Time to Get Together.

As a representative of the third As a representative that has been in-party—the public—which has been in-Union Pacific employes, The Tribune believes that concerted action on the part of business men and others should be taken in a effort to induce the company and shopmen to get together and end the strike.

21Without Ediscussing the, merits of the propositions involved, but giving the men the credit of conducting the strike on the Union Pacific in a very decent and orderly manner, it must be admitted by all that the strike has been a costly one to the three parties directly concerned the men, the company and the public. To the men it has been a loss of wages that a majority of them can ill afford to lose; in fact in some few cases at least, the men and their families have actually suffered for the lack of actual necessities of life. The strike should therefore be settled as a humantarian act, if nothing else,

The direct as well as indirect loss to the company has been enormous; that such is true is shown by the published decreased earnings in November and December. Perhaps the officials and the directors figure that in order to defeat certain demands made by the men they can afford to lose a million or two, but in view of the present anti-corporation agitation, it is policy for a railroad to "be good"-or at least as good as possible.

Next to the men the public, and especially the business men at the division terminals, have been the worst losers. It is not only the decreased trade from the men involved, but the strike has an effect on other people not involved, it causes them to draw their purse strings tighter, it defers real estate transactions; contemplated improvements are held back-in fact it deadens a town in all particulars. It is true that the number of men employed in the shops is nearly as great as before the strike, but these men are of little or no value so far as trade is concerned. They are boarded and lodged at the shops, they seldom come over to town; they earn a bunch of money and then seek other fields. They don't come to North Platte for the purpose of making it their homes.

A large percentage of the North Platte shopmen who are out on a strike are home owners; they are respected citizens; they support our schools and our churches; they are part and parcel of the business of our city.

What is written above is not new: all are conversant with the facts; the object is to call attention of our business men to use as far as possible their influence in inducing the company and the men to get together and thus end a struggle that has been barren of

Telephone Merger a Fact.

The merger of the Bell Telephone company in Nebraska with the Lincoin Telephone & Telegraph company, recently authorized by permission of the Nebraska state railway commission, was completed Tuesday.

President Frank Woods and Secretary C J. Bills of the Lincoln company issued checks for $2,293,000 to of the Nebraska Bell company in return for which the Lincoln company became possessed of all of the Bell exchanges south of the Platte river and east of the west line of Adams county in Nebraska. The Bell company immediately paid back the money to the Lincoln company in return for stock.

The checks issued were three in $222,900 and a third for $70,100.

By this deal the Lincoln company buys forty-eight exchanges of the Bell company and several toll lines. In re-Platte country in Nebraska. To perfect the deal the Lincoln company asked for and received permission from the state railway commission to issue $350,000 of common stock and $3,000,000 of 5 per cent preferred stock.

The break between Governor Wilson and Colonel Harvey was given publicity, it appears, by a southern editor who has long been hostile to the New Jersey scholar. It is suspected that he received the information from Colonel Watterson, and that the story was put out at the moment when it had never worked for the company. was calculated it would do the greatest They lose all seniority rights, and if possible lot of harm. The Famous Rayo Lamp

The best part of the day is the evening, when the whole family is gathered together around the lamp.

The old days of the smoky fireplace and flickering candle are gone forever. In their place have come the convenient oil stove and the indispensable Rayo Lamp.

There are to-day, in the United States alone, more than 3,000,000 of these Rayo lamps, giving their clear, white light to more than 3,000,000 homes. Other lamps cost more, but you cannot get a better light than the low-priced Rayo gives. It has become so popular we may almost call it "the official lamp of the

There are rumors floating about that the meeting of the Harriman officials at Salt Lake has to do with the strike that was declared by the shopmen number, one for $2,000,000, another for some months ago, and that it is possible that a solution of the difficulty may be brought about. While the strike is still in force it is known that some of the men have been turn it withdraws from the North going back to work during the last few weeks. There has been no break in the ranks of the strikers, but they are going back singly and in pairs and sometimes in bunches of several.

Strikers admit that some of the men have returned to work in Omaha and elsewhere, and railroad officials declare that this is true. Up to this time no overtures have been made by either side. However, whenever an old shopman has applied for a position he has been put at work in the event a vacancy could be found. Returning to work the old-time shopmen go as new employes and take the same standing as if they re-enter the company employ on the same footing as if they are strangers.
