be helped. We must have railroads. But if the brewers join with the others special interests to knife public officials who are true to the public, that can be helped. The brewers and their army of liquor sellers we can do very well without if need be.

In the light of Tuesday's results is seems reasonably clear that the next step in Nebraska progress is to put out of politics that inveterate block to all political progress. The liquor interests have been warned that unless they get out of politics they will be put out of business. Their answer is the defeat of Sheldon. It is the people's next Fatal Affray near Lexington.

A dispatch from Lexington dated Sunday says: Last night a fatal affray occurred about fifteen miles northeast of this place at a dance between Dave Fisher and Emery Mathews, two neighbors who were not on good terms with each other. Hot words passed and Mathews struck Fisher twice with his fist, one blow on the jaw the other over the heart, the latter blow killing him instantly. Mathews fled but a sheriff's posse captured him today and he was placed under arrest. Coron summoned a jury and inquest was held, who returned the verdict that deceased came to his death by a blow from Mathew's fist. Mathews is now in jail awaiting further developments, this being Sunday no charge has not yet been filed.

The Finding of Mann's Body. In speaking of the murder committed in Keith county, particulars of which were published in Friday's Tribune, the Ogalalla News says: Mrs. Smith, wife of the murderer, arrived this (Thursday) morning with a Denver Post reporter and with Sheriff Beal and D. W Harrington they started in one of Holloway's autos for Roscoe where the woman says the murder was committed. When they arrived at the little school house near Roscoe, she remarked that the murder was committed at this point, near the school house She very easily followed the trail from that point. Crossing the Roscoe bridge to the south side of the river, thence west to the big draw, some three miles south of Ogalalla. When they arrived there she said that was the place and pointed out where the body would be found.

The removal of a few shovels full of earth revealed the body, in a badly decomposed condition. The remains tallied with the description given by the woman at Denver.

The body was brought to Ogalalla and placed in Arrowsmith's morgue, where Coroner Likens held an inquest. Interrment was made in the Ogalalla cemetery.

In the morning I would get up so lame that I could not would get up so lame that I could not stand erect and it would be hours be-fore I could walk about with any degree of comfort.
