For two years Hood had been in poor health, and had made arrangements to go to Omaha Tuesday night for treatment. He had ninety dollars but thought he needed a hundred, and sent his grown son over to a neighbor to borrow ten dollars. It was while the son was on this errand that the deed was committed.

Upon returing home and finding his braska Telephone Co., spent a couple father dead, he reported the occurrence to Frank Hood, brother of the deceased, and to other neighbors. The Mrs. M. J. Mr. and Mrs. Pizer Entertain.

An exceptionally pleasant function was held at the beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Pizer Tuesday evening when they entertained the Harmony Card Club and a half dozen invited guests. Progressive high five was the entertaining feature, and those who surrounded the seven tables certainly had a pleasureable evening. The first prizes were won by Mrs. Albert Muldoon and E. T. Tramp, the consolation emblems by Mrs. F. T. Redmond and Henry Waltemath, and the guest prize by Mrs. Henry Peterson. A well served and very enjoyable two course lanch was served at the close of the games. Certainly Mr. and Mrs. Pizer proved to be successful entertainers.

This week The Tribune sent out bunch of delinquent subscription accounts to a collection agency in Chicago. This agency will attempt to do that which the publisher failed to docollect the accounts. These delinquents may get mad, but it's their own funeral. Had they paid, it would have saved them grief and the publisher a collection fee of twenty-five per cent.
