AEROPLANE IMPALED ON ROOF OF LONDON HOUSE

An unusual photograph of a wrecked aeroplane on its perch in the center of a gabled roof of a London house. The Italian aviator, Manie, whose machine met with this remarkable fate, was summoned to appear before the Royal Aero club of London in connection with the offense he committed of flying over a town.

WILL FOIL ROBBERS

Machine to Impress Stamp on Envelope Invented.

Heavy Losses Through Robberies of Postoffices Will Be Avoided, It Is Claimed, by Use of This Device.

Kansas City.—A machine to stamp postage, which will render unnecessary probably 75 per cent. of the postage stamps now in use and practically put an end to the loss of stamps by postoffice robberies and by petty thefts in large business concerns, is the invention of W. D. Nelson, assistant fire warden of Kansas City.

"In this city alone it is estimated that business firms are out $10,000 a year through the loss of stamps that are dishonestly appropriated, or stolen," said Mr. Nelson. "My machine will stop this absolutely, saving the business men of the country hundreds of thousands of dollars annually."

For ten years Mr. Nelson was employed in the postoffice here, and he has a practical knowledge of the stamp business, says the Star. The necessity of the machine he has invented occurred to him while he was engaged in this work, and six years ago he perfected his idea. He submitted his plan to the government officials in Washington, but received little encouragement, as they told him that his idea was not feasible because its practical adoption would require a too radical revision of the postoffice regulations.

Recently he learned that the government is considering the adoption of a machine almost exactly like his.
Now he purposes to assert his rights, and as he was the original inventor and his suggestion to the postoffice department six years ago is a matter of record, he expects to win his contention.

Mr. Nelson's machine will stamp letters with great facility, the postage being represented by an impression instead of the ordinary postage stamp.
Each machine will represent a specified amount of postage. Should a firm want $100 worth of postage, the government, which is to retain the ownership of all the machines, would place a $100 machine in the possession of the firm. After that amount of postage has been used, the machine will lock automatically and no more "impressions" will be forthcoming from it. Each machine will have a certain individuality, consisting of a number and when desired the name of the firm using it. This number and name will be stamped on each letter with the postage. Thus every letter will carry an identification quite discouraging to the postage pilferers.

"The government sustains an enormous loss every year from postoffice robberies in small towns," said Mr.
Nelson. "My machine will prevent at least two-thirds of this loss. Of course, in small individual sales the postage stamp would still be in vogue, but for all large sales the machine would be invaluable. It would be used so extensively that even in the small towns only small stocks of postage stamps would be necessary and the incentive for robbery would be greatly minimized."

When the inventor had demonstrated the practicability of his idea local business men volunteered to build a factory for the manufacture of the machine. All the royalty they asked from the government was an amount equal to the cost of the paper and printing of postage stamps, thus saving the government the expense of mucilage, the most important item in the manufacture of postage stamps.
Two kinds of mucilage are used on stamps. There is a summer style in mucilage and a different kind used in winter.

"My greatest difficulty was in making my machine lock automatically at the right time," said Mr. Nelson.

"I studied on the problem weeks and months and was about to give up in despair when one night I awoke from a deep sleep and the solution of the problem came to my mind like a flash.
Before I went to sleep again my idea was perfected."

KICK MAY NET FLYER $20,000

Object Peter Walling Booted on Staten Island Is Believed to Be Ambergris.

New York.—An early morning grouch, a walk on the beach and a kick at what he took for a mass of debris is likely to net Aviator Peter Walling of Oakwood Heights, S. I., $20,000.

Walling is working on a new stabilizer for aeroplanes, and a particularly knotty problem in mechanics was occupying his mind when he stumbled over a mass of whitish substance on the deserted beach near the aviation field.

He kicked it out of the road, and thought no more of the matter until an old salt coming down the aviation field stopped him.

"Son, you've got something on your hoof that looks mighty like ambergris to me," said the ancient mariner.
"Let's go back and see where it came from."

"She sure is ambergris," said the sailor, when they reached the object of Walling's kick, and later in the day a local chemist confirmed the statement.

Walling then took his precious burden to the Museum of Natural History and is to learn definitely whether his chance kick was really worth $20,000.

FLATIRONS ARE BABE'S TOYS

Fifteen-Month-Old English Youngster Is Champion Weight Lifter of His Class.

London.—A baby who is probably the champion weight lifter of the world lives at Knight's Park, Kingston-on-Thames. Leslie Heather is the fifteen-month-old Samson, and his two favorite playthings are his mother's flatirons and a wooden horse, but the horse is a bad second.

Proudly Leslie displays his prowess in lifting weights. His father, who is a constable in the Kingston force, took him into the garden with his beloved flatirons recently.

Leslie's eyes glistened with pride when "daddy" ordered him to pick the iron up. Slowly he bent, and stretching out his chubby right hand grasped a four-pound flatiron.

But he had mightier strength still.
Without dropping the four-pound weight, he picked up another flatiron, six pounds in weight, and then held the two weights aloft.

"He just loves to try his strength with my flatirons," said Mrs. Heather.
"He started this weight lifting a month ago. His uncle was lying on the sofa, when Leslie came struggling along with two flatirons in his hands and placed them on the sofa."

"Since then he has been fascinated by them and likes them better than his horse."

"Last March he took a special prize at a Kingston baby show. He has six brothers and sisters, all older than he, but they dare not tease him, because he is quite able to attack them." Leslie was fifteen months old on

OLD FLEET PATCHED UP

Windjammers of All Kinds Are Being Overhauled and Pressed into Grain Carrying on Pacific.

Vancouver, B. C.—With a bumper crop of barley estimated at 550,000 tons, California grain men stand to lose immense sums owing to the lack of tonnage for handling the crops. The utmost carrying capacity of all the vessels in sight is between 50,000 to 60,000 tons. The ships of England and other nations, which formerly had ample space for the grain, have all their tonnage taken months ahead and most of them are engaged elsewhere at such high rates that they are not considering Pacific coast shipments.

The situation in California is a sample of what pertains to the whole coast, scarcity of tonnage will be felt more acutely toward the end of the year, it is claimed.

Old sailing ships which had been towed to the Oakland estuary as obsolete in view of the growth of shipments by steamers a few years ago are being overhauled and patched up to handle the grain in the absence of steamer tonnage. The estuary for the last six years has become a landmark because of the presence of the immense fleet of sailing ships which had been moored there to rot.

Among the boats are the Ferris S.
Thompson, Halcyon, Larline, Reuce, Charmer, California, Sonoma, Reulah, Little Bonne, Diamond Head, Balboa and a host of others, consisting of schooners, barks, brigantines and fullrigged ships.

Most of the vessels have been stripped of their boats and gear, but many of them have been kept up in a half-interested manner. It was believed that the days of the windjammer were past and the whole fleet could have been bought for a song.

Now even the worst of the old hulks is being hauled out and patched up to make a voyage or two, and some of them will be unable to pass the inspectors. The freight situation has brought the windjammers to the fore once more, and they are as much in demand as they were before steamships became general.—Vancouver

RASH ALMOST COVERED FACE

Warrenville, O.—"I have felt the effects of blood poisoning for eighteen years. I was never without some eruptions on my body. The terrible itching caused me much suffering and discomfort, while the rubbing and scratching made it worse. Last spring I had a terrible breaking out of blis-tery sores on my arms and limbs. My face and arms were almost covered with rash. I could not sleep and lost nineteen pounds in five weeks. My face was terribly red and sore, and felt as if my skin was on fire. At last I tried a sample of Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment and I found them so cool, soothing and healing, that I got some Cuticura Soap, Cuticura Ointment, and Resolvent. I bathed with hot water and Cuticura Soap, then I applied the Cuticura Ointment cured of all skin eruptions." (Signed)

Women Avoid Operations

When a woman suffering from some form of feminine disorder is told that an operation is necessary, it of course frightens her.

The very thought of the hospital operating table and the surgeon's knife strikes terror to her heart, and no wonder.
It is quite true that some of these troubles may reach a stage where an operation is the only resource, but thousands of women have avoided the necessity of an operation by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. This fact is attested by the grateful letters they write to us after their health has been restored.

These Two Women Prove Our Claim.

Cary, Maine.—"I feel it a duty I owe to all suffering women to tell what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for me. One year ago I found myself a terrible sufferer.
I had pains in both sides and such a soreness I could scarcely straighten up at times. My back ached, I had no appetite and was so nervous I could not sleep, then I would be so tired mornings that I could scarcely get around. It seemed almost impossible to move or do a bit of work and I thought I never would be any better until I submitted to an operation. I commenced taking Lydia E.
Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and soon felt like a new woman. I had no pains, slept well, had good appetite and was fat and could do almost all my own work for a family of four. I shall always feel that I owe my good health to your medicine." —Mrs. HAYWARD SOWERS, Cary, Me.

Charlotte, N. C.—"I was in bad health for two years, with pains in both sides and was very nervous. If I even lifted a chair it would cause a hemorrhage. I had a growth which the doctor said was a tumor and I never would get well unless I had an operation. A friend advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I gladly say that I am now enjoying fine health and am the mother of a nice baby girl.
You can use this letter to help other suffering women."—Mrs. ROSA SIMS, 16 Wyona St., Charlotte, N. C.

Now answer this question if you can. Why should a woman submit to a surgical operation without first giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial? You know that it has saved many others—why should it fail in your case?

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No one sick with woman's ailments does justice to herself if she does not try this famous medicine made from roots and herbs, it has restored so many suffering women to health.
