A rather-unusual case came up for hearing in the county court yesterday. In June, 1909, the Union Pacific agent sold two tickets to Portland to C. W. Hogeboom of Gandy for $100. These tickets were used, and later the company presented a bill to Hogeboom for $22.40, claiming that the agent should have charged $122.40 instead of $100 for the tickets. This balance Hogeboom refused to pay, hence the suit. In its petition the company claimed that under the inter-state law, the company could not charge less than $122.40 for the tickets, and in accepting less it violated that law.

Buffalo Bills Indians.

The New York Review last Sunday devoted a page to an interview with Buffalo Bill. In his remarks Bill told of the trouble he had in securing "uncivilized" Indians for the Wild West Show. "We had a big job getting them," said Cody. Major J. W. Lilley and Johnny Baker went out to the Sioux agency and made a canvass of the tribes. They were terribly discouraged at first. They found that most of the Brules and Ogallallas were riding around in automobiles, the squaws were wearing Merry Widow hats, and the children were singing "Rings on Her Fingers and Bells on Her toes." Finally they managed, by offering great financial inducements, to contract for a very choice lot of Indians. "It is a fact, by thunder, that one chief of the Sioux has two motor cars and he is thinking of ordering another. I never saw so many automobiles in my life as I did at a Northern Nebraska county fair last fall. I counted four hundred and two."

Also, because of the carefully selected materials of which Best Prepared Paint is made, you will need fewer gallons to do the work.

Make a Double Saving

not only in labor expense but in the money you spend for paint by buying less gallons. Come in and talk over your requirements.
