Will Ask for Delivery of Express.

The people of North Platte will unite in a petition to the state railway commission asking that the Pacific Express company be directed to deliver and collect express matter free of charge to the residents of this city. Last year the Pacific express company's business in North Platte exceeded $22,000, a sum only exceeded by a few towns outside of Omaha and Lincoln, and it is certainly not unreasonable for the people to demand that express matter be collected and delivered free of charge. North Platte is not, of course, a competitive point, else free delivery would have been inaugurated years ago by the company, and that it has not been inaugurated, even though there is no competition, is largely the fault of the citizens. In Alliance and McCook, neither of which have express competition and where the receipts are much less than at North Platte, there is free delivery, and they have it because the people made the demand. There are other towns in Nebraska, where the receipts are less than one-half those of North Platte and no competition exists, that have free delivery.

The door of death seemed ready to open for Murray W. Ayers, of Transit Bridge, N. Y., when his life was wonderfully saved. "I was in a dreadful condition," he writes, "my skin was almost yellow; eyes sunken; tongue coated; epaciated from losing 40 pounds, growing weaker daily. Violent liver trouble pulling me down to death in spite of doctors. Then that matchless medicine, Electric Bitters cured me. I regained the 40 pounds lost and now am well and strong." ### Life's Limits.

All indications point to the fact that less than ten miles below our feet a red heat is maintained permanently and within twenty a white heat. Ten miles above us we have the pitiless cold, far below zero, of interplanetary space. To what a narrow zone of delicately balanced temperature is life confined?
