The "Miller-Made" Adjustable Collar Overcoat.

WE call it a trick coat, because it will turn many a young chap's sorrow into gladness. The collar can be worn in the high fola style, which will balk cold blasts on wintry days, and then again it can be turned down flat in the regular ulster fashion, which gives an "air" of jauntness and prosperity.

It's hard to figure out how a designer was skilful enough to plan an overcoat with a convertible collar, but it's easy to see why he did it---he knew the surest, slickest way to a man's heart was to show him the unusual---the "classy".

But the collar is just an incident like all of the crisp, practical features in "MILLER-MADE" OVERCOATS. There is a certain grace to the lapels that bespeaks careful hand work---there's a poise to the whole garment which will immediately attract the interest of those who appreciate good style.

The fabrics from which adjustable collar "Miller-Made" coat are constructed are finely woven and exclusively patterned---they are delightful to look at and will wear satisfactorily. Lest reading about these unusual coats has given you the impression that they are high-priced, we'll say they are low---very low indeed.

The adjustable collar coat is easy to wear. The collar is the whole thing. NO HOOKS AND EYES. Tuck in lapel and button it and you have changed from one style to another. A regular two-collar any weather coat. Yours is ready.

The aim of the members of the Missionary Society is to even exceed last year's splendid record and by each doing just a little more than the previous year, the goal can be easily reached. Will it be done?

Vic Anderson in Heaven.
Chief Dispatcher Anderson of the Union Pacific sends a line from Galveston, Texas, to the effect that in that formerly sea-washed port there are "flowers, oranges, poems, oysters, editors---in fact anything that goes to make up the kingdom of heaven." And, think of it! When this brief message was communicated to the bunch over at the tick works one of the youngsters remarked that he was very glad Mr. Anderson was getting some idea of what heaven was like, on his trip to the south!---Grand Island Independent.

Ill Health Causes Suicide.

Word received in town this week announced the death at Grant's Pass, Oregon, of the death of the wife of Robert Rannie, a former North Platte young man. Mr. Rannie went home at noon and found the doors locked. Using the key he carried, he unlocked the door and entering a sleeping room found his wife lying face downward on the bed with a carbolic acid bottle near. Calling to her and receiving no response, he lifted up her head and found her face and mouth badly burned with carbolic acid. The distracted husband hurriedly summoned a physician and neighbors, and an examination by the physician found life extinct. For some time past the deceased had poor health, from which she could obtain no relief. Growing despondent over her suffering she ended it as well as life by drinking the deadly poison.

Successful Ball.

The ninth annual ball of Platte Lodge No. 118, Boilermakers and Helpers of America was held at the opera house Wednesday night and from every point it proved a very successful affair.

The usual grand march was dispensed with and the program of twenty-four dances, each of which was strenuously enjoyed by the throng of dancers which filled the floor for each number until the closing waltz. Music was furnished by the Stamp orchestra and was unusually good, which added to the enjoyment of the dancers.

In comparison with former dances given by this organization the crowd was not so great but as the the initial ball of the winter season the attendance was very good and a large number of spectators occupied the gallery.

At midnight an intermission was taken for supper. An excellent turkey supper was served at the Vienna Cafe which was partaken of by the usual large number, while a luncheonette was served to a goodly number of the dancers at Kelihers.

J. F. Haubert as master of ceremonies, ably assisted by a committee of men, who were solicitous of the enjoyment of those present, are deserving of credit for a very pleasant and enjoyable evening.

Saves an Iowa Man's Life.

The very grave seemed to yawn before Robert Madsen, of West Burlington, Iowa, when, after after seven weeks in the hospital, four of the best physicians gave him up, then was shown the marvelous curative power of Electric Bitters. For, after eight months of frightful suffering from liver trouble and yellow jaundice, getting no help from other remedies or doctors, five bottles of this matchless medicine completely cured him. It is positively guaranteed for stomach, liver or kidney troubles and never disappoints. Only 50c at Stone Drug Co.

Wild Cat Kills Two Dogs.

While hunting grouse Tuesday the dogs belonging to Dr. Davis and Charles Dooxsee ran onto a wild cat in a canyon some six miles south west of Callaway. The animal attacked the dogs, which were valuable ones, killing both of them before the men could get a shot at it. After killing the dogs the infuriated animal then made a run at Dr. Davis, who was on the hillside above, and almost reached him when Mr. Dooxsee took a chance shot with bird shot, and luckily struck the animal in a vital spot and it dropped dead at the feet of Mr. Davis. The animal was a large one, and is the first to have been seen in this locality for a number of years. Dr. Davis will have it mounted as a remembrance of the valuable dogs he lost in their noble fight against it.
