Silver Wedding Anniversaries.

One of the most elaborate social functions of the year was the dual silver wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Waltemath and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Muldoon on Wednesday evening. The guests numbered sixty, and to them the event proved a most delightful one; in fact all it could be wished for or desired. At 8:30 the guests assembled at the Waltemath residence, where after extending congratulations to those in the receiving line, they were entertained by selections from an orchestra, vocal solos by Elizabeth Carr-Largston, and enjoyed themselves in a social way. The rooms were profusely decorated with silver tinsel, wedding bells and cut flowers. In the dining room a punch bowl was in evidence presided over by four young ladies.

After passing two hours at the Waltemath home, the guests were escorted to the Muldoon residence, where after wraps had been removed and in step to a wedding march, they were seated at three tables and served to a six course dinner nicely prepared under the supervision of Mrs. Hart and served by nine young ladies under the supervision of Miss Keliher. The menu was a most excellent one, and after full justice had been done, Judge Grimes, as toastmaster proposed four toasts which were responded to in turn by T. C. Patterson, W. T. Wilcox, Ira L. Bare and Miss Annie Kramph, each response being along complimentary lines to the hosts and hostess, and at the end of each the guests drank to the health of those who had provided the pleasant evening. The decorations, both rooms and tables, were in keeping with a silver anniversary, and with a wealth of cut flowers.

Many tributes of the occasion were presented to Mr. and Mrs. Waltemath and Mr. and Mrs. Muldoon, among which was a silver coffee service to each couple.

It was one o'clock when the guests bade the hosts and hostesses good-night and every minute of the evening had been one of pleasure.

Can Fight Own Battles.

President Kline, of the association of blacksmiths, declines to say whether a general strike of railroad employes will be called to enforce the demands of the Harriman system federation.

"As long as the Harriman employes can carry on their battle unaided," said Kline, "we will not call a general strike. The moment we think more aid is needed, we will call a general walkout. Since the Harriman shomen can take care of themselves, you can draw your own conclusions. Remember, though, we are going to win this strike if we have to tie up all the railroads in the country."

A Serious Accident.

While on their way to North Platte Tuesday Messrs. Kidwell and VanScyoc had an experience that they do not care to repeat. While going at a rate of about 30 miles an hour they ran into a two-wire fence that had been stretched across an open road to form a lane to drive cattle through, and had not been taken down, and one wire struck them about breast high. VanScyoc being protected by the steering gear, had the best of it, but Kidwell had a heavy fur overcoat just about cut in two, and had it not been for the coat and other heavy clothing he would have undoubtedly been badly if not fatally injured. As it was the suitorium instead of a surgeon got the job of taking the stitches.—Wallace Winner.

Ridgely Attorney for Wyoming.

Tuesday's Washington dispatches announced the appointment of Hilliard S. Ridgely, of Basin, Wyo., to be United States district attorney for Wyoming. To the people of Lincoln county this appointment is of interest, for the appointee was a former Lincoln county boy. He spent his early childhood in Somerset precinct, then came to North Platte and worked his way through the high school; doing odd jobs in the Tribune office and elsewhere to earn his board and lodge. He graduated, read law in the office of Grimes & Wilcox, thence to the state university, where he graduated in the law course. He returned to North Platte and opened an office, later was elected county attorney. At the expiration of his term he sought a new country, and located at Cody, Wyo., later removing to Basin. In Wyoming he made good, and has built up an extensive and lucrative practice. His practice is worth more than the district attorneyship, which has a salary of $4,000 attached, but Ridgely is using this office as a stepping stone to something higher—that of United States senator from Wyoming. This latter may be some years off, but it will probably come; he usually gets what he goes after. The Tribune man took an interest in "Hill" when the latter was a boy; he has watched his advancement with keen satisfaction; and to him sincere congratulations are extended, and with it the wish for yet better things.

The appointment of Mr. Ridgely will necessitate his removal from Basin to Cheyenne.

We earnestly request that all our customers settle their accounts by Saturday, Dec. 23rd, as we will give the Motor-Cycle away that night and we want every one to get their tickets. Yours may be the lucky number.

Attempts to Wreck Train.

Charles Anderson, a tramp, was arrested at Ogalalla Monday and confessed that he attempted to wreck one of the passenger trains on the Union Pacific west of Brule by laying ties and planks across the track. Fortunately the obstructions were discovered in advance of the arrival of the train. Anderson said that he intended to wreck the train with a view to getting some of the spoils. He had been around Ogalalla for several days, acted suspiciously and his arrest and confession followed.

Receivers for Wabash.

Receivers for the Wabash railroad were appointed in St. Louis Tuesday. The road is declared insolvent, and the petition for the receivers was filed by the Westinghouse Airbrake Co., on a claim of $18,000. The Wabash has an outstanding capital stock of ninety-two million dollars, on which no dividends have been paid for several years. Through the receivership it is believed that a reorganization of the road can be effected.
