Always in Place.

A prince can give a flower to a beggar and a beggar can give a flower to a prince. They are never out of place. You can give a bouquet for a present when nothing else would do. Pass, the florist, can supply your demands in the floral line.

Install Telephone.

For the convenience and benefit of patrons of the company, a telephone has, through the recommendation of T. V. Austin, been installed in the Western Union telegraph office. By means this phone messages of an important nature can be phoned direct to the one to whom it is addressed, and if so desired, an answer can be phoned back, thus avoiding the delay occasioned by delivery by messenger. Any telegram desired sent can be phoned direct to the office. Books in which can be kept a copy of messages phoned will be distributed among citizens in a few days.

We have a large assortment of queensware which we will dispose of at greatly reduced prices. It will be to your interest to come and select your Christmas presents from this stock. Come early.

BUCHANAN COMPANY.

Entertains Foot Ball Squad.

The foot ball squad of the high school together with Supt. Tout and Principal Ringer, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Wilcox Friday evening at a well appointed four-course supper at which covers were laid for seventeen. The table decorations were the high school colors—red and white—and this high color scheme was carried out in a liberal display of carnations and candles in proper setting. The place cards were hand-painted foot ball scenes, which made a very appropriate souvenir of the function. Several toasts were proposed and responded to, and the affair was a delightful one from beginning to end.

Mr. Westervelt in Town.

E. M. Westervelt, right-of-way agent for the Burlington, spent a day or two in town this week, but his visit had no significance in relation to the building of the Burlington line up the Platte valley. His mission here was to investigate the condition of the houses purchased by the company and ascertain what repairs were needed, and other business of like nature. Mr. Westervelt disclaimed any knowledge as to the intention of his company in building the Platte valley line.

Notice.

The accounts of the late firm of Hupfer & Lowe are in the hands of Mr. Lowe for collection. Debtors will please see that their bills are promptly paid.

Gas Bonds Sold.

Mr. Springer, to whom the franchise was given for a gas plant, writes that he has just returned from the east where he was successful in selling bonds by which to secure funds for the erection of the North Platte plant. He regrets that matters were so delayed that work could not be commenced on the plant last fall, but in his letter gives the assurance that North Platte people will have an opportunity to cook their Fourth of July dinners on gas ranges.

A Satisfactory Play.

The largest audience of the season was present at The Keith Wednesday evening to witness the presentation of "The Modern Woodman" by local talent under the direction of W. M. Ellis, and as a home production it proved very satisfactory to the attendants. The play was well staged, those essaying the parts had their lines well committed; and one commendable feature was the distinctness with which each rendered their lines, the voices being distinctly heard in all parts of the house. While the play presents the principles and benefits of the Modern Woodman fraternal order to a marked degree, these features are so woven into the plot as to divest them of an attempt to make the play an advertisement of or for the order.

To commend those who rendered their parts well would be to commend all, for each one deserves credit for their work, and yet we cannot but refer personally to the energy displayed by Master Roy Ames, as the newboy.

The success of the play was largely due to the able direction of Mr. Ellis, who is an actor of ability.

With Hearts Full of Love.

About the jolliest bunch of men who have struck North Platte for some time broke in the early part of the week, and will remain until tomorrow night. They are H. D. Neeley, S. R. Elson, Joe Klein, J. O. Phillippi and H. Fay Neeley, and they came here with hearts full of love for the people of North Platte; this love being reflected in their efforts to do good by writing policies in the Equitable Assurance Co. That the people appreciate their work is evidenced by the amount of insurance they have written since their coming. H. D. Neeley is manager of the Omaha office of the Equitable Co., Mr. Phillippi was for many years with the traffic department of the Missouri Pacific railroad, H. Fay Neeley is a son of the illustrious H. D., while Joe Klein and Mr. Elson are hustlers who have frequently visited North Platte.
