Will Support the President.

Philadelphia Press: The "insurgents" in the house of representatives are an active and aggressive force, but the object of their hostility is not the ropublican party and it is not President Taft or his policies. There is opposition to the house rules as enforced by Speaker Cannon, and if this proves strong and persistent enough it may lead to a modification of these rules. But the counis with the success of the vital policies eye witnesses. which President Taft has made his own and has proposed legislation to carry out. Importation of Farm Produce.

When one reads that during the last year farm produce to the amount of $647,000,000, or almost half the total imports of the year 1909, was brought into the United States from outside countries, it suggests that our farmers are not doing their full duty. But a closer inspection relieves the apprehension. The imported articles are of a nature that have not yet been produced in America in sufficient quantities to supply the demand for consumption. Sugar leads with tobacco second. Hides and skins and hay are the output of the American farms, silk, Egyptian cotton make up the list. The in the world for this sort of produce, and will remain so as long as the prosperity of the people is such that they can maintain the standard of living now set. In the report is nothing alarming, for over against it is set the figures of the $8,000,000,000 output of the farms for 1909, and the present promise that the coming season will forehanded as ever. - Omaha Bee.

"Clansman" To Play Here.

Local theatre-goers are keenly interested in the announcement that the original New York company and production of "The Clansman" will appear at The Keith Thursday evening, February 17th.

This is the famous Klu Klux Klan play that turned the country upside down with its thrilling story of the Reconstruction era of the South. The management has every reason to expect a capacity audience, and those who wish to make sure of seeing "The Clansman" should send in their mail orders early or call at the box office as soon as possible. "The Clansman" holds the record as being the most widely discussed play produced within the last fifty years, It has been variously described as an "answer" and as a "sequel" of "Uncle Tom's Cabin". In reality it is the plain true story of the Reconstruction struggle in South Carolina as its authtry is less concerned with this than it or remembers it and as told to him by Kinkaiders Taking Patents.

A Sutherland correspondent contributes the following to the Omaha Bee: Numerous homesteaders who filed under the Kinkaid one-section law several years ago, are now making fiveyear proof on their claims. The increase in value of real estate since settlement was made has made many of the claims more valuable than was the other articles that really enter into hoped for at the time of filing, and competition with the home grown, and many of the settlers have reason to rethese constitute rather more than half joice because of having taken up claims. the total of farm produce imported.
