The Tribune man was one of 800 men who attended the exhibition of "manly art" at the opera house last Thursday night. It was his second "offense," it will be his last. While he was present in the hall he attempted to find some justification for such exhibitions, but he could find none. He attempted to see wherein it was elevating; wherein it was educational; wherein it would tend to make the attendants more manly men and better citizens. The diagnosis was nil as to good results. There was, however, an awakening of man's animal nature, a full sway of the baser instincts of man, and over and anon during the progress of the three events were heard the refined (?) yells "punch his nose," "poke him in the ribs," "rock his head," "send him to sleep," when one fighter failed to hit his opponent there were jeers; when he hit him there were cheers. Clearly nothing less than a "knock out", a bending to insensibility of one by the other would suffice or satisfy that audience that had contributed a full thousand dollars to an affair that was the reverse of improvement to mind, to intellect, to morality.

One thousand dollars would purchase 800 good, entertaining, elevating books for our public library; one thousand dollars would form the nucleus for a Y. M. C. A. building fund; one thousand dollars would relieve destitution, misery and hunger among the unfortunate of our city; one thousand dollars would send to a hospital a beautiful North Platte child, of poor parentage, who has a deformed limb and whose cure would bring to her a life long happiness brighter than the rays of a mid-day sun; one thousand dollars—what good might be accomplished with it.

Maintaining Productivity of Soil.

The problem of maintaining the soil productivity of western Nebraska is a far more perplexing problem for that part of the state than the conservation of the soil has been to the eastern Nebraska farmer, according to Superintendent W. P. Snyder of the experiment sub-station of North Platte, who spoke on that subject before the Nebraska Corn Improvers' association at the university farm. Moisture has been the problem for the farmer in the west, and though the soil is well supplied with most of the elements needed for plant growth the need is for more organic matter that will help to conserve moisture. The soil problem, he said, is more of a physical than a chemical nature.

What the western farmer must do is to follow some plan that will furnish organic matter for the soil. In the eastern part of the state the farmer raises alfalfa which greatly enriches the ground and with the raising of live stock together with his grain farming secures a large amount of fertilizing material from the stock. In the west alfalfa is hard to raise, many of the farmers are not stock raisers, it would not pay the land tiller to resort to raising peas or other crops and plowing them under on account of the expense entailed. The only solution for the western farmer is to put a small portion of his farm under cultivation and turn his attention to stock raising. By this method the stock will furnish sufficient fertilizer to give the soil under cultivation the element it needs. The sub-station is carrying on a number of experiments, he said, in order to aid the western farmer in the solution of this problem.

Brady News.

(From the Vicindicator.)
Joseph Sullivan last week bought a load of yearling steers for which he paid $75.00 a head. He shipped them to Denver last Saturday to the Stock Show and expects to return home with some premiums. Later, word was received here Wednesday that Joe had taken second premium with his steers.

The Maxwell & Brady Telephone Co. now has 417 phones in operation at the two exchanges. Besides farmers have the privilege of talking through the Gothenburg exchange and over on the high line south. Some subscribers, with all this territory in speaking distance for miles in each direction, often register a kick of some kind when the rent comes round.

It is reported that a couple of gents one night last week threw off about a ton of coal from one of the U. P. cars standing in the yards. An employee of the road happened along about that time and made them leave it back on the car again, which they did after much labor. Ten or fifteen years ago such things were tolerated all along the line, but not in these days. Another good reason why Brady should have an electric light plant.

Beauty of the Zebra.

The zebra is perhaps of all quadrupeds the best made and most beautifully clad by the hand of nature. To the figure and grace of the horse it adds the elegance of the stag, and the black and white bands with which its body is ornamented are arranged with such wonderful symmetry that we might almost be disposed to imagine that rule and compass had been employed in their formation. These alternate bands are narrow, parallel and exactly separated. They extend not only over the body, but the head, thigh and legs and even over the ears and tail. They follow so exactly the contour of the different forms that they exhibit the entire figure in the most advantageous point of view. In the female these bands are alternately black and white. In the male they are black and yellow, but always of a lively and brilliant tint. They also rest upon a ground of short, fine and copious hairs, whose luster considerably augments the general beauty of the colors.—Exchange.

Our Wonderful Eyes.

Is there anything so wonderful as the eye? No matter how cold the weather may be, the eye never fails. In the wildest of blizzards, when the thermometer registers many degrees below zero, when the feet and fingers freeze, when the throat freezes, when even the torso, swathed in sweaters and chamolite skin vestings, freezes; when the nose and ears are frost bitten, when the hair even crackles in the blast—when all is lost apparently, the eyes suffer no pain, but continue to perform their normal functions. The people of the most inclement, most frigid regions of the extreme north bundle up everything but their eyes. The eyes are never frostbitten. They seem to suffer only in a strong wind which carries in its current some irritating substance. And yet, notwithstanding this, the eyes are the most sensitive of our several organs.

Banking the Fire.

Banking the fire is a very simple process. It is easier to bank a fire than to bank anything else we know of. We have not been able to bank anything excepting a fire for several years. Place the ashes in the four sifter and thus sprinkle them carefully over the coals—three ten-cupfuls for a small furnace, the kind that goes out every five minutes, and five ten-cupfuls for one of the battleship variety. Close all of the drafts or leave all of them open, as you choose, turn out the gas in the basement, lock the kitchen door, take your dose of family tea, wind the clock, put out the cat and go to bed. If these directions are followed faithfully you will in the morning find one of two conditions the fire will be going or it will be out.—Boston Globe.

Beauty Never Dies.

Nothing of beauty dies without having purified something, nor can aught of beauty be lost. Let us not be afraid of sowing it about the road. It may remain there for weeks or years, but like the diamond it cannot dissolve, and finally there will pass some one whom its glitter will attract. He will pick it up and go his way rejoicing. Then why keep back a lofty, beautiful word, for that you doubt others will understand? An instant of higher goodness was impending over you. Why hinder its coming even though you believe not that those about you will profit thereby? What if you are among the men of the valley, is that sufficient reason for checking the instinctive movement of your soul toward the mountain peaks?—Maurice Maeterlinck.

Herculaneum and Pompeii.

The twin cities of mournful destiny were both engulfed at the same time—August, 79 A. D. The reason why Herculaneum has not been excavated to the same extent as Pompeii is owing to the fact that it was covered with a much harder material than was Pompeii; the dust predominating in Pompeii, while the lava prevailed over Herculaneum. There is not much doubt about the eventual opening up of both cities. Human curiosity, together with the demands of history and science, will not rest until Herculaneum has been made to tell its secrets.—New York American.

Miss Mayme Johnson, of Brady, who spent the week end in town with friends, left Sunday evening.

A bill has been introduced in the state legislature making provision for each school district in Nebraska with an area of 12 sections or more to maintain at least 7 months of school. If the district has not sufficient funds (385) the state is to supply the amount from a fund that is appropriated for that purpose each biennial. This law will supplement the old State Aid Law, which provided for 5 months school for each district.

HANDICAPPED.

This is the Case with Many North Platte Readers.

Too many North Platte citizens are handicapped with bad backs. The unceasing pain causes constant misery, making work a burden and stooping or lifting an impossibility. The back aches at night, preventing refreshing rest and in the morning is stiff and lame. Plasters and liniments may give relief but cannot reach the cause if the kidneys are weak. To eliminate the pains and aches of kidney backache you must cure the kidneys.

Doan's Kidney Pills are for weak kidneys—thousands testify to their merit. Can you doubt North Platte evidence? W. F. Blalock, 609 Seventh St., North Platte, Nebr., says: "I had an awful, heavy aching across my loins which seemed to take every bit of strength from me. My back was weak and helpless. I was lame and stood erect only with painful efforts. The kidneys secretions seemed to get more disordered as the pain in my back increased and they were unnatural and too frequent in passage. I was advised to try Doan's Kidney Pills and got a box. They cured my complaint and I have been entirely well since."
