Mrs. Harry Walrath entertained a number of ladies at cards last evening in favor of Mrs. Hessie, of Wilcox, Nebr., who is visiting friends in town. The evening, which proved a most delightful one, closed with the serving of enjoyable refreshments.

Events of the Race Track

Through the efforts of some enthusiastic horse men a series of horse races were arranged for this week at the new track west of the city. The first events were held Wednesday afternoon, and were witnessed by a fair sized crowd of spectators.

The first race was a half mile dash in which "Red Jacket" owned by McClain took first money in fifty-two seconds; an Oshkosh horse coming in second and the Groves horse third.

In the quarter mile dash an Oshkosh horse won first place in twenty-five seconds.

There were three entries in the mile race, the Harper horse, a horse owned by Dave White and "Victor Belle" owned by John Byenly of this city. "Victor Belle" won two straight heats in 2:50 and 2:53. The track was heavy.

In the potato race, Will Eshelman won out against four competitors.

A match pony race, one-fourth mile, was won by a horse from Big Springs.

Yesterday the attendance at the races was very large and the events were good. In the three-eighth mile dash an Oshkosh horse came in first and the Groves mare second. The Jacobs horse won second and third heats in the half mile novelty race, the Harper horse taking the first heat. McKain's "Red Jacket" won the half mile dash and Garlow's horse was first in the pony race. In the motorcycle race, five miles, Frank Baldwin won first money in 6 1/2 minutes; Vroman second.

The Tempter Won.

When the late Baron Nordenskjold was at Ceylon on the way home from his journey along the northern coast of Siberia he received a telegram from the Russian government asking him whether he would accept from the czar a certain decoration as an appreciation of his services to Russia. For many days the famous explorer wavered, as he was a member of Bjornsterne Bjornson's Anti-decoration club, whose members were solemnly pledged never to accept any decoration from anybody. Nordenskjold, however, could not resist the temptation, so he replied to the telegram in the affirmative. It is not hard to imagine his disappointment when, upon reaching home, a friend of his, a high official, told him the following: "The Russian government was well aware of your antagonistic views in regard to decorations and had, therefore, placed in readiness 300,000 rubles to be paid you in the event of your refusing to accept the insignia, but before paying that sum they wanted to try your firmness. Russia is certainly grateful to you for your failure to live up to your pledge."

Death Was a Live One.

While on the way to the race track in New Orleans one day several winters ago an undertaker named Mr. Dooley passed a funeral procession on its way to the cemetery. Dooley had a friend with him, another Irishman, who exclaimed, "Sure, death always wins." There happened to be a horse entered that day named Death, and he won with ridiculous ease, Dooley winning a good bet on him. Dooley told all his friends of the incident, and they all went out to the course the next time Death was entered. He won every time he started for thirteen races. It was near getaway day, when every one was packing up ready to take the last train for New York. The horse was sold that afternoon at an auction sale, and the buyer was Mr. Dooley. He hitched him a month later to a hearse, and the horse became frightened and ran away and was not stopped until the graveyard was reached. After the burial Dooley had the horse shot and buried near the cemetery. "You're a dead one now, Death," said Dooley, "but a live one in those thirteen races."—Baltimore American.

The Fashion of the House.

A servant girl happened to be engaged at a farmhouse where the mistress was known to have a hasty temper. On the first Saturday night the girl was at the farmhouse she was told by the mistress to clean the boots ready for Sunday. The mistress on coming into the kitchen later on saw that the girl had cleaned her own boots first. So she took them up and threw them into a tub of water that was standing by, and bounced out of the kitchen. The girl said nothing, but when she had cleaned the other boots she threw them also into the water.

"Whatever possessed you to do that, girl?" asked the mistress on coming again in the kitchen.

The girl simply replied: "Well, ma'am, please ma'am, I thought it was the fashion of the house, ma'am!"—London Tit-Bits.

Retribution.

Young Father (in the future)—Great snakes! Can't you do something to quiet that baby? Its eternal squalling drives me frantic. Young Mother (calmly to servant)—Marie, bring in my husband's mother's photograph and put in the cylinder "At Ten Mouths." I want him to hear how his voice sounded when he was young.

Squaring Himself.

Mrs. Henpecke—What do you mean, sir, by telling Mrs. Torker's husband you never ask my advice about anything? Henpecke—Well, Maria, I don't. You don't wait to be asked.
