Goes to Find Husband.

Mrs. John W. Ruick left yesterday for Denver, where she goes to learn the whereabouts of her husband. On February 19th Ruick, who was employed as switchman in the local yards, drew his pay and left town. A few days later he wrote his wife from Denver, and since then nothing has been heard of him. Last Friday Mrs. Ruick had inserted in the Denver Post a picture and description of her husband and offered a reward of one hundred dollars for information of his whereabouts. Saturday a letter was received from a Denver man stating that he knew Ruick, and that he was working for the Rio Grande at a place 300 miles distant from Denver, and if Mrs. Ruick would send $100 he would divulge the place.

Mrs. Ruick not feeling secure about the reliability of the party claiming to know the whereabouts of her husband, concluded to visit Denver and see the man personally. Upon arrival in that city, it was her intention to first visit the chief of police and invoke his assistance.

In the presence of a congregation that filled the seating capacity of the church and chapel, Right Rev. Anson R. Graves confirmed a class of twenty-one at the Episcopal church at the Easter morning service. The chancel was filled with palms, ferns, lillies and cut flowers, presenting a bright and cheerful appearance. The offering at the service was $259.85.

S. S. Keller, of McPherson county, has been visiting his brother in town for a few days. Mr. Keller led the fight against the issuance of bonds for a new court house in McPherson county and the proposition was defeated by a vote of two to one. This defeat was due to the fact that the removal of the county seat from Tryon to a point nearer the center of the county will be made an issue in the near future and the west end fellows did not want Tryon to have a cinch by the erection of a new court house.

DANGEROUS FAKES

Tricks to Introduce Alum Baking Powders which should be Exposed.

There has recently been attempted at some of our grocery stores, and also at dwelling houses, by agents who are trying to sell alum baking powders, what the exhibitors call a baking powder test. They pretend to show by some boiling test that pure cream of tartar baking powders contain something which every woman of intelligence knows they do not.

It does not need a chemist to expose this trick. Cream of tartar, which is the chief constituent of the best and most wholesome baking powder, is originally a clear, white crystal. This is ground into a fine, creamy flour in which form, mixed with baking soda it is present in the baking powder. Cream of tartar, when mixed with water and boiled simply returned to its crystalline form, and that is all there is to the so-called test.

The matter of special interest to the public is to know what these people offer in place of cream of tartar powders of well known purity and established reputation against which these slanders are directed. They are offering a baking powder which official analyses have repeatedly shown is made from alum, a drug so well recognized by physicians and scientists as injurious to health that in many countries its use in bread is entirely prohibited. So cheap and inferior are the ingredients of this powder that it costs to make less than three cents a pound. No prudent housewife will knowingly put such stuff as this into her food.

A very good quality of strawberries, grown in Louisiana, made their appearance in the local market last week, the pint boxes selling for fifteen cents.

J. E. Delzell has been elected superintendent of the Lexington school for the thirteenth consecutive year. The Lexington people evidently believe in keeping a good man when they get him.
