Married last Evening.

A quiet but very pretty wedding occurred last evening at the parlors of the Hinman lodging house when Miss Sadie Barnett, of Lena, was united in marriage to James H. Haney, of Mullen, Neb.

To the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, played by Miss Josephine O'Hare, the party entered the parlor, the bride accompanied her by uncle, Edwin Huffman, and stood in a bower beneath a large wedding bell, while Rev. J. F. Seibert, of the Lutheran church, performed the ceremony.

The bride was attired in a traveling suit of brown messaline and was attended by her cousin, Miss Mabel Huffman, who wore a suit of brown chiffon cloth. The groom was attended by William Quinn. Immediately following the ceremony a luncheon was served.

The young couple left this morning for a visit with relatives in Kansas.

More Moisture.

Sufficient snow to well cover the ground fell last night, and more has today. The fall today has been of the moist variety and melted as it fell. And thus there is a further increase of moisture in old mother earth, and the crop prospects grow more rosy.

AN INFERNAL MACHINE.

Its Fearful and Deadly Work in the Bremerhaven Explosion.

The greatest fatality ever caused by an infernal machine is known as the Bremerhaven explosion, and it occurred near the end of 1875, when a fellow who called himself Thomas and was said to be an American took up his residence with his family in Bremerhaven. His business was at a low ebb, and to replenish them he conceived the idea of sending to America some worthless but highly insured packages of goods. By the same vessel he intended to ship an infernal machine, which was to have exploded a few days after the vessel had left port. The explosion occurred, however, just before the package was put on board, causing terrible loss of life.

Thomas, whose real name was said to be Alexander, charged his machine with nitroglycerin, which he had procured in America and purchased the clockwork and the case containing the machine in Germany. The hammer of the clockwork, which was to act in six days after leaving port, was to strike a blow of thirty pounds weight. In his confession later Thomas said that when testing the clockwork the hammer smashed a mahogany table.

He sent the contrivance to Bremerhaven to be shipped on the Mosel for New York via Southampton. He himself took passage to the latter port, where he had arranged to ship his cases of rubbish for New York. The Mosel was to leave Bremerhaven on Saturday, Dec. 11, and on that day the infernal machine was sent to the dock, which was crowded with porters, passengers and their friends. For some reason that has never been explained the heavy case slipped from the crane on to the wharf as it was being lifted up the ship's side, and the charge was instantly exploded. Death and destruction were dealt around, 128 men, women and children being instantly killed, while fifty-six others were terribly wounded.

Thomas was waiting on board the ship to receive his case and see it stowed away in the hold, but right after the explosion he went to his cabin, locked the door and shot himself in the head with a revolver.

He lingered for several days in the hospital and made a full confession before he died.—Exchange.

African Pygmies.

The pygmies of Africa says Captain Guy Burrows in his "Land of the Pygmies," are masters in the art of hunting. They can kill even elephants with their little bows and arrows, blinding the animal first by shooting at its eyes. Once he is blinded they never leave him till he falls. A pygmy, I have no hesitation in saying, eats, as a rule, twice as much as will suffice a full grown man. He will take a stalk containing about sixty bananas, seat himself and eat them all at a meal, besides other food. Then he will lie and groom throughout the night until morning comes, when he is ready to repeat the operation.
