As to Rev. C. P. W. Wimberly.
An item in The Tribune of Oct. 17th, said that it had leaked out that charges had been preferred against Rev. C. P. W. Wimberly, etc.

First. The charges have been pending for six months or more. They were made in due form and openly, without any secrecy whatever. Any one entitled to information for months.

Second. The charges have solely to do with the validity of Mr. Wimberly's ordination papers. Nothing else is involved.

Third. The whole trouble was stirred up by a Methodist minister located in the eastern part of the state. The same man tried to make trouble for Mr. Wimberly in the Presbytery three or four years ago, with similar charges, but failed.

Says Strike is Won.

The present strike of shopmen on the Harriman lines was forced on the men by Wall street, according to James W. Kline, president of the International Brotherhood of Blacksmiths, in an address Wednesday before 3,500 strikers at the Illinois Central plant at Burnside. Further, Mr. Kline said that Julius Kruttschnitt had admitted to him the truth of his assertion.

Mr. Kruttschnitt said he was following the instruction of the board of directors, said Mr. Kline. Wall street thought we were to back down. The discrimination was begun against the Harriman lines, until the men were forced to go out. "We have the strike practically won."

Pioneer Woman Dies.

Mrs. Elizabeth Boyer, widow of I. P. Boyer, died at her home on east Sixth street Thursday morning after an illness of considerable duration. She became unconscious Tuesday night and remained in that condition until the soul took its flight.

The deceased was past sixty-six years of age—born in Missouri January 1st, 1845. In 1862 she came to Lincoln county in company with an elder sister Mrs. Dorothy Rowland, still a resident of North Platte, and located at what was then Ft. McPherson. February 17, 1864, she was married to I. P. Boyer, and they continued to live at the fort—where the husband conducted a store—until the post was abandoned in 1872. They then moved to a point west of the Burke ranch, where the mercantile business was continued for a year or two when a removal to North Platte was made, Mr. Boyer dying in 1891. To the marital union eight children—three girls and five boys—were born, the girls dying and the boys still living. They are Will, Frank and Bert of this city, Guy of Buffalo, Wyo., and Tony of Denver.

The hour of the funeral has not been announced at this writing, pending the arrival of Guy Boyer.

In the death of Mrs. Boyer, Lincoln county loses one of the few remaining pioneers—the men and women who came here fifty years ago and have since resided. Varied and many are the changes which have taken place since those pioneer days—the passing of the garrisoned post, the Indian, the buffalo and the cattle ranch to the more modern life. In the early days Mrs. Boyer was a favorite with all, jovial and kind hearted, and a woman of more than average attraction—in her girlhood days she was a belle. As a mother she was generous and considerate, and the sons lose one whose memory they have reason to revere.

RUBBER CANNON BALLS.

A World's Fair Exhibit That Puzzled Louis Napoleon.

An instance of the obsession of the mind by one idea is seen in a ludicrous mistake made by Louis Napoleon in 1855 at a world's fair held in Paris while he was emperor. He had been trained to war, and he could not see a strange object without regarding it in relation to war. The head of the United States commission at the exhibition was Mauseil B. Field, who tells in his "Memoirs of Many Men" how greatly disturbed the emperor was by an American invention. The commissioner was present at a reception held at the palace.

"The emperor approached me and remarked that he had that afternoon walked through our department of the exposition—this was just before it was open to the public—that he had seen many things there which interested him, but that nothing had so much pleased him as the exhibition of vulcanized india rubber. Among the articles he had noticed something which had puzzled him ever since. He very much regretted that I was not present at the time of his visit.

"Here I interrupted him to say that I very much regretted it myself and that if he had sent me an intimation of his purpose I should have been certain to attend.

"Well," he answered, "in one corner I saw, stacked as one sees them in an artillery yard, a pile of vulcanized india rubber cannon balls. There was nobody there to answer the inquiries which I desired to make. Perhaps you can explain the matter to me."

"I had not even seen the balls in question and had to say so.

"I cannot imagine," resumed his majesty, "how any preparation of india rubber can be used for projectiles. It has often occurred to me that, in combination with other materials, it might be made useful for defensive purposes."

"I was compelled to admit that it was equally mysterious to me how the inventor could have thought seriously of making cannon balls of it. After so unsatisfactory an interview the emperor probably did not think that it would be civil to leave me immediately, so he asked me if I took much interest in military matters. I answered that I did not any more than civilians usually do.

"I was at that time residing very near the Palace of Industry. The next morning I went over before breakfast for the purpose of getting information upon the subject which had so puzzled the emperor. I went directly to the india rubber exhibit, and, sure enough, I found the balls there just as they had been described to me. It was too early for me to expect to see the man in charge, but there was a person in his place. I asked what in the world he expected to do with india rubber cannon balls.

"They are not cannon balls," he answered; "they are footballs!"
