How Harriman Rules.

New York Post, Feb. 6. week's election of E. H. Harrito the directorate of the Luke and the Michigan Central was her illustration of the power that sometimes be acquired, often indiy by the purchase of a comparely small block of stock. Harriowns no Lake Shere or Michigan tral shares, but in the summer of the Union Pacific purchased $14,-700 New York Central. That was 81 per cent of the total outstandstock of the company, but it is the est single holding, and the New Central controls absolutely the Shore and the Michigan Central. was shown in the table published ese columns last week, that Harriis now a power in nearly one-third the total railway mileage of the itry. In none of the dozen comes included in that list, however, either Harriman or the Union Paown 51 per cent of the stock. For mple, the Union Pacific owns less n 5 per cent of the capital stock of Paul, but only this week the St. abandoned its carefully workedplans for establishing an express rice of its own, cancelled a long eslished connection with the United tes express company, and agreed to all of its express business over to Wells-Fargo company. As chairof that express company's board directors, Harriman dictates the pol-

Jnion Pacific owns $29,623,100 Illis Central stock. That is only 27 cent of the total stock outstanding. vertheless, the Illinois Central is nning to relieve Harriman of his sonal investment in Georgia Cen-. Then, too, the Union Pacific acired less than fifty-one per cent of new San Pedro, Los Angeles and t Lake, the road recently built into Southern Pacific territory. Before new road was completed the manement made a ninety-nine-year agreeent with the Southern Pacific not to rates. The Union Pacific owns only per cent of Atchison stock, but that ount was also sufficient to insure a ackage agreement between the Atison and the San Pedro, Los Angeles ait Lake. Thus Harriman's power in the rail-ad world can be traced back to the nion Pacific's ownership of less than majority of the stocks of other comnies. It was the Union Pacific's nership of "a working majority" Southern Pacific that elected Presient Harriman of the Union Pacific to presidency and chairmanship of the ard of directors of the Southern Paic, the Central Pacific, the Oregon ort Line and the Oregon Navigation mpany. The rest of the Harriman esent influence was the natural rowth of the power thus gained.
