The services were very impressive, and the church, crowded with friends of the deceased, testified by their presence the esteem in which the departed man was held. Magnificent floral offerings were sent from local and distant friends. Interment was made in the North Platte cemetery.

Hope to Avert Strike.

In the conference between Mr. Krutchmitt, and the representatives of the shopmen of the Harriman lines, held at San Francisco Friday, the former flatly refused to treat with or recognize the federation. Mr. Krutchmitt's contention was that under the federation plan trouble with one craft would mean trouble with all, and that such might prove more embarrassing to the Harriman system than it could well stand.

A San Francisco dispatch dated Sunday said: All action toward the calling of a strike of the shop employees of the Harriman lines as a result of the refusal of the railroads to recognize the federation of shops employees has been deferred until next Friday, and the representatives of the shop crafts who were present at the conference yesterday, with Vice President Krutchmitt of the Harriman lines express the hope that a strike will be averted.

A meeting of the advisory board of the Federated Shop Employees of the Harriman lines has been called to convene in San Francisco next Friday. The board comprises thirty-five members, representing the shop employees of all the important lines of the Harriman roads.

Until the arrival of the members of this board the international presidents of the five shop crafts who are now in San Francisco will take no official action. They will attend Labor Day celebrations throughout the state and will not return here until Friday.

Sues for Forty Thousand.

Mrs. Ethel E. Bleau, widow of Orell A. Bleau, who on July 13 was killed in an automobile accident at a crossing three or four miles east of Overton, has filed suit in the district court against the Union Pacific railroad company for $40,000 damages. The suit is brought by John W. Patterson, administrator of the estate of the dead man, and the attorneys are Warren Pratt and W. D. Oldham.

The accident in which Mr. Bleau lost his life instantly, occurred while he and an automobile driver, whom he had employed to drive him from Overton to Kearney, were speeding east on the north side of the track. They attempted to cross to the south side of the track and the machine was struck by a Union Pacific passenger engine driven by Mathew H. Douglas, who is made defendant in the suit. Both men were killed.

The attorneys in their petition allege that the death of Bleau was due to negligence in that the engineer did not keep proper watch for persons or vehicles who might cross the track and that he did not keep a diligent lookout nor did he sound the whistle or ring the bell before he came to the crossing.

Death of A. J. Nichols.

A. J. Nichols died Saturday morning after a short illness. He was taken ill the first of last week while at work in the hay fields near Gandy and brought to this city for treatment, but his condition became critical soon after and while relief was obtained, recovery was impossible. He passed away surrounded by his family. Mr. Nichols was a well known man in this community, having resided in and near the city for a number of years. He leaves in this city, a wife and three daughters Mrs. Andrew Scharmann, Misses Francis and Hazel Nichols.

The funeral was held from the family residence Sunday afternoon, the Rev. C. B. Harmon conducting the services. Many friends were present at the services and followed the remains to the North Platte cemetery. Numerous floral offerings were banked on the casket.

Mr. and Mrs. Andy Struthers, of Douglas, Ariz., came Sunday evening to attend the funeral of the latter's brother, the late D. A. Brown.

The P. K. Huffman habeas corpus case which came up in the federal court Saturday was continued until Sept. 16.

Will Re-enter Business.

John Herrod, formerly engaged in the grocery business in North Platte, but of late years on the road for a Council Bluffs wholesale grocery house, has leased the building occupied by H. L. Greeson and will engage in the grocery business. He will be associated with his son Charley, and they will begin business as soon as Mr. Greeson vacates. The latter will probably have some trouble in securing a suitable room and it may be that he will make overtures to the Messrs. Herrod for a sale of the stock.

W. R. McKeen Married.

W. R. McKeen, former division foreman at this terminal, was married at Pasadena, Cal., Aug. 23rd, to Mrs. Mary L. Hull. In speaking of the wedding, the Omaha Bee said:

Here is the end of a romance that has caused more gossip in the upper circles of Omaha society than anything that has happened in a long time. Both parties to it have been wedded before, and each has a decree of divorce severing the bonds of the former wedding. Elizabeth N. McKeen was granted a divorce from Wm. R. McKeen on January 22, 1909. Mary L. Hull was given a divorce from Charles W. Hull on February 1, 1910. In each case the wife brought the suit, and husband made no fight to prevent the decree.

Gossip at one time connected the names of Mrs. McKeen and Mr. Hull, and on one occasion at the Country Club an open break occurred between Mrs. McKeen and Mrs. Hull, which occasioned much comment at the time. Mrs. McKeen, who was Miss New, of Indianapolis, returned to her former home after the divorce, and Mrs. Hull went to Pasadena for an extended visit.

The Traveling Salesman.

An announcement that will be of interest to the ladies of our city in connection with the coming engagement of James Forbes' comedy "The Traveling Salesman" that will be presented at the Keith Saturday evening, Sept. 9th. The second act scene represents the sample room in a hotel, and as Bob Blake is supposed to be a cloak and suit drummer, the managers of the company, in view of the fact that the ladies are always interested in the latest styles of gowns, have taken advantage of the opportunity to display the latest creations of the dressmaker's art for the delectation of our feminine contingent of theatre-goers. One gown displayed never fails to invoke exclamations of delight from the ladies who see in. The vocabulary of a layman to describe this exquisite creation is inadequate, but it is a safe assertion to make that not one woman in a thousand would fail to see all the beauty in lines and texture. This gown is a dressmaker's sample, seized by the United States customs inspectors as it was being smuggled into this country, and it was purchased at the appraiser's sale of smuggled goods held recently in New York.
