Eskimo Courtship.

If European death scenes astound, the consenting "Yes" of a bride at marriage shocks an Eskimo woman. Not only must a bride show herself unconsenting; she must, if she respects herself and tribal traditions, scream and struggle with all her might when her wooer or his envoy enters her family residence and, laying hold upon her, drags her, usually by the topknot, to her new home. She may be presented with a new lamp and water pail by her bridegroom, and she is as a general thing mightily pleased at her change of estate. But she is far too circumspect to show her pleasure or affection and keeps up a noisy demonstration until she feels that she has done all that a well bred maiden should do. If she does not exercise proper discrimination in this matter her lord sometimes scratches the soles of her feet so that she cannot run away to her parents.—Harper's Bazar.

Turner's Little Afterthought.

An English critic's reference to Turner's fine picture "The Wreck Buoy" reminds a faithful newspaper reader of a curious anecdote in connection with it. When Turner first sent this picture to the Royal academy it was hung among several brilliantly colored pictures. On vanishing day Turner found the effect of his dull gray rendering of a stormy sea altogether spoiled by its bright surroundings. Without a moment's hesitation he painted in the lighted buoy in the foreground, and its dab of crimson light showed so brilliantly in its gloomy setting that Turner's picture became the prominent one, and its rivals on each side were cast into the shade. It is curious, if true, that the most noticeable feature of the picture should have been an afterthought.—Boston Transcript.

The Shrewd Banker.

Thirteen years ago a banker lent a farmer $1,000 with which to buy stock. The farmer, of course, gave his note. The borrower lost on the stock deal and had hard luck generally, so he couldn't pay the note. Later he went away, and after many years he made good again and returned. The banker tried to collect his note, but it was outlawed by a lapse of thirteen years. One day the banker stopped at the man's farm and admired his fine pumpkins. The farmer made him a present of two large ones. "I'll just credit these pumpkins on your old note," the banker said. "All right," the farmer said. That revived the obligation. The banker brought suit and recovered in full for the note and interest.—Kansas City Star.

Won't Need A Crutch.

When Editor J. P. Sossman, of Cornwell, N. C., bruised his leg badly, it started an ugly sore. Many salves and ointments proved worthless. Then Bucklen's Arnica salve healed it thoroughly. Nothing is so prompt and sure for ulcers, boils, burns, bruises, cuts, corns, sores, pimples, eczema or piles. 25c. at Stone's drug store.

COME

B. R. Fletcher and bride arrived in town this week, and "Shorty" is receiving the hearty congratulation of friends.

Mrs. Valentine Deering arrived yesterday from Missoula, Mont., and will visit Mr. and Mrs. John Weisgerber for five weeks.

Miss Laura Murray returned last evening from Maxwell, where she attended the wedding of her friend, Miss Ellen McCullough.

J. D. Garmeyer, of Omaha, adjuster for the Glenn's Falls Insurance Co., is in town today adjusting the loss on the Birge residence.

Arthur Salisbury will go to Central City tomorrow to consider an offer he has been made for land he owns in that section of the state.

Mrs. Thomas Hughes, who had been visiting her daughter, Mrs. D. C. Congdon for two or three months, will return to her home in Hastings tomorrow.

Mr. and Mrs. Vic VonGoetz write that they are having a delightful visit at points in California and they are very favorably impressed with that state.

S. L. Hollack, of North Platte, was a visitor in the city Thursday and left this morning for Kenesaw where he will visit with relatives and friends for a few days.—Kearney Hub.

A Mr. Williams, of Omaha, is in town today for the purpose of purchasing alfalfa hay for an Omaha mill. He is also looking up a suitable site for the location of an alfalfa meal mill.

The attendance at "The House of a Thousand Candles" last evening was fairly good, as large as could be expected at a play that had been presented the preceding season.

James Belton sends this office a descriptive letter of San Diego, Cal., in which city he and his daughter and Janet McDonald are spending the winter. The letter will be published in our next issue.

A basket ball game between players of sophomore class and other classes of the high school will be played at the opera house tomorrow evening, for which an admission of twenty-five cents will be charged. Following the game a skating party will be held.

Mrs. Mahlon and Miss Annie Ericson are in town for a few days while enroute home to Denver. They had been at Maxwell attending the funeral of their mother, Mrs. Mellon and Mrs. Burke, who were here on a similar mission, returned to Denver today.

The word contest inaugurated by Ginn, White & Schatz will close tomorrow. Many have become contestants, and the number of times the sentence—"Ginn, White & Schatz sell reliable pianos"—has been written on a card of postal size range from sixteen to over a thousand.

A Touch of Nature.

He was the worst boy in school; she was the teacher. She was angered by his stubbornness; he was defiant. She took him to the hall for punishment. Angriily she administered the penalty, and then somehow a great wave of pity for the boy swept over her. She looked at the worn coat of the little fellow. She thought of the frail body deprived of nourishing food. She thought of the hard and loveless home and of the starved soul of the poor kid.

Tears sprang to the teacher's eyes as the boy waited for further punishment. Then he saw the tears. His own eyes grew moist and overflowed. Thinking of how the poor boy had no chance, in an impulse of love she put her arms around the boy, and they cried together.

That is religion.
She and the boy both found it.—Morrell (Kan.) News.

THE 1910 DE LAVAL CREAM SEPARATOR.

In keeping with the established De Laval custom of making the De Laval Cream Separators as much better each year as possible, the De Laval machines for 1910 show even greater perfection than they have in the past.

The dairy farmer who buys a 1910 De Laval can feel assured that he has by far the best Cream Separator ever made anywhere at any time.

The dairy farmer who lets the year or even the month pass by without at least seeing and examining the 1910 De Laval will be doing himself an injustice.

The opportunity of examining and trying a 1910 De Laval right at his own home is open, free of all cost or trouble, to every dairyman who will simply say the word.

Next to a De Laval machine is the De Laval catalogue, free for the asking and containing a separator education in itself.
