The Primary Ballot.

Up to Saturday evening 194 men had signed that they are willing to become candidates for positions, ranging from president down to congressman, and have their names appear on the primary ballot.

Three republicans and three democrats are candidates for president, two republican candidates for vice-president, eight democrats, sixteen republicans, and eight socialists for electors, seventeen democrats and thirty-two republicans for regular delegates, thirty republicans for alternate delegates, two republicans and two democrats for national committeemen, two republicans and three democrats for United States senator, ten republicans, eight democrats and one socialist for congress, three democrats, two republicans, and one socialist for governor, one republican, and two democrats for secretary of state, three republicans and one democrat for lieutenant governor, four republicans, one democrat, and one socialist for auditor, two republicans, two democrats, and one socialist for treasurer, two republicans and three democrats for superintendent, one republican, two democrats, and a socialist for attorney general, six republicans and a democrat for land commissioner, five democrats and three republicans for railway commissioner.

Counting the blank lines that must be left in each office division on the primary ballot for voters to write in names of favorites, the office division heads, and the constitutional amendments, the republican primary ballot will be about six feet in length if no other filings are made.

Senator Hoagland.

Senator W. V. Hoagland of Lincoln county at the last session of the legislature had a considerable to do with irrigation laws, was chairman of the committee on irrigation, and succeeded in getting passed fifteen irrigation bills for his constituents. The work he did naturally placed him in the limelight as the irrigation senator, and if he is returned to the senate this fall he will no doubt encounter plenty to contend with in the matter of irrigation laws. It is altogether likely that there will be something of a conflict of rights between Nebraska, Wyoming and Colorado, as well as things looking toward the betterment of the water users along the valley.

Hoagland was one of the floor leaders in the Ollis stockyards bill fight, the bill placing the regulation of stockyards charges in the hands of the state railway commission. The re-appointment bill was another of the laws which he worked for, there now being six representatives where we formerly had four, and for four senators where we had two before. Senator Hoagland somehow didn't acquire the habit of sleeping on the job while in the legislature; and if he is returned to the senate it is likely that he will be in better position to do still more hustling for his district.—Sutherland Free Lance.

A Correction.

A couple of weeks ago The Tribune published a dispatch from Washington concerning the proposed law changing the residence time on homesteads, which stated that Congressman Kinkaid at first opposed the bill and that he offered an amendment increasing the time of residence from eighteen months to twenty months. In a letter to The Tribune Congressman Kinkaid says:

"I beg to say these statements are incorrect. I never opposed the bill. Neither was I in any way responsible for the making of the amendment referred to; had nothing to do with that whatever. The first I did concerning the bill was to express my earnest and hearty support in behalf of its enactment in a conference held by members from the public lands states, and soon thereafter I secured the House committee to make an amendment to include Nebraska within its provisions, not expressly but in legal effect. However, it is true that at least ninety-five per cent of those who have written me their views about the bill have expressed themselves earnestly in behalf of its enactment, and that is my warrant for giving the bill my earnest support."

DANGER IN DELAY.

Kearney Diseases Are Too Dangerous for North Platte People to Neglect.

The great danger of kidney troubles is that they get firm hold before the sufferer recognizes them. Health is gradually undermined. Backache, headache, nervousness, lameness, soreness, lumbago, urinary troubles, dropsy and Bright's disease, follow as the kidneys get worse. Don't neglect your kidneys. Help the kidneys with the reliable and safe remedy, Doan's Kidney Pills, which has cured people right here in North Platte.

George W. Weinberger, 199 W. 9th St., North Platte, Neb., says: "Two years ago I became afflicted with kidney trouble and suffered from agonizing pains thru my back. I gradually grew worse, became stiff and lame and on account of losing my rest at night, became all worn out. My kidneys did not perform their functions naturally. Learning of Doan's Kidney Pills, I procured them from McDonnell's & Graves' drug store, and after I had taken the contents of six boxes, I was entirely cured. Prior to using Doan's Kidney Pills I had to lay off from work for several months, but after taking this remedy, only one month, I was able to resume work."

The Slow Answer.

Did you ever hear your telephone bell ring and ring again, when you were busy and did not answer?

If you did the operator probably finally reported to the party calling you, "They do not answer." (Note she never says "They are not there.") Then she disconnected your line.

Perhaps five seconds later, just six seconds too late, you answered. You got no reply. You, no doubt, exclaimed, "My bell rang."

Yes, your bell did ring, but you did not answer promptly. Your delay caused either the loss of a customer or inconvenience of a friend.

Our constant endeavor is to give the quickest and best telephone service that human ingenuity can devise.

Your attitude in calling or receiving calls will hinder or aid our best efforts. Won't you help us.
