

During the last session of congress Geo. W. Norris delivered a speech against President Taft under the heading of "Thou Shalt Not Steal." This speech is now being sent broadcast over the state under Mr. Norris' franking privilege. This speech was printed at government expense, transported through the mails at government expense, for the sole purpose of boosting Mr. Norris. Now right down in your heart don't you think Mr. Norris is taking undue advantage of the government in order to further his political ambitions. Is it not a mild way of stealing?

Every good American citizen deprecates the assassin's attack on Colonel Roosevelt and rejoices that the injury received will not prove serious. Three chief executives of this nation have been the victims of the assassin's bullets, the attack on Colonel Roosevelt is as much to be deplored as were the other three, for it was no fault of the assassin that the bullet did not accomplish the mission he desired. While the Colonel has applied the word "thief" to every man who supports President Taft and has made unwarranted assaults upon men who are just as good as he, yet we all deeply regret the Milwaukee incident.

It is now announced with some degree of unctuousness on the part of the bull moose press that the republicans of Nebraska will be afforded the gracious privilege of voting for their presidential candidate. That is to say; the republican electors will go on the ticket "by petition," while the progressive party electors will continue to hold their stolen name, "republican." This outrage is the climax of immoral political conduct. No such shameless rape of decency was ever perpetrated in the history of Nebraska. It cannot be possible that the quickened consciences of the voters of this state will approve it when these voters go to the polls in November. The hope of the six bull moose electors to profit by the theft ought to be so completely shattered as to forbid any such unrighteous thing in all the years to come.—Fremont Tribune.

Prior to the primary election The Tribune presented the name of Harry P. Stevens to the republican electors of the county as a most suitable candidate for representative to the legislature, and he was nominated for that position, not because The Tribune commended him, but because his fitness for the position was recognized by every man acquainted with him. The commendation given Mr. Stevens at that time by this paper holds good today—he is one of the most progressive farmers of the county thoroughly responsible and one who is closely identified with the agricultural and stock interests of this section of the state. As a member of the legislature he will use his best endeavors to secure for this section of the state the legislation that it needs, the furtherance of measures that vitally effects us and upon which Senator Hoagland and Representative Bushee made such a good start during the last session. Mr. Stevens is a worker and when he goes to Lincoln he will not fritter away the time.

"I am strongly for President Taft," said Elbert Hubbard in an interview at Kansas City. "Mr. Taft will be re-elected to the presidency on November 5. The people of this country cannot afford to, and will not, jeopardize their pay envelopes. It was never bigger than during the past administration and Mr. Taft will continue to make it bigger. 'Fra Elbertus' is a firm believer in the silent vote. That the silent vote will go for Taft he has no doubts. 'The corn yield this year is the largest on record all crops are good,' he continued. 'The president's opponent say what has Mr. Taft got to do with the large crops. Only a happy people will plant crops and work, and the people of this country have at no time been happier than during the present successful administration. The people are losing faith in Roosevelt. They realize that his campaign is for personal ambition. Mr. Taft will be re-elected and this country will be the better for it. I have full confidence in President Taft.'

Having made the open avowal of neither supporting the republican candidate for president nor supporting the republican platform of principles, Geo. W. Norris, republican candidate for United States senator, cannot reasonably ask for or hope to receive support from men who are republicans because they firmly believe in the principles of the republican party. As Mr. Norris says he is not a republican, he is no more deserving of republican support than is Mr. Shallenberger, the democratic candidate. The Tribune is a republican paper, it has never failed to support a republican candidate, and to be consistent it cannot now support a candidate who openly avows that he is not a republican. We do not deny the right of Mr. Norris to quit the republican party—though he owes all his political advancement to it—but we do deny him the right to insist that he is entitled to the support of the republicans. We firmly believe that Mr. Norris' desertion of the republican party will cost him his defeat.

In speaking of Congressman Kinkaid's consent to re-enter the race, the Kearney Hub says: Judge Kinkaid is serving his fifth term in congress, which is a greater period than has been served by any congressman from this state. He has been re-elected year after year without difficulty and is today as strong as he ever was, notwithstanding a shift of political lines. The secret of success in congress is described by a current periodical writer autobiographing a prominent senator, as simply the habit of industry and the capacity for WORK. Judge Kinkaid has been the greatest worker that has been sent from this state, especially among congressmen, for he has the reputation of haunting the departments on the business of his constituents and of persistently hanging on when he has something important to get through the house. Hence he has been remarkably successful, although he has no desire for the limelight, makes but a poor showing as a public speaker, and is not given to indulgence in debate. Hence the secret of his strength in the Big Sixth is no longer a secret or a mystery, but a simple matter of fact which is known to all of his constituents. Democratic and bull moose stock both rose several points last week when it was announced that Judge Kinkaid was "down and out," of his own free will, but that was a faint and fleeting hope that is not to be realized, for Kinkaid will succeed himself and people of all parties in the district will say "well done!"
