TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 20, 1910.

The population of Chicago is 2,185,283, an increase of 486,708, or 28.7 per cent, as compared with 1,698,572 in 1900. The increase, however, was not so great proportionately as it was in the decade of 1890-1900. Then it was 54.4 per cent.

Governor Shallenberger has conceded the nomination of Dahlman on the democratic ticket, and last Friday filed his declination of the populist nomination for governor. He also offered his services to the democratic state committee. In a statement Governor Shallenberger said that while he might possibly win out in a legal battle because of irregularities shown in the recount in Douglass county, he did not care for a victory won in that manner.

Following similar announcements by a number of democratic papers of the state, Dick Metcalfe, associate editor of Bryan's Commoner, announces that he will not support Dahlman for governor, and has tendered his services to C. H. Aldrich, the republican candidate. In his letter Mr. Metcalfe says the democratic nominee was named by republicans and that if he is to follow a republican leadership he prefers to pick his man. Metcalfe insists that the only issue is the liquor question in this campaign and the election of Dahlman means turning the state government over to the persons who control the liquor traffic.

In the east they tell a westener who goes there on business or a visit, that business is not just what it should be—not as good as two or three years ago; and yet the westerner cannot but be impressed with the volume of business in the east. One fails to see an idle steel plant or manufactory; traffic on the railroads seems to be enormous; in the towns and cities the stores are crowded with customers, and apparently all men who want work are employed. To the westener the east seems to be highly prosperous, notwithstanding the easterner is inclined to "growl" over business conditions.

An Attractive Contract.

Mr. Bryan, agriculturist for the American Beet Sugar Co. has received the beet contract for growing sugar beets for 1911 and is now ready to sign with those farmers wishing to grow sugar beets. He states that with the price of seed at ten cents per pound and fifty cents per ton for siloing, with a clause of furnishing seed to those whose beets are killed by frost, makes this contract a very attractive one.

Mr. Bryan states that being early with the contracts reminds him a great deal of the method practised in Utah, where the sugar companies place their contracts early in order to give the farmer plenty of time to lay out his different lands.

Condemn Primary Law.

Writing from Lincoln, a staff correspondent of the Bee says: Nearly everyone around the state house is talking about the state wide primary law under which the present candidates for offices were nominated, and so far there is not a state officer who has one word to commendation for the present measure.

Attorney General Thompson referred to it yesterday as a "monstrosity", while Governor Shallenberger has repeatedly condemned it, saying on one occasion that he should have recommended that it be repealed by the late democratic legislature which was responsible for it in its present form.

Other state officers, including those who were nominated under it, have expressed themselves as have the two officers mentioned. Some insist that the law should be repealed in its entirety, while others believe that the return to the old convention system should be by degrees and very gradual.

Secretary of State Junkin is of the opinion this legislature should amend the law so that it does not apply to candidates for state offices, but that delegates to a nominating convention may be selected at a primary and that other than candidates for state offices may be nominated as at present. It is his opinion that the legislature will not consent to repeal the law in its entirety, but that it will take the first steps which are to finally result in doing away with it.

State officers realize that it will be a hard matter to repeal the law for the reason that those who have been nominated under its provisions and elected to the legislature have no very great protest to make at its operation. But on the other hand there will be many members of the legislature who spent sleepless nights worrying over a nomination due the wiping out of party lines in the late election, who otherwise would have had little cause to worry. These will insist on a change.

Preacher Sees a Light.

Some time ago Rev. W. W. Carlton of Mason City, Iowa, preached a series of sermons bitterly arraigning the local authorities for permitting crime to go unchecked. This is not a new thing for preachers to do and he doubtless modeled his discourse on those which many others have preached elsewhere. The mayor denied that conditions were as represented and there is nothing new about such a denial, either.

The novelty came when the mayor offered to appoint Rev. Mr. Carlton chief of police and give him authority to "clean up the town" if he found it needed it. Mr. Carlton was also in earnest and sincere, for he undertook the job temporarily. He has now resigned, and not because he is one who puts his hand to the plow and then turns back, for he preached another sermon Sunday telling his congregation that conditions had been misrepresented to him and that Mason City was not the sink-hole of iniquity which he had painted it. He did not pretend to say there is no crime or vice, but that all the law could do to prevent it was being done.

Mason City is only one of many that have suffered from the blackwashing of scandal mongers and sensation seekers whose ignorance or misrepresentation of facts is concealed by a loud noise, but, unfortunately, there are not many like Mr. Carlton who are willing to put their declarations to the test and still fewer who, when they find themselves wrong, would manfully admit it. It looks better before the public to offer "lack of co-operation" by the regularly constituted authortiies.

No one pretends that conditions in American cities are ideal, but it is seldom that they warrant the wholesale denunciation which breaks out when some one thinks he wants to attract attention to himself.—Omaha Bee.

Interest at the Baptist Church.

Last Sunday marked the beginning of special interest at the Baptist church though the special services do not start until Thursday of this week. All of last Sunday's services were well attended and a strong and deep feeling prevailed. In response to the invitation at the close of the night two grown persons a mother and a daughter, came forward. These will probably be immersed at one of the opening sessions of the special meetings.

A little here about the meetings now closing at Golden will speak something of the work of the evangelist who is to come. Three grown persons had united with the church and were baptised a week ago last Sunday. Nineteen others made the start that same day and these were followed by three or four more the next night or two. The modesty of the evangelist keeps him from writing much of his own work. Among those converted at Golden was the postmaster, several respectable men of the city and seven students in the School of Mines at Golden. Because of the interest the Chaplain was retained two days, but he expects to begin here Thursday night of this week.

The origin of some of the rumors concerning trouble in the automobile industries seems to lie in the figures recently made public concerning the output of the present year. It is now estimated that the factories have produced 185,000 cars worth $242,000,000, against 82,000 cars in year 1909. If that is a correct statement of the work of the factories nobody ought to be surprised over a little delay in getting rid of the output.—State Journal.
