

Education and Larger Life.
It seems to me that the woman who cannot cut out a garment better because of her geometry and her drawing lessons, who cannot speak English more distinctly and with fuller vocabulary because of her study of French or German, who cannot find a hundred uses for her chemistry in the little everyday emergencies of her house-keeping, has not succeeded in getting from her studies all that they had to give her.—Home Progress Magazine.

NOT AFRAID OF THIS MOUSE

Nobody thinks of jumping on a chair at the sight of this little mouse—in fact, one can sit in perfect calmness while he gambols on one's instep. For the mouse is really embroidered on the silken stocking. The embroidery is done on the thread silk stocking with mouse-colored silk and the effect is very natural and rather startling at first glimpse.

IN VELVETEEN AND CORDUROY

Combination That Deserves the Popularity Which It Has Been Unhesitatingly Accorded.

Not every one can afford frocks of silk velvet, so velveteen was manufactured as a substitute. It is lovely, and gives practically the same effect as silk velvet when made up. Velveteen and corduroy are used to fashion many smart frocks for street wear.

Plain colors are more frequently used for the velveteen models. They are effectively trimmed with fur, metallic laces, Persian or tapestry embroidery.

Velveteen does not adapt itself so successfully to draping as do the softer velvets, so the skirts are usually plain or with pleated insets.

The bodices are jumper effects, with gimpes of lace or chiffon.

Corduroys in the soft-finished qualities are extensively used.

Frocks and coat suits are developed of this material and seem to find a ready sale.

The two-tone corduroys in brown and tan, blue and black and white are especially favored.

In plain colors, dark blue, brown, black and burgundy are the shades more frequently used.

BLOUSE

This is a smart little blouse to be worn with a costume skirt. It is in soft chiffon taffetas, with embroidery on the shoulders, center front straps and cuffs. Two deep folds are made from the shoulders to waist each side.

Materials required: 1½ yards 42 inches wide.

Vogue of Moire.

Moire is being used extensively for suits this fall, as well as for trimmings. There are several classes of moire, including the moire antique, the moire velours and the regence. The latter denotes the ribbed weaves as applied to the moires. The changeable and chameleon effects are shown in the moires quite as often as the plain. The taffeta moire has a beautiful but not too sharply defined watery effect which makes it very desirable. This fabric has almost ousted the changeable taffeta.

MADE A DAINTY TEA TRAY

Pretty Thing Evolved by Clever Girl in a Most Economical and Simple Manner.

A novel and most economical way to make a pretty tea-tray was discovered by a girl who is very clever with her wits and her fingers. She first purchased for forty cents a large oval picture frame from a second-hand store, securing a very good bit of natural old woodwork. Then with a bottle of stain, some sand-paper and a little varnish she polished up the wood to look like new, then screwed on two brass handles, one at each end, afterwards cutting a piece of pretty cretonne the same size as the glass, and pasting it smoothly where the picture would ordinarily go. Covering it with the boards that belong to the frame, tacked securely into place, the entire back then being covered with a piece of felt, when she found herself possessed of a most fetching tea-tray, which in the shops would cost from $5 to $8.

Care of the Skin.

Before going to bed at night, sponge the face, neck and arms in a solution of cold salt water. You will find yourself awakening in the morning with that desirable slight pink glow, which you so often see in the face of a child at this time. Another skin stimulator is a small piece of ice, placed in a soft piece of linen and rubbed gently over the entire face and neck, care being taken to reach every part of the surface about the eyes and eyelids. This should not be done to excess; and afterward the face should be gently but thoroughly dried, and a little cold cream applied. All cream that the flesh has not absorbed should be removed, especially from the face that has a tendency toward being hirsute.

Evening Dresses.

The Grecian draperies and oriental colorings strongly dominate the very exclusive evening dresses, says the Dry Goods Economist. Embroidered velvet patterns on chiffon cloth, on charmeuse, on satin or brought out on cloth of gold and silver are utilized. Metallic brocades, gold and silver tissues, moire and plain cloth of gold and silver, as well as rich embroidered fabrics, are represented in many of the most favored models. Rich laces are also in favor, particularly the finer varieties, such as Chantilly and Bohemian. Venice is used mostly as a finishing touch on velvet models.

Extreme Effects.

Some of the extreme panier effects introduced this season suggest an ordinary sack combined with Turkish trousers. The pannier is slightly gathered into the waistband and falls between the knee and the ankle, over a plain narrow skirt; so that the fullness lays over it. This style is usually carried out in the flowered silks or chiffon that suggests the modes of Louis XIV.

Fur in Neckwear.

Among the distinctly new ideas in neckwear are the novelties in which tiny bands of fur are utilized on the collar portion and, in some instances, on the jabot, is the statement made in a recent issue of the Dry Goods Economist.

FIRST SIGHT OF WHITE FACE

How a German Won Confidence of People Who Had Never Before Seen a European.

Bangkok.—In the mountains of northern Malacca and southern Siam dwells a tribe of dwarf Negritos who, until a few months ago, knew nothing of the white man and his ways. From their hunting grounds they could almost see the foreign ships steam through the Malacca straits. Certain conveniences obtainable only from the whites had reached them through intermediate tribes; for example, they had become well acquainted with the Swedish safety matches, yet no white man had ever come in contact with them.

A German botanist, Albert Grubauer, not long ago set out to make acquaintance with these shy people. With a few native servants he stole quietly up into the mountains. For some time their patience was rewarded only with disappointment, but at last one morning they came upon a party of the little men. The Negritos dropped the bundles of rattan they were carrying and concealed themselves in the undergrowth.

The German and his men knew exactly what they were to do in such a case. They were not to go an inch in pursuit. No weapon was to be shown. One of the men who could speak a little of the native dialect, alured his accomplishment in the gentlest way. The white man was their good friend and had come to see them. And what wonderful presents he had brought for his friends! The white man and his servants extended their arms, which were loaded with bright cottons, strings of beads, many colored necklaces, tobacco, and other tempting articles whose merits were extolled by the spokesman with all the eloquence he could command.

They knew the natives were behind the bushes looking at the tempting sight and listening to the exhortation. Then the visitors sat down, still holding out the beautiful presents. Finally an old man, the leader of the party, stuck his head out of the bush. He broke off a green twig and held it up. It was a sign of peace and the white man nodded to him. The ice was broken. The Negrito approached the European, they shook hands, some of the presents were distributed and the visitors became the guests of the little mountaineers. They were passed on from one group to another till Grubauer, after a considerable time, had completed his studies.

FIRST RIDE ON TRAIN AT 113

Aged Arkansas Woman, Accompanied by 89 Year Old Son, Goes to Joplin, Mo., to See the Sights.

Joplin, Mo.—Mrs. H. Keith, aged 113 years, and her youngest son, 89 years old, took their first ride on a passenger train recently. The train brought them from their home, several miles from a railroad, in southern Arkansas. Charles McManamy was the first patrolman in uniform they saw.

"Are you a policeman?" asked Mrs. Keith. "Well, we want you to show up how to get uptown. This is the first time my son and I ever have been in Joplin. We came up to see the sights."

"My, isn't this a big town!" exclaimed Mrs. Keith as she got her first glimpse of Joplin's busy thoroughfares.

Mrs. Keith needed no assistance as she walked. She appeared much younger than she is, and walked with a quick step and with shoulders erect. The son, too, was active. Mrs. Keith said she has three sons older than the one who accompanied her here. The eldest is 95, she said. All live with their mother or near her home. Her husband was killed in the Civil war.

CAST-OFF STOCKING A BANK

Rag Cutter in Rising Paper Mill at Housatonic, Mass., Finds $50 in Silk Hosiery.

Pittsfield, Mass.—Mrs. Mary Murphy, a rag-cutter in the Rising Paper mill, at Housatonic, was cutting up old hosiery for paper stock when, in a silk stocking, she felt a small roll, which proved to be $50 in $10 bills.

Some wearers of the silk hose had made the stocking a purse and forgot all about the money when the hose was discarded.

Mrs. Murphy is a widow and the find is to her a big blessing.

Worth Three Times a Diamond.
Nearly all the emeralds mined to-day come from Colombia. And, in spite of the supposed higher value of diamonds, the emerald is the most precious of gems. Carat for carat, a flawless emerald would bring perhaps three times the price of a flawless diamond in the jewelry market. India, the storehouse of precious stones, is credited with producing the first emeralds, but the Oriental emerald is not identical with the modern gem, as it is a variety of the ruby, of green color and extremely rare.
