George Nunn, who will put on the Elks' minstrel show, arrived yesterday from Hot Springs, Ark., and will at once get busy with the big show. Business Change at Hershey.

On Tuesday of this week the well known Mickelson stock of merchandise at Hershey was turned over to the purchaser, O. H. Eyerly, who for a number of years has lived on a farm near Hershey. This stock is not only large and well selected but will be augmented by the addition of a complete line of hardware. To provide room for this additional stock, Mr. Eyerly has leased the store room adjoining on the east, thus making the establishment one of the leading in the county.

Since its inception many years ago, the Mickelson store has been a popular trading place for the people of Hershey and the fine scope of country tributary, and we predicted that under the new management and with the increased stock, the patronage of the past will not only be maintained but largely increased. Mr. Eyerly is well and favorably known in that section of the country as a man of strict integrity and of excellent business ability, and one in whom everyone can well repose confidence. As a farmer he was very successful, as a merchant he will undoubtedly prove the same. The Tribune trusts that this transition from farmer to merchant will prove agreeable to Mr. Eyerly.

Homer Musselman—and Homer is authority—says there is no reason why North Platte should not have as good a ball team this season as last. Practically all members of last season's team are in town, and they are just as keen to play ball as ever. The Tribune suggests that Musselman proceed to line up the boys for the season, ascertain the chance for games and do a lot of other preliminary work—he's a good natured fellow, isn't happy unless boosting ball, and wouldn't mind whatever work and grief there may be attached.

100 Ladies Spring Jackets now on sale at The Leader at $4.98.

Boxers Getting in Trim.

Nat Dewey, who is to box with Fred Ouimette at the opera house next Monday evening, arrived from Cheyenne Tuesday and at once went into training at the opera house. He is a muscular fellow, well science, but not so tall as Ouimette and is shorter in the reach. This ring contest promises to be the best exhibition of the manly sport ever witnessed in North Platte. Few bets have as yet been made, the backers of Ouimette being a little wary of Dewey's past record in the ring.

Will Push Work.

Beginning April 1st fifteen sub-contractors will have their outfits at work on the double-track grade between North Platte and Julesburg, which means that the Phelan-Sheely company, the contractors, propose to have the work completed in the specified time, namely, August 1st.

At the present time there are five grading outfits at work; five more will be added next week, and an additional five the week following.

Finney Must Support Family.

In the county court Wednesday morning Will Finney was arraigned on the charge of wife desertion. Mrs. Finney failed to appear as the complaining witness, although she filed the complaint at the time her husband was placed under arrest. Judge Eder, however, placed Finney under $200 bonds to support and maintain his family and was paroled. Failure to do this will result in his re-appearance in court to answer for the infraction of the order of the court.

Will Issue $25,000 New Stock.

The Nebraska state railway commission has granted permission to the North Platte Telephone Co. to issue $25,000 additional stock. The money obtained from the sale of this stock is to be used in building a copper metallic toll line from North Platte to Julesburg and to acquire or build exchanges in towns tributary to their present lines. With the completion of this line the entire state of Nebraska will have connection with Colorado and Wyoming as the Colorado Telephone Co. has good lines into Julesburg.

Since being placed under the jurisdiction of the state railway commission telephone companies must obtain permission from the commission to issue additional stock, and must furnish a sworn statement as to how the money thus obtained is to be expended. This prevents a possible watering of stock and tends to safeguard the investors in the stock.

We are informed that the bulk of the additional $25,000 stock to be issued by the North Platte company will be taken by local business men. This will bring the actual investment of the local company up to the one hundred thousand dollar mark.
