Fire Destroys Barn.

A well built barn on the vacant lot west of the Ray Robinson house on west Fifth street and belonging to Wm. Otten was burned Tuesday night, as was also an automobile stored therein. The fire was first discovered about eleven o'clock, and at that time the flames were issuing from the hay loft, indicating that the fire started in that portion of the building. The only animal in the barn was a cow and it was loosed, but efforts to save the automobile were unavailing. The origin of the fire is unknown, but the general opinion is that the fire was set by tramps who sought a night's lodging in the hay loft. The fire department responded to the call, but the building was a mass of flames when the companies arrived. Mr. Otten places his loss at $1,300.

Sleicher Disappointed in Florida.

C. B. Sleicher, of Brady, who has been making an extended trip through Florida, writes his impressions to the Brady Vindicator. In a recent letter he says:

"The soil is the worst kind of a white sand, with red sand for a sub-soil, and they have to fertilize twice a year with fertilizer at $35 to $40 per ton, and from one to two tons to the acre. When trees get a good size they need about fifty pounds of it each season, as the soil is very poor and must be fed all over the state. Before we left this grove I asked the man to give me 10 cents worth of oranges and not to give me any more than anybody else. He asked the man with the auto how many he could haul in the back seat, and on hearing that, I told him I did not want any."

"Many northern people get soaked down here and wish they had their money back. We have passed through thousands of acres of swamps that have been advertised in our state; water all over it; just here and there a little grass sticking up, and they tell you they are draining it. Sure they are working at it to make people buy the land. This land is down to sea level in many places and will be a hard matter to put it in shape to farm unless they lower the Atlantic ocean. So never buy land in Florida unseen, and take plenty of time in doing so."

The Cost of Whistling.

Yesterday's Lincoln Journal is responsible for the following:

M. H. Douglas, Union Pacific engineer, who is in the city to induce the legislature to pass a bill compelling auto drivers to stop at all railway crossings, has secured figures on the cost of blowing Union Pacific locomotive whistles for one month. The Union Pacific accounting system takes everything into consideration and the cost of whistling and bell ringing is not neglected. This is what Mr. Douglas says:

"It cost the Union Pacific $134,47.01 to blow its engine whistles and ring its bells for crossings and stations during the month of October last. Getting the cost down to the last mill is going some, isn't it. The cost of whistling is figured by the number of times engineers blew their whistles and the amount of coal and water wasted through the whistle's exhaust."

Mr. Douglas says his bill has been amended so that it includes but one thing compelling auto drivers to stop before crossing railways at grade, and that is all he and his friends and associates, railway engineers, are asking for. But they do want that.

Bert Callender, of Tryon, visited relatives in this city the fore part of this week.

Telephoning Saves More Than Dollars and Cents

By telephone you waste no time, no energy, and avoid tiresome trips.

Telephoning is the pleasant, the convenient and the economical way to travel, whether for a short distance or for hundreds of miles.

Suppose you compare long distance telephone rates with the railroad fare to any town, and add the cost of lost time and wasted energy in making the trip.

Then, it's very likely you'll decide in favor of the telephone.
