The House of a Thousand Candles.

There is no fault to find with the management of the Keith for having secured "The House of a Thousand Candles" for an engagement on Tuesday, November 2d. In fact they are to be congratulated. In this day of decadent drama, it is good to know that plays that are eminently moral and respectable still win the public's favor, and it is probably due to this fact that when "The House of a Thousand Candles" finished its engagements at Daly's theatre in New York, that Mr. Hackett found the demand for the play was so great it was moved into his own theatre, "The Hackett", instead of being sent on the road. This play has the unique distinction of being the first book play to run an entire season in New York City.
