Sheriff's Sale.

By virtue of an order of sale issued from the district court of Lincoln County, Nebraska, upon a decree of foreclosure rendered in said court wherein Martin L. McCullough is plaintiff and Lucy M. Baldwin is defendant, and to me directed, I will on the 19th day of April, 1909, at one o'clock p. m., at the east front door of the court house in North Platte, Lincoln County, Nebraska, sell at public auction to the highest bidder for cash, to satisfy said decree, interest and costs, the following described property, to-wit: Southwest quarter (sw) section eighteen (18), township fifteen (15) N., range thirty-two (32), W. 6 p. m. in Lincoln County, Nebraska.

Dated North Platte, Nebraska, March 14th, 1909.
L. L. MILTONBERGER, Sheriff.

J. C. Federhoof Dead.

After about a week's illness, J. C. Federhoof died at his home on West Front street at nine o'clock last evening of uremic poisoning. Not until Sunday was Mr. Federhoof forced to confine himself to bed, and up to Wednesday night suffered intensely. That night he became unconscious, and with the exception of a short interval yesterday morning, remained in that condition until he passed away. At this writing arrangements for the funeral have not been completed.

Jacob Federhoof was born in Centre county, Pa., October 21st, 1833, and in 1865 was united in marriage to Miss Sophia Meyers, then a resident of Washington, D. C. Following the marriage they remained in Pennsylvania until the spring of 1881 when they came to North Platte and took charge of the Nebraska house. They continued in this business until 1884 when they returned to Pennsylvania. Three years later they came back to North Platte, where they have since resided, the past few years having been spent on a farm west of town. Last summer Mr. Federhoof sold the farm and moved to town. He had just completed a new residence in the west end and expected to move thereto in a short time.

He is survived by a wife and three children—Mrs. Clara Robbins, of Bethlehem, Pa., Mrs. G. S. Huffman and Martin Federhoof of this city.

In the death of Mr. Federhoof North Platte loses an esteemed citizen and his death is greatly regretted by all.

W. H. Taft Made President.

Washington, March 4.—In the senate chamber at 12:55 this afternoon, William Howard Taft of Ohio swore to "preserve, to protect and to defend the constitution of the United States" and by so doing become the twenty-seventh president of the United States.

The day dawned in altogether unfavorable manner and this morning Washington was cut off from a large portion of the surrounding country so far as communication was concerned. The communication broke at 4 o'clock by a most severe snow storm which brought down a great many telegraph and telephone poles and rendered other wires useless. Early in the day some of the news was sent out by wireless to Philadelphia and there distributed. The storm at 11 a. m. continued unprecedently and arrangements were made to hold the inaugural ceremony in the senate chamber. Here only a comparatively handful could be accommodated, instead of the thousands who had expected to hear Taft on the platform outside the capitol. Immediately after the oath President Taft delivered his inaugural address—and finished speaking at 1:32.

Just before the inauguration of President Taft Vice-President-elect Sherman took the office in the senate chamber.

When President Taft had completed his address ex-President Roosevelt warmly congratulated him and, escorted by the republican county committee of New York, two minutes later started on foot for the Pennsylvania railroad station where Mrs. Roosevelt awaited him. The Roosevelt party left at 3 o'clock for Oyster Bay.

Despite the condition of the streets and the weather the inaugural parade started at 1:45. The attendance was not what had been expected, as a matter of course, and many thousands who expected to attend the inaugural festivities were unable to reach the city today on account of the blockade of trains in all directions.

The difference between the Buffalo Bill Gun Club and those complaining of the location of the club on land east of the Trustee's Addition were adjusted yesterday by the Club agreeing to leave the present location within ten days. The Gun Club had stored some four thousand blue rocks on this property before any complaint was made and since a large number break in handling, the Club desired to use these up before moving the trap house and trap. By the end of next week the Gun Club will have its paraphernalia at its location on the bank of the river on the Dillon land north of this city.

Valley News.

Moving is the order of the day in the valley. Mr. Murdock has gone to Seattle, Wash., W. E. Park has moved to the farm vacated by Murdock, Henry Weil is waiting for George Wilson to vacate so he may move on the place, which he purchased of Alfred Wilson last spring, Charley Harris is moving to one of the ditch company's farms, Mr. Gardner of Gibbon will occupy the Clark farm, and George Scharmann takes the W. L. Park farm.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Wilson returned Sunday from a month's visit in Iowa and Chicago. While in the latter city they visited Mr. and Mrs. John Vernon, and found Mr. Vernon to be meeting with success as a veterinarian. They also met J. West Hingston, the former North Platte physician, in Chicago, and visited John Anthes, a former valley farmer, at his home in Iowa.
