The first Friday in November, Nov. 4, 1910, will be known as fire day in the schools of the state. Every teacher will be requested to give the children some information about fire risks and what to do in case of fire. The work of the teachers will be systematized and aided through the use of a fire prevention text book, which has been prepared under the supervision of Fire Warden A. V. Johnson. About 10,000 copies of this book will be distributed among the teachers.

W. T. Brown, who came down from Green River last week, has sold out his dry line to William Maloney, who had had charge of the business during the absence of Mr. Brown. This change was made on account of the poor health of the latter, who will retire from work. Mr. Maloney has had considerable experience in this work and we predict the undertaking a success for him. Of a pleasant disposition and ever accommodating he is worthy of a due share of the patronage of the public.

Apples! Apples!

See Louden's next shipment of apples for winter use. Such as Winesaps, Jennets, Smith Cider, and Missouri Pippins. In barrels or boxes. Prices right.

M ANY a Clothier who labors to convince only wastes his wind, because he hasn't the moral support behind him in the way of CLOTHES VALUES.

Word painting, jaunty jingles and great waving of the arms will not sell clothes any more than slipshod service will gain prestige.

We don't choose to make ourselves known by stamping our feet, but we do claim that invariably stamping value into every suit and overcoat has placed us where we are today. "North Platte's Leading Clothiers."

Our clothes command attention and demand an investigation. What we claim, they have to prove. If they prove to your satisfaction—and they will—we have made a friend. We always look before we leap, and it was our intense and never failing gaze that brought us "Miller Made" clothes built primarily "for the man who knows".
