In the first game played Saturday New York won 2 to 1, and in yesterday's game Philadelphia won 3 to 1. The daily attendance at the games is 40,000.

It has leaked out that charges have been preferred against Rev. C. P. W. Wimberly, formerly a Methodist pastor at this place, but of late in charge of a Presbyterian church at Table Rock. Rev. Wimberly left the Methodist church after severing his connections here and for a time conducted Episcopal services at Gothenburg. He then later accepted a Presbyterian pastorate. The nature of the charge has not been learned, but is such as to call for a hearing before a committee.

Seven persons were killed and twenty-two injured in a wreck on the Missouri Pacific at Ft. Crook, near Omaha, Sunday morning when a collision between passenger and freight trains occurred. The collision was due to the conductor of the freight train failing to check the register at South Omaha.

William Dowhower and "Teeter" Harris were arrested Sunday for being drunk and disorderly on the main streets and found in the same condition yesterday. Judge Warren fined them $5.00 and costs which they were unable to pay, therefore an eight day jail sentence was given them.

William J. Bryan was tendered an informal reception Saturday night at the Elks home, of which order he is a member. Introduced to the audience of 100 by Mayor Patterson, Mr. Bryan devoted fifteen minutes to story telling and then, drifting from jest to earnest, delivered an address on friendship, kind words and sympathy in which he brought his rhetorical and oratorical ability in full play. In prefacing this address he stated that while in England he had noticed the words "There are Others" engraved on the threshold of an English home, and the words struck him so forcibly that he had given it much thought—it was the most direct plea for unselfishness that he had ever noticed.

There is no noticeable change in strike conditions at this terminal. Trains are running regularly and as a rule are not much delayed. Motive power to move extra passenger trains which have been passing west for several nights, seems to be forthcoming on demand. In the shops a number of men who were shipped in have left, but others have been supplied. The number leaving, however, is said to be larger than the number arriving. Everything is orderly and quiet, and the town gives no evidence that a strike is on other than that business is little more quiet than though the strike was not in progress. Nearly every day strike-breakers enroute to western points pass through.

Adopt Platte Valley Route.

Secretary Oehler of the Commercial club, is in receipt of a letter from the leading automobile blue book publishers of the country, which states that firm will adopt the Platte valley route in volume five of the publication, which will cover the territory west of Omaha to Cheyenne, Ogden and San Francisco. They state that they have arrived at this conclusion after careful investigation of other routes. They had the route named the "North Platte route," and Mr. Oehler in his reply suggests that this be corrected to "Platte valley route" so as not to create the impression that there are other Platte valley routes and thus create confusion.—Kearney Hub.

Synod Closes.

The Synod of the Presbyterian church closed its 38th annual session in this city on Monday at noon, after five busy days. About one hundred and thirty from over the state were in attendance before the close. This was the first time the Synod has met so far west in the state and the attendance was larger than had been anticipated.

Rev. Geo. Franklin Williams, D. D., of the local Presbyterian church, was the retiring moderator. Rev. John Presly, of Beaver City, was elected to that office for the coming year. On Sunday morning the new moderator preached an able sermon before the Synod. The Holy Communion was celebrated at that service, visiting ministers and elders participating. At the three o'clock service on Sunday Hon. William Jennings Bryan delivered his great lecture on "The Old Time Religion" to a delighted audience, which in spite of the rain packed the church, not less than seven hundred people, heard the address. This was the most interesting single service of the entire session.

A strong program had been arranged and able speakers provided. Laymen had a large hearing. Jas. B. Wooton of the Bee, Judge Davidson of the Tecumseh and others appearing from time to time. Prof. Clark of Kearney, also a layman, preached the opening sermon as vice moderator. This duty usually falls to the retiring moderator but Dr. Williams as host of the Synod desired that another should take this place.

Seldom has it been the privilege of North Platte people to listen to a greater leader in the church than Robert E. Speer of New York who spoke on Friday night. Dr. Speer also is a layman of the church, secretary of the board of foreign missions and known throughout the world as a leader in this cause. Rev. E. Morris Ferguson was heard several times and his work greatly enjoyed. Dr. Hughes of Madison and Rev. Mr. Leland of Lincoln rendered good service. Dr. Jenks of the first church of Omaha spoke on church federations, one of the vital elements of present day Protestantism. Out of the divisions of the Reformation churches a new catholicism is shaping.

Dr. Lawrence was also on the program and delighted those who braved the rain to hear him. Visiting clergymen occupied the various pulpits of city on Sunday.

The automobile ride about the city and out to the state farm and to the Cody ranch was a treat much appreciated by members of the Synod. Twenty-five automobiles were used.

A musical program of nearly an hour preceded Mr. Bryan's address on Sunday afternoon. The good work of the church choir was a feature of all the evening sessions especially on Thursday night, when a half hour was devoted to it. All phases of the work of the Presbyterian church were discussed including temperance, home and foreign missions, etc. Education occupied most of the morning on Monday. Representatives of Bellevue and Hastings colleges and Omaha Seminary were present.

Visiting commissioners to the synod seemed much pleased with the city, the church in which the sessions were held, and the hospitality extended. Dr. Williams was many times complimented on the way his people handled what proved to be the most largely attended Synod of recent years.

It seems to be the intention of the democrats to try to elect their state ticket this fall by endeavoring to create discord in the republican ranks rather than by presenting the merits of their candidates.

The Nebraska law insuring inspection and uniform tests in dairy products—a republican measure—benefits both country and city folks. It is another example of what has been done by the republican party.

When prominent democrats denounce their party nominee as having been a pass distributor and corporation tool, does it not appeal to you that it is rather a wise policy to vote for the republican candidate for that particular office?

Explanatory.

Mr. Editor: As I have been asked, "Did you write an insulting letter to the Catholic priest?" will you give this space in The Tribune that I may explain why and what I wrote which may vindicate the honor of the one that wrote me and myself. Weeks back the Catholics held a mission in their church and I received an invitation to come every night. The writer said he had read some of my writings upon the Sabbath question, and he would be pleased to have me come to their meetings. The note said that I might ask any question and put it in the box. Now God chose this question: "Can God convert the Catholics and non-Catholics and Protestants of North Platte so they will not help promote the liquor business that makes 50 per cent of our criminals? P. S. If it would not be sacrilegious I would like to meet your people in your church Sunday at 3 p. m. and show them a cross that I made and tell you all what inspired me to make it." Now Mr. Editor, in view of the above question can God or does God recognize that a man is converted while he is helping to promote such a damnable business that makes 50 per cent of his fellow citizens criminals. Will any man's money appease from such doings? CYRUS STEBBINS.

The city council will meet in regular session this evening.
