Announcement I herewith announce my candidacy for county commissioner on the republican ticket and ask the support of all citizens and pledge to conduct the county affairs in an economical and business way if elected. IRA L. MILTONBERGER.

Roosevelt will cross Nebraska today, speaking at Hastings, Lincoln and Omaha. Bryan announces that he will follow in Teddy's wake and stick spikes in him.

Ralph C. Otis, a representative business man of Chicago, who is said to have been "the head and front" of the Roosevelt movement for a third term in its earliest stages has given up the fight. He says he is through and gives for a reason: "We started out on conservative lines and were accomplishing a lot of good. But now the radicals and impracticals have taken over the organization." The announcement of the colonel in one of his eastern speeches that he is a radical and is going farther than the platform, seems likewise to lose some support even though it may gain a bit here and there. The average man wants to know, when he starts out, where he is going.—Grand Island Independent.

The foreign commerce of the United States touched a new high record during August, both in the value of American goods exported and of foreign goods brought into this country. August completed an eight months period during which America's business with other nations increased $130,000,000 on the import side and $150,000,000 on the export side over any other year in the country's history. The August exports were valued at $167,885,000 and the imports $155,000,000. In each case, this was an increase of more than $25,000,000 above the business of the corresponding month last year. For the eight months the export business of the United States was $1,417,000,000 and the import business was $1,188,000,000.

Petition Said To Be Illegal. The Bull Moose petition and certificate of the formation of the new third party in the Sixth congressional district were filed with the secretary of state Tuesday afternoon. The petition for the formation of the party is signed with 109 names, all but eleven of which are from Kearney, where the meeting was held. The petition of nomination of a candidate is signed with 108 names, none of which have any designation of residence. As this is illegal the petition has been returned by Secretary of State Wait and a new one will have to be filed. The petition recites that Florence Armstrong was the nominee of the bull moosers for congress from the Sixth district. It is said that Florence is a man, although his name sounds otherwise.

Straws from Minnesota. The renomination of Governor Eberhart of Minnesota, and the endorsement of Senator Knute Nelson for another term, in the republican primaries just held in that state are straws showing the direction of the political wind. Both the governor and the senator are out-and-out republicans, and have not wavered in their support of President Taft as the party standard-bearer, and yet they are favored by the popular expression in a direct primary in which every republican in the state was free to participate.

Minnesota has been generally rated as ultra-progressive. It went overwhelmingly for Roosevelt for the presidential nomination, and the colonel made several stops there on his recent tour with a view to nailing it down, he going even so far as to make an attack upon Governor Eberhart at a banquet where both were present, but the candidates he favored did not land the nominations for these two high places on the ticket. Minnesota republicans evidently are not ready to abandon their party or turn it over to its destroyers.—Bee.

Claims Cure for Disease. Kearney Hub: Dr. A. A. Munn is positive that his first diagnosis of the horse disease in which he claimed that the animals were not suffering from spinal meningitis, or any other meningitis, but that some kind of germ was attacking the animal through the blood and kidneys, is the right one. Combating the disease on that basis he has cured two animals for Jack Shanno, of Odessa, three for Guy Parker, of Newark, and three on the Barkin's ranch near Pleasanton by injecting influenza anti-toxin serum in the afflicted animals, not one of which tings treated has died. Wednesday morning he ordered 2,000 injections by telegram to carry on the fight against the epidemic.

What makes him the more sure of his case is the condition of the Valentine animals north of town. All of the animals were treated with the antitoxin last February, a treatment with but six months immunity from influenza, by the way, and not one has been attacked by the disease although animals on three adjoining farms have been stricken.

Bay Tree Beliefs. Long before the time of Shakespeare the bay tree was an object of superstition. The withering of such a tree was believed to be a sure indication of coming misfortune to those with whom it was in any way connected. Shakespeare gave voice to the superstition in "Richard II." when he made one of his characters say: "Tis thought the king is dead; we'll not stay—The bay trees in our country are withered."

It was thought by the ancients that lightning would never harm this tree, and it was customary among them to carry bay leaves as a charm against the thunderbolts of Jove. The same belief was long prevalent in England, and reference to it may be found in an old poem dedicated to Ben Jonson: "I see that wreath which doth the wearer crown 'Gainst the quick strokes of thunder is no charm To keep off death's pale dart."

The Magic of a Siphon. When a pipe shaped like the inverted letter U, in which the arms are of equal length, is filled with water and each end of the pipe is put into a separate vessel full of water "the downward pull," or weight, of the liquid in each of the two arms will balance the other, and if the water is at the same level in the two vessels it will remain at that level in both vessels. But if the level of the water in one vessel is lower than in the other, since the two vessels are connected with a pipe full of water, the water will run down from the higher level to the lower. This constitutes what is called a siphon. A siphon itself has no more magic about it than a pencil has when it falls or than any other similar phenomenon in nature, yet some of the siphon's manifestations seem to be not only magical, but almost incredible.—St. Nicholas.

Forgery in Ancient Greece. Dactyl is Greek for finger, and from this the word dactylography, to apply to a knowledge of finger rings, has been accepted, though evidently a misfit. Rings as signets hark back to ancient Egypt, from which country they probably came to Greece. Solon, the Greek lawgiver, who died 558 years before the Christian era, enacted a law that no engraver or cutter of signet rings should keep by him the impression of any ring he had cut. As these rings were used to sign documents of various kinds, this law was intended to prevent fraud and forgery.

Humble Pie. There is a queer twist of language in the phrase "to eat humble pie." The word "humble" is a corrupted form of the original "numble," which is an inedible part of the carcass of a deer and would make very poor pie. The words "humble pie" have the same original meaning as "to eat crow," a phrase common in political life. There is an enforced humility in this process, and the change from "numble" to "humble" introduced a thought which harmonized with the idea sought to be expressed. The last form of the phrase has entirely supplanted the original.

A Famous Widow. One of the most famous widows of antiquity was Agrippina, the widow of Germanicus. During the lifetime of her husband she attended him in all his campaigns and shared his dangers. Suspecting that her husband had been poisoned, she had his presumed murderer assassinated and was herself soon after treated with such indignity by Tiberius that she was driven to despair and starved herself to death.

Established a Record. "What did mother say when you proposed to her, daddy?" "She hung her head and was silent for several minutes. And that is the only time I have ever known her to be silent for several minutes."—Detroit Free Press.

A Bit Different. Lawyer (to witness)—Did you say that an incompetent man could keep a hotel just as well as anybody? Witness—No. I said an inexperienced man could.—London Tit-Bits.

Feels Like a Millionaire. The man who smokes Schmalzried's cigars is a happy, contented fellow, one of those who may have but a few dollars in his pocket yet feels as rich as a millionaire. A good smoke always brings good feeling, hence there's a reason for buying Schmalzried-made cigars. J. F. SCHMALZRIED, The Maker of Good Cigars.

GETTING AHEAD. When the officers of this bank see a depositor making steady gains in his balances, our confidence in him grows. When a depositor who has won our confidence requires money with which to develop his business our large resources enable us to give him all the credit his financial condition warrants. The merchant, the manufacturer, the builder, the farmer who does business at this bank, receives its financial support when he needs it. We invite all who want the co-operation of a strong resourceful bank to become depositors of the McDonald State Bank, NORTH PLATTE, NEBRASKA.

RUPTURE. We have a cure for rupture without resorting to the danger, pain and discomfort of a surgical operation. We are the only reputable physicians in this line of work who will take such cases upon a guarantee to cure, or make no charge. You may deposit the money in the bank in your own name and when you are well you instruct the bank to pay us. We have adopted this method because so many have been swindled by quacks and fakirs. Not one of them will allow the patient to put the money in the bank and pay when a cure has been made. When taking our treatment patients must come to our office once a week they can return home the same day attend to their business or occupation without loss of time. In order to give the people of this vicinity an opportunity to take our treatment without the expense of going to Omaha, one of us will be in North Platte every Thursday. Write to or call on DRS.
