FAMOUS MEN PAY REVERENCE TO DEAD OFFICER.

SPEECH OF PRESIDENT TAFT

Tears Bring an Abrupt Ending to What the Nation's Chief Executive Had to Offer.

Washington.—The life of Major Archibald W. Butt as a soldier, newspaper man, aide to presidents and lodge member, and his heroic death on the Titanic were commemorated by his commander-in-chief, a president, a secretary of war, a senator of his native state, a contemporary in the newspaper field and the fraternity of Masonry at an impressive memorial service here Sunday.

The tribute President Taft paid to his late aide epitomized all that was said: "Everybody knew Archie as Archie. I cannot go in a box at a theater; I cannot turn around in my room—I can't go anywhere without expecting to see his smiling face or to hear his cheerful voice in greeting. The life of the president is rather isolated and those appointed to live with him come much closer to him than any one else. The bond is very close and it is difficult to speak on such an occasion.

"Archie Butt's character was single, simple, straightforward and incapable of intrigue. A clear sense of humanity lightened his life and those about him. Life was not for him a troubled problem. He was a soldier and when he was appointed to serve under another, to that other he rendered implicit loyalty. I never knew a man who had so much self-abnegation, so much self-sacrifice as Archie Butt.

"Occasions like the sinking of the Titanic frequently develop unforseen traits in men. It marks them heroes when you don't expect it. But with Archie it was just as natural for him to help those about him as it was for him to ask me to permit him to do something for some one or for me.

"He was on the deck of the Titanic exactly what he was everywhere. He leaves a void with those who loved him, but the circumstances of his going are all that we would have had, and while tears fill the eyes and the voice is choked, we are felicitated by the memory of what he was."

President Taft spoke with difficulty and he was forced to an abrupt ending by a failure of voice and a steady flow of tears. Beside Mrs. Taft sat Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Butt of Augusta, Ga. Opposite them sat Secretary Wilson, Secretary Meyer and other prominent officials. Senator Bacon sat with the members of the Georgia delegation in congress and throughout the meeting place were statesmen, soldiers and friends of the dead officer. Temple lodge No. 32, of the Masonic fraternity was seated with the speakers.
