TUESDAY, MAY 21, 1912.

Up to Saturday night the Taft managers laid claim to 492 delegates and the Roosevelt managers 370. Taft therefore needs 48 and Roosevelt 170.

The republican primary election in Ohio will be held today and much depends upon the result as to the nomination of Taft or Roosevelt. It is generally believed that the one who gets the Ohio delegation will receive the nomination in June. The campaign has been a warm one, with both candidates covering the state. President Taft feels confident of securing the delegation.

The redskins now living in the United States number 265,683, as against 237,196 of a decade ago. The director of the census reports that 66.5 per cent of them are full-blooded Indians. There are at least 300,000 Indians in North America, and their number is increasing; they are not "vanishing." Indeed, ethnological experts say that the continent harbors perhaps more aborigines than in the days before the white men came. In the hunting stage of civilization the land could not support many Indians.

Eleven Prisoners Attempt Suicide.

Sick at heart, as well as physically, from the effects of eating scraps and other foul foods, and believing death far more enjoyable to the life in the Douglas county jail "bull pen," in Omaha, eleven prisoners formed a suicide pact and attempted to take their own lives Friday morning. The course they chose was the gas route.

One of the prisoners, James Higley, serving sixty days, was taken to the county hospital at noon in a dying condition. His recovery is doubtful. Two other prisoners were unconscious when found, but their condition is not serious. The other eight were only made very sick by inhaling the gases.

That said Herzog was a trespasser on Union Pacific property; that Herzog was riding on cars being handled by Switch Eng 1244; that said cars were in no way connected with the Kit Carson circus; that said Herzog had been put off of cars by switchmen and also cautioned by switchmen to keep off of cars and paid no attention to warning and got on cars and fell between same while cars were being switched.

Mrs. A. G. Westburg, 708 W. Fourth St., North Platte, Nebr. says: "I hold, if anything, a higher regard for Doan's Kidney Pills today than when I recommended them August 7, 1907. Another member of my family has since been troubled by kidney complaint and has received a world of benefit through the use of Doan's Kidney Pills. I told in a previous statement how I obtained relief from a dragging pain in my back and trouble with my kidneys. A doctor diagnosed my case as a floating kidney. Many a day I was unable to stand on account of the pain through my kidney and the kidney secretions were unnatural. An operation was advised, but luckily I learned of Doan's Kidney Pills and procured a supply from McDonnell & Graves' drug store (now Schiller & Co's) and began their use. A few days' use removed the pains and restored my kidneys to their proper working order."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

The Copper in a Cent.

A penny is made from almost chemically pure copper, which is obtained by the new electric method. Formerly the refining of copper was an expensive process, but with the utilization of electricity the expense has been materially decreased. The copper is placed at one end of a tank which is filled with water. This is called the anode or positive pole. The action of a powerful electric current releases the copper, carries it through the water and deposits it on the negative or cathode pole. The result is what is known as "electrolytic" or "cathode" copper. It is what pennies are made of. While the "electrolytic" is the purest known copper, the "lake" copper brings a slightly higher price in the market. This is because there is a small amount of silver in all the copper from the Lake Superior regions. It is so small that it cannot be separated at a profit. Silver, however, is a better conductor of electricity than copper, and therefore for commercial purposes the lake copper is in such demand that it brings a better price.—New York Press.

A Pool in Eggs.

A company of barnstorming actors rushed into a railroad eating house. The tragedian grabbed a dish containing six hard boiled eggs and swept all the eggs on to a plate in front of him.

"Hey, girl!" shouted the leading man. "Set up them eggs again. This guy's run pool!" —Philadelphia Saturday Evening Post.

Told Him.

"See here, landlord," said an angry tenant after he had signed the contract. "this house is full of sewer gas." "Yes, that's what I told you." "Told me?" "Yes. You asked me if there was gas in every room and I said there was." —London Tatler.

Wise Rats.

Talkative Passenger—When the rats desert a ship before it sails it's a sure sign that the ship is unseaworthy, isn't it? Sailor—Not always. They might have discovered that a Chinese cook has shipped.

Her Worst Fear Realized.

"No, mother," said the beautiful heiress, "I shall not marry the count. I do not love him." "Alas!" the good old lady sobbed. "I've always feared you had inherited your father's plebeian ideas." —Judge's Library.

Jack—There's one good thing about widow's weeds. Tom—What's that? Jack—They rarely interfere with the growth of orange blossoms.

House Owner—What! Five dollars for mending a little leak? Stern Plumber—No, sir; a dollar for the leak, $2 to come to the house and $2 to go away again.—Chicago News.
