The cornet band gave its initial open air concert at the court house park Tuesday evening. A crowd of at least 2000 enjoyed the well rendered program. In thus giving during the summer a series of concerts, the band should receive some financial encouragement from our people.

We are to have the first real tent show of the season, Kirsch's World's Greatest Dramatic Company. They carry a big band and metropolitan orchestra, giving a concert on the street at noon. If you are a music lover don't fail to be present at the concert. It is free as the air you breathe; given for your benefit. Manage your affairs to be down town when the band plays Thursday, June 8th.

Hershey will put up a six-room building, the district south of town will construct two buildings in different parts of the district and at Wellfleet a high school building costing about $6,000 will be erected. Evidently the people of Lincoln county are anxious to provide facilities for the education of their children.

Memorial Day passed pleasantly and interestingly in North Platte. Nearly all the business houses closed at noon, thus giving every one so inclined an opportunity to attend the afternoon services at the Keith theatre. The program was carried out as published in these columns, and proved very interesting. The address delivered by Judge Warren pleased the audience; he is an interesting as well as rapid-fire speaker.

Coming on their own special Pullman cars, endorsed by a discriminating public wherever they have appeared, receiving ovation upon ovation at their every stop, Kirsch's King of the Cowpunchers are moving across the continent from East to West enroute to Australia, on their tour around the world. Curtis Gets the School.

The state board of public lands and buildings, which had the selection of the location of the site for the state agricultural school, met Tuesday evening in Lincoln and on the thirty-third ballot selected Curtis as the location. The last ballot was unanimous. North Platte was not seriously considered, receiving one vote on two ballots and two votes on the seventh ballot. Holdrege, which was instrumental in securing the passage of the bill, and expended several thousand dollars in boosting the proposition, received but little more consideration than North Platte.

Memorial Day at McPherson.

As has been customary for many years, Memorial Day services were held at the Ft. McPherson national cemetery. The attendance was large, the crowd being estimated at 1,500, and they represented largely farmers and their families, a number of whom made the trip from their homes in automobiles, about thirty cars being there. This is evidence of the prosperity of the farmers of that section.

The exercises were in charge of T. C. Patterson, and a committee of that section had charge of decorating each of the 400 or more graves, children handling the flowers, which included 500 carnations and a large number of peonies. In addition to these special contributions were made for the graves of W. C. Elder, Gus Hesse and others.

Following the basket dinner, addresses were made by Rev. Williams and Rev. Chapman, of this city, and music was furnished by a chorus of young people of the neighborhood.

While weather conditions were threatening in the morning, the clouds cleared away before noon and the remainder of the day was delightfully pleasant.

Lutheran Church Work for Past Year.

The annual congregational meeting was held this week by the Lutherans. The regular order of business was transacted, reports on the different organizations were read and placed on file. Reports of church and Sunday school showed that $1864.11 had been expended for current expenses and that sufficient funds are in the hands of the treasurer to pay all bills to date with a neat balance. The contributions for benevolence by the church and Sunday school amounted to $406.00 and by the Missionary $70.50, a grand total of $2340.61. The ladies raised the past year in various ways $501.80.

During the year, twenty-eight members were added to the church and thirteen infants baptized. The pastor officiated at eleven weddings and nine funerals. The Lutheran Brotherhood was organized and has been a great spiritual and social benefit to the men and the church. Another organization has been effected in the Missionary society of the young ladies and is promising. The young men's class in the Sunday school has assumed the support of a student in India and are raising the money by offerings additional to the regular contributions. With these new things being done and the old organizations doing efficient work the Lutherans are grateful to note another year of at least external prosperity.

The following members were elected to the church council for the ensuing three years: Frank Bretzer, elder; Prof. Ebright and Dr. Cresseler, deacons.

Reduction in Meat Prices.

Fresh pork from 10 to 12 1/2 cents per pound, lard in bulk or pail 10 cents per pound, smoked meats cheaper than at any other place in town. SCHRIEBER'S MEAT MARKET.

RUG REASONS.

Only a few years ago rugs were not commonly used and naturally there are reasons for their rapidly increasing popularity. In the first place, when you buy a rug you know just how the complete pattern appears. Then, the designs are the most beautiful of all floor coverings, because the master designers of the world have been working upon them for centuries, and the designs of a rug take in the whole floor coverings instead of a small pattern as is necessary in matching a carpet.

Another thing, there is no troublesome matching or fitting and no work in putting them down. When you want to take them up it is done in an instant, so you can clean them as often as desired instead of once or twice a year. Besides, when one part of a rug becomes worn it is a simple matter to change it around and thus get the full amount of service out of it. When you move or want to change them from one room to another they always fit.

With all these advantages they cost even less than a carpet, so if you need a new floor covering for any room do not decide until you see our wide range of rich, handsome rug patterns. We have bought heavily, for we know you will like them. This enables us to buy better and to sell on a very close margin. The goods and prices are here to speak for themselves.

Derryberry & Forbes

Mr. Donaldson hands us a copy of an Iowa paper which contains extracts from the Vicksburg (Miss) Citizen under date of July 4, 1863. The city at that time was under siege by General Grant, the duration of which had rendered the people almost to a state of starvation. Although they had gotten to a point where mule and cat meat were a luxury, the southerners still had hopes of winning and keeping Grant and his forces out of the city. The issue of the paper was printed on wall paper, the stock of print paper having become exhausted. The paper was delayed a day, and when it was issued it said: "The banner of the union floats over Vicksburg. General Grant caught the rabbit; he has dined in Vicksburg and he didn't bring his dinner with him." In that memorable siege a number of North Platte's old veterans took part, and P. H. Ruddy, who was one of them, says he fired 242 rounds of ammunition in one day.

William J. Bryan has kicked up the biggest row that the democrats in the house have faced in many years. Although his fight for free raw wool is primarily for the members of the house, the effect of his utterations has spread to the senate. He is bitterly denounced by the democrats who stand behind Chairman Underwood, of the ways and means committee, and a program for a tax on raw wool, and enthusiastically praised by the democrats who oppose Underwood, Speaker Clark and other democratic leaders.

The Tribune likes Curtis and the people in that section of the country, but it can think of no reason for the board of public lands and buildings selecting an inaccessible location for the state agricultural school except it be that the board does not endorse the action of the legislature and desires to see the school a failure.

Following closely on the Standard Oil decision, comes a decision by the United States supreme court declaring the tobacco trust to be a combination in restraint of trade and its main purpose to choke competition. The trust is given six months to get in legal shape.

The Lewellen Gazette is the latest newspaper venture on the sea of western Nebraska journalism. It is exceptionally neat typographically and is well filled with local news. Tompert & Bentz, of the Oshkosh Herald, are the publishers.
