The Nebraska Legislature.

In writing from Lincoln under date of Sunday, the Bee correspondent says: The thirty-second session of the legislature begins its third week Monday but has not yet begun the regular grind of legislative activity.

The organization of the house and senate took a long time this year because up to the last minute there was a lack of system and unanimity in the attitude of the majority and even now there is one chairmanship still vacant.

The county option measure over which the campaign was so bitterly fought has hardly been mentioned in the legislative corridors and no bills have been presented.

The initiative and referendum has come up for consideration and the fight upon that question, if there is to be one, may be expected to open up very shortly.

Apportionment and redistricting the state for judicial and representative districts is another important question which will soon be occupying considerable time and talk.

Nebraska in 1910

Another year of splendid prosperity for this state and its people closes its record when we commence writing 1911.

In this state that produces wealth so lavishly from its soil, 1910 has lost nothing in the good record that it has maintained for fifteen consecutive years.

Notwithstanding the unusually large crops the country over in those things most largely produced in Nebraska the measure of production of dollars and cents for the year equals that for 1909.

Outside of its manufacturing, outside of its trade and commerce, produced new wealth from the soil in 1910 to the amount of $400,000,000.

Road No. 342. To all whom it may concern: The commissioner appointed to locate a road commencing at the corner to sections 14, 15, 22 and 23, T. 12, N. R. 28 W., running thence north on section line 1/2 mile to the 1/2 section corner.

Secs. 14 and 15, thence west on center line 1/2 mile to the center corner of said section 15, thence north on center line of section 1/2 mile to the 1/2 section corner between sections 10 and 15, thence west on section line between sections 10 and 15, and 9 and 16, to a point 8, 50 chs. west of the corner to sections 9, 10, 15 and 16, T. 12, N. R. 28 W., to connect with present traveled road, and to vacate that part of Road No. 45, running diagonally across section 15 and across that part of section 16, said township and range, lying easterly of the west terminal point of the newly located road; has reported in favor of the establishment of the new road and the vacation of part of road No. 45, and all objections thereto, or claims for damages, must be filed in the county clerk's office on or before noon of the 12th day of March, 1911, or such road will be established and vacated without reference thereto.

Rail Rates and Operation. Lawyer Brandeis estimates that if the railroads were granted the increase in rates they demand they would enlarge their earnings about 3 per cent.

He contends that far more than this amount might easily be saved in more scientific operation. Though he is arguing from the standpoint of the shippers' attorney, Mr. Brandeis undoubtedly is hitting near the head of the nail. It is quite believable that if the railroads should unite as faithfully for the purpose of scientific operation as they have for scientific rate increases they could effect a 3 per cent saving.

When the great skill and resources of railroad management combine on any one object they usually get results and we have had some disclosures of late that tend to show a decided lack in systematic economy of railroad operation.

The Union Pacific and Southern Pacific are two roads whose records the last year seem to refute the theory that railroad operation is down to the minimum and that higher rates are essential to fair returns on investment.

These roads have managed to declare 19 and 13 per cent dividends, without raising rates, as they did wages, and yet operating for less than the average for the last ten years. If they, in their sparsely settled territory, can do this on a 1 cent per ton rate, why cannot these roads in the eastern part of country that are so persistently striving to advance their rates. It may be that these Harriman roads have not reduced their operation to more scientific bases than the average roads of the east.

But to contend that they have or have not would not necessarily offer comfort to the easterner's proposition. It would show that they are failing to do something that they could do to improve conditions without levying heavier tolls upon their patrons.—Omaha Bee.

Obituary. William T. Miller was born Dec. 21, 1855, in Richfield Springs, Oswego Co., New York.

When yet a child he moved to Toledo, Ohio, with his parents. He resided there until manhood. He there was married to Marion Dutton Dec. 21, 1881, and moved to Nebraska in the spring of 1884.

He here spent the rest of his life and died Jan. 10, 1911, at the age of 55 years and 20 days.

Four children were born to this union, all survive him except one infant son Robert.

W. T. Miller was an uncomplicated, unselfish, sunny disposition man, seldom thought of self and always ready to turn the bright side out. He was a faithful, devoted husband and a kind and loving father.

We will miss the sunshine which he forever threw in our paths. Though God called him now, with his help we will be resigned to his will.

A precious one from us has gone. A voice that loved is still. A place is vacant in our home. Which never can be filled.

A New Back For an Old One—How it is Done in North Platte.

The back aches at times with a dull, indescribable feeling, making you weary and restless; piercing pains shoot across the region of the kidneys, and again the loins are so lame to stoop is agony. No use to rub or apply a plaster to the back in this condition. Exchange the bad back for a new and stronger one. Follow the example of this North Platte citizen.

Thomas McGovern, 409 E. Tenth St., North Platte, Nebr., says: I have used Doan's Kidney Pills off and on for a great many years.

Whenever I become afflicted with kidney trouble from over-exertion, and have severe pains through my back, this remedy is my mainstay.

I have been so bad from a stiffness in my back that I could scarcely straighten when arising in the morning.

Doan's Kidney Pills, procured from McDonnell & Graves' Drug Store have always given me wonderful relief. There is no other remedy that can be compared with them.

Ransomed. By JANE PINCKNEY BENNET. Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.

Shortly before the war between the United States and Mexico Captain Julian Watriss of the United States army was at New Orleans and married Concha Herrera, a young Mexican widow who owned a large hacienda in the latter country.

Senora Watriss, being very rich, organized a company of rangers at her own expense. Several commanders of this force were tried and failed. At last the troop called upon the lady to take command herself.

Not long after this order the rangers made a night attack on an outpost of the American army and captured a captain, a lieutenant and thirty men.

Among them was her husband! What to do she did not know. To claim immunity for the man she loved would be to destroy her influence with her troops.

The prisoners were marched off without Captain Watriss knowing that his wife had for the time being saved his life. Senora Watriss shut herself up in her tent, endeavoring to think out some plan to prevent the execution.

"Take them back to the guard tent," she said. "I am too busy now to attend to the matter."

"But, senora," protested the officer in charge, "all we wish is the order—"

"Take them away," interrupted the senora impatiently. "I am not accustomed to receive suggestions from my inferiors."
