Twenty-one Years Ago.

In its issue of Feb. 15, 1891, The Tribune recorded the proceedings of a mass convention to nominate a city ticket. Judge Neville was selected as a candidate for mayor, S. Goozee for city clerk and Will McDonald city treasurer. The following resolution, after much discussion was adopted: Resolved, That it is the sense of this meeting that we favor the nomination mayor, councilmen and city treasurer who will serve the city gratis, that we favor the reduction of the salary of the clerk one-half and the abolishment of the night police. Judge Hoagland opposed the resolution in a strong speech.

Mrs. Cody entertained a number of citizens as a farewell party to Colonel Cody who was getting ready to take his show to Europe.

There were five candidates for councilman in the Third ward—Louis Peterson, C. F. Scharman, Charley Margileth, James Shea and W. H. Johnston.

Adrian C. Anson and his ball team, the Chicago White Stockings, passed through to Denver. The Tribune had delegated Tom Healey to interview Anson, but "Tom was so deeply engrossed in entertaining a young lady that he forgot the ball team was on the train."

Charley McAllister, living near Hershey, sold 3,000 bushels of wheat to the state aid committee which had been grown under irrigation.

Lincoln county warrants which had been outstanding and unpaid for 1889 and previous years were being paid by County Treasurer Osgood.

Coal rustlers were vigorous and violent. One shot the night watchman at Julesburg, another one at Lodge Pole attacked Conductor Blood, and at Big Springs another hit a brakeman over the head with a club. These rustlers would jump on a slow moving train, throw off a ton or more of lump coal, and later gather it up in their wagon.

A. J. Miller and W. S. Peniston, who were married at Auburn, N. Y., on the same day, celebrated their twenty-sixth wedding anniversary.

Mrs. W. W. Birge and Mrs. F. H. Longley were nominated for members of the board of education by petition. It was an innovation and caused considerable criticism, but both were elected and proved valuable members of the board.

A business man informed The Tribune that on the preceding Saturday he had counted 135 farmers' teams on the streets and "wasn't a good day for farmers, either."

The little daughter of T. C. Patterson was taken ill with scarletina, having contracted fever germs through handling a scrap book which had been used by her cousin while suffering from scarlet fever the year before. The instance was cited to show the longevity of fever germs. Harvey VanDoran had a case of scarlet fever that was traced to the same source.

Nominate Candidates.

Both the republicans and democrats held mass conventions at the court house Tuesday evening and both conventions were well attended.

The republican convention was called to order by City Chairman E. H. Evans and the call read by Secretary R. C. Langford. Later these two were elected presiding officers of the convention.

W. M. Cunningham and Hershey Welch were placed in nomination for water commissioner, and the first ballot gave Welch nineteen votes and Cunningham sixteen. Welch was declared the nominee.

For school board the following were nominated: For one year, O. E. Elder and Dr. N. McCabe; for two years, Edgar Schiller; for one year, Nels Rasmussen.

The voters of the several wards then assembled in separate conventions and nominated the following candidates for councilmen: First ward, Jonn Burke; Second ward, C. F. Tracy; Third ward, A. B. Hoagland; Fourth ward, Robt. L. Douglas.

In the democratic convention, with J. B. McDonald presiding, W. M. Cunningham was nominated for water commissioner; Messrs. Elder, McCabe, Schiller and Rasmussen for members of the school board, and John Frazier councilman from the First ward, C. F. Tracy from the Second, Louis Tobin from the Third and Richard Owens from the Fourth.

It will thus be seen that the board of education candidates will be the same on both tickets, and that Mr. Tracy was nominated for councilman by both conventions. The race for water commissioner promises to be a spirited one.
