Railroad Notes.

Genl. Supt. Park is spending today in town, having arrived from the west on No. 6 this morning.

George Randall arrived from Grand Island Tuesday and has been installed as Union Pacific storekeeper.

Supt. Sheldon, of the Western Union Telegraph Co., spent yesterday in town looking after the interests of his company.

Trainmaster Roth returned Wednesday from Denver, where he had been attending a conference of Union Pacific officials.

The veteran general baggage agent of the Union Pacific, Andy Trainor, spent a short time in town Wednesday. Mr. Trainor may be growing older, but his years do not seem to dim his disposition to hustle.

Ed Hughes, a former North Platte resident, but for a number of years running an engine on the O. S. L. out of Pocatello, was a passenger on No. 6 this morning enroute to Hastings to visit his parents.

With Union Pacific stock selling at $182, and the company declaring ten per cent annual dividends, it must be said that the Union Pacific is one of the great railroads of the country and that Mr. Harriman is the king of railroad financiers.

One of the local banks cashed thirty thousand dollars worth of Union Pacific checks yesterday, and that represented but part of the North Platte payroll of the company for the Wyoming division employees. The Nebraska division employees residing in North Platte received their checks Tuesday.

The Fast Mail, No. 9, on the Union Pacific struck a broken rail just east of Sherman Monday evening about 8 o'clock with the result that three cars were derailed, two storage mail cars and a tourist car. No one was injured and the damage amounted to but $300. The train was moving slowly up Sherman Hill.

Colored porters have been reinstated on the chair cars, the order becoming effective Wednesday. These porters, under a retrenchment of expenses, were taken off a number of months ago.

Harrington & Tobin Stock Sold.

The Harrington & Tobin stock of groceries was sold this week to P. T. McGeer, of Lincoln, who practically took possession of the stock Monday, although the transfer was not officially announced until yesterday. The purchaser is an experienced grocer, having had a number of years' experience in the business at Lincoln. He comes to North Platte highly recommended as a wide-awake and progressive business man, and will no doubt be able to maintain and control the large patronage which his predecessors have enjoyed for so many years.

The transfer removes from the local field one of North Platte's oldest and most successful business firms—a mercantile house, which through its wholesale hay shipments, has had an established reputation throughout the western states. The firm has been a progressive one, and its retirement will be regretted by all.

Leo Tobin, who has managed the business since the removal of Mr. Harrington to Denver, will remain in town indefinitely looking after hay and grain shipments. He expects ultimately to remove to Denver and engage in the commission business. Louis Tobin, who has been connected with the firm, will go to Denver in the immediate future, in which city he expects to locate.

For Rent, after Nov. 20th, my house 806 west 6th street.
Mrs. G. S. Huffman.

Inspects Conditions.

General Supt. Park, who is in town today, is making a general inspection of the company's property as it relates to the transportation department. This forenoon he visited the new stock-yards and ice lake, and expressed himself as highly pleased with the conditions. The ice lake, which materialized through Mr. Park's suggestion, is in excellent shape, and has already a thin coating of ice. The lake will cut 20,000 tons at a cutting, and it is the intention to have everything in readiness for the harvest just as soon as twelve inch ice is formed. One crop of ice will save the company in transportation charges almost as much as the lake originally cost, thus showing that when Mr. Park suggested the construction of the ice lake he had figured out the profit to the company. The present lake is not sufficient to meet the local demand for ice, and next season the area will be more than doubled.

The new stock yards are fully completed, and have been in use for a week or more. This morning a number of the pens were filled with cattle and sheep. A new horse barn is being erected, an office building has been completed and the yards have telephone connections with the city and are supplied with arc lights. The subway under the track, which gives an outlet to the pastures south of the track, has been completed. One is struck with the substantial and permanent manner in which all the work has been done. The investment in the yards and land and the ice lake, Mr. Park said, represented about one hundred thousand dollars.

With the completion of the double track on the Nebraska division making possible a fast run through to Omaha, Mr. Park expressed the opinion that North Platte would not only become a great feed-in-transit station, but was destined to become a horse market.

Asked as to whether further improvements would be made in the local yards next spring, he expressed the belief that such would be made, though it would require some time to complete all the changes and improvements contemplated; that they would be made as fast as needed.

HIS WEAK SPOT.

The Thought That Made the Nervy Man Lose His Composure.

"Speaking of nerve," said a Massachusetts congressman, "there generally is a weak spot in the most colossal variety, if it only can be found. In this connection I remember my grandfather used to tell a good story.

"Some forty or fifty years ago a long shoreman's eating place in Boston was the resort also of truckmen and other teamsters whose business brought them out early in the morning.

"One gray November morning about 5 o'clock a stranger entered this place and took his seat among the habitués. He ordered a substantial breakfast and ate it slowly and with evident enjoyment. Then he took his hat down from the peg on the wall and started to go. As he got abreast of the cashier's desk, behind which stood the proprietor, he slowed up.

"'Much 'bliged,' he said genially. 'So long!'

"The proprietor had a good many rough customers to deal with, and his pistol was handy. In a second it was out and the man covered. Then he demanded the price of the breakfast.

"The man, apparently unmoved, looked at the shooting iron with curiosity. It was a queer, clumsy affair of ancient date, and it was evident that he had never seen its like before. Suddenly his expression of curiosity changed to one of apprehension, even terror, and he drew back a step.

"'Is—that—a stomach pump?' he faltered.

"'This story has a happy ending,' the congressman concluded. 'The man kept his breakfast!'"—Boston Post.

Chinese Torture.

The ingenuity of the Chinese in devising punishment for offenders surpasses that of the most cruel people of the middle ages. Some time ago a boy was kidnapped from a village about thirty miles from Chinkiang and brought to that city to be sold. The kidnapers were arrested and returned to the village, where the people dug a hole in the ground, like a grave, about three feet deep, covered the bottom and sides with unslaked lime, placed the offender, with his hands and feet tied, upon the lime and covered his body with the same material. Then they filled the hole full of water, and as the lime slacked he was roasted alive and his body consumed.

Brought Up to It.

A lady engaged a country girl as general servant. One evening the lady asked her if she thought she could manage to poach half a dozen eggs for supper. The girl quickly and laughingly replied that she could do that right enough.

"'Very good,' said her mistress. 'I'll just see what you can do,' and went away. Shortly afterward she had occasion to speak to the girl again, but to her great astonishment she was not to be found in the house. Presently she came tripping in with her hat and jacket on, smiling radiantly.

"'I've got 'em all right, mum,' she said, 'half a dozen beauties.'

"'Half a dozen beauties!' repeated her mistress questioningly. 'What do you mean?'

"'Eggs, mum,' she said, smiling. 'But there are plenty of eggs in the house, girl, without buying more,' remarked her mistress.

"'Lor, mum, I didn't buy 'em,' she said. 'You told me to poach 'em, and I managed it fine. You see,' she added by way of information, 'my father and brothers do a bit of poaching, so I knew in a minute what you meant.'—London Mail.

Laconia.

"Is the proprietor in?" asked the visitor.

"No, sir," replied the office boy.

"Is he in the city?"

"Yes, sir."

"Will he be back soon?"

"No, sir."

"Tonight?"

"No, sir."

"Tomorrow some time?"

"No, sir."

"Did he leave any word for Mr. Nash?"

"No, sir."

The stranger looked at the office boy sharply.

"When will he go?"

"Yesterday afternoon."

"Didn't he say when he'd be back?"

"No, sir."

"Well, where the dickens is he?"

"At the undertaker's."

"What's the matter?"

"He's dead."—Harper's Weekly.
