

MOTTO FOR CHRISTIAN HOME

Ideals Which Consistently Lived Up to, Cannot Fail to Make for Happiness in Life.

This home is dedicated to good will. It grew out of love. The two heads of the household were called together by a power higher than they. To its decree they are obedient. Every tone of the voice, every thought of their being, is subdued to that service. They desire to be worthy of their high calling, as ministers of that grace. They know their peace will go unbroken only for a little time. And often they suspect that the time will be more short even than their anxious hope. They cannot permit so much as one hour of that brief unity to be touched by scorn or malice. The world's judgments have lost their sting inside this door. Those who come seeking to continue the harmony which these two have won are ever welcome. The rich are welcome, so they come simply. The poor are welcome, for they have already learned friendliness through buffeting. Youth is welcome, for it brings the joy which these two would learn. Age is welcome, for it will teach them tenderness.—Collier's Weekly.

CHILD'S FACE ALL RED SPOTS

632 N. 5th St., Terre Haute, Ind.—"My little nephew, a boy of four years, had a breaking out on his face. It was little red spots at first, then he would rub and scratch and water blisters would form, and wherever the water would run another would come until his face was covered with them. He would cry and fret. His mother got some medicine, but it did not do any good. He would scream and cry and say it hurt. We hardly knew him, his little face was all red spots and blisters. So I begged him to let me put some Cuticura Ointment on them. The next morning I made a strong soap suds with Cuticura Soap and washed his face in the warm suds. The little blisters burst by pressing the cloth on them. After I had his face washed, I put the Cuticura Ointment on and in a short time his little face was all red and dry. I kept using the Cuticura Soap and putting on the Cuticura Ointment and his face got as well and it did not leave a scar. He was entirely cured in about one week and a half." (Signed) Mrs. Arthur Haworth, Jan. 10, 1912.

Cuticura Soap and Ointment sold throughout the world. Sample of each free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. L, Boston." Adv.

Astonished the Bishop.
It was an English youngster who so thoroughly surprised the kindly bishop whom he had been directed to address as "My lord."

"How old might you be, my child?" asked the stately, if smiling ecclesiastic.

"My God, I'm seven!" the frightened child replied.

FILES CURED IN 6 TO 14 DAYS.
Your druggist will refund money if Pazo Ointment fails to cure any case of Itching, Blistering or Pruritic Piles in 6 to 14 days. 50c.

The right way to brighten the world is to do a good deal of your shining at home.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate and invigorate stomach, liver and bowels. Sugarcoated, tiny granules. Easy to take as candy. Adv.

There is nothing a man will do with so little encouragement as fishing.

Red Cross Ball Blue will wash double as many clothes as any other blue. Don't put your money into any other. Adv.

The real big man writes his name on everything he does.

of the wise man would be all uphill. If it were not for the fools, the way

"Can you beat it?"
Surely not, especially when it comes to a case of Poor Appetite, Sick Headache, Indigestion, Costiveness, Biliousness, Colds or Malarial Disorders. It is then that proves its merit. You really should try a bottle without delay. It will aid you wonderfully. Refuse substitutes. Get Hostetter's.

HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS

ALLEN'S FOOT-EASE,
The Antiseptic powder shaken into the shoes—The Standard Remedy for the feet for a quarter century. 30,000 testimonials. Sold Trade Mark everywhere. 25c. Sample FREE. Address, Allen S. Cimstead, Le Roy, N.Y. The Man who put the F. E. E. in FEET.

THOMPSON'S EYE WATER
Quickly relieves weak, inflamed eyes. Cures all eye troubles. Sold by Druggists. JOHN L. THOMPSON SON & CO., Troy, N.Y.

PISO'S REMEDY
Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by Druggists.
FOR COUGHS AND COLDS

FRIEND OF CONVICTS

New York Sales Agent Long Active in Prison Reform.

Frederick H. Mills Transferred Men From Jails to Responsible Jobs in Banks and Spent Much Time Aiding Unfortunates.

New York.—In 1881 a Chicago merchant took a young man to the First National bank in that city and introduced him to the president, Lyman J. Gage, afterward secretary of the treasury, as Frederick Mills, chief clerk of the state reformatory at Elmira, N. Y.

"I want to get a position in your bank for a friend of mine, Mr. Gage," said young Mills. "He is a man of experience and ability and has the best of references from the Bank of North America in Montreal, where he was employed for several years."

"Where is he now?" Mr. Gage inquired.

"He is in the Elmira reformatory," replied the young man. "He has just finished his term there and is waiting to get a job in order to be allowed to leave."

The bank president stared hard at his visitor for a moment and, discovering from his manner that he was serious, resisted an inclination to become angry, but laughed long and loud instead.

"Did you come out here with the impression that the Chicago banks select their clerks from the reformatories?" he asked.

Thirty years ago, before the new philosophy was born of science and philanthropy, the idea of giving an ex-convict employment seemed preposterous to the average man of business. Young Mills, however, was not to be rebuffed.

He related to Mr. Gage the story of the coming of the Montreal bank clerk to New York to better his fortunes and of his yielding to temptation in the metropolis; he told of the opportunities he had for studying the other's character in the reformatory office and he asserted his opinion that here was a chance for the bank president to save a human life from wreck.

Mr. Gage argued the matter with Mr. Mills for half an hour and discussed it with him for an equal period and at the end of an hour proclaimed that the Elmira graduate should have a place in the bank. The man rose to the position of head bookkeeper in the First National bank of Chicago and was a trusted employe until his health gave out a few years ago. President Gage then sent him to a health resort in California and took care of him until his death.

This incident is only one of many of the same nature that explain why it is that Frederick Hamlin Mills, who offered his resignation as sales agent of the prison department of the state recently in order to promote harmony between Superintendent of Prisons Scott and Governor Sulzer, is a man of many friends. These friends range from the penologists and students of criminology of America and the rest of the world, the prison officials of the United States and a wide church and social circles, to scores of ex-convicts who are today earning an honest livelihood through Mr. Mills' instrumentality and to men in the prisons who look to him for assistance on their release.

It was his success with the first two ex-convicts for whom he obtained employment that led Mr. Mills to keep up the work. As an illustration of the possibilities of reform among men punished for crime, Mr. Mills relates an experience in Chicago a few years ago. On this occasion he was asked to dine with five one-time convicts he had befriended, three of them from the Elmira reformatory. One of the five was Jarvis, then head bookkeeper of the First National bank; another was private secretary to the general manager of one of the most famous railroads in the country; a third was vice-president of a big coal company, and the others were the chief cashier of a manufacturing company and a theatrical manager.

liveliness through Mr. Mills' instrumentality and to men in the prisons who look to him for assistance on their release.

It was his success with the first two ex-convicts for whom he obtained employment that led Mr. Mills to keep up the work. As an illustration of the possibilities of reform among men punished for crime, Mr. Mills relates an experience in Chicago a few years ago. On this occasion he was asked to dine with five one-time convicts he had befriended, three of them from the Elmira reformatory. One of the five was Jarvis, then head bookkeeper of the First National bank; another was private secretary to the general manager of one of the most famous railroads in the country; a third was vice-president of a big coal company, and the others were the chief cashier of a manufacturing company and a theatrical manager.

liveliness through Mr. Mills' instrumentality and to men in the prisons who look to him for assistance on their release.

It was his success with the first two ex-convicts for whom he obtained employment that led Mr. Mills to keep up the work. As an illustration of the possibilities of reform among men punished for crime, Mr. Mills relates an experience in Chicago a few years ago. On this occasion he was asked to dine with five one-time convicts he had befriended, three of them from the Elmira reformatory. One of the five was Jarvis, then head bookkeeper of the First National bank; another was private secretary to the general manager of one of the most famous railroads in the country; a third was vice-president of a big coal company, and the others were the chief cashier of a manufacturing company and a theatrical manager.

liveliness through Mr. Mills' instrumentality and to men in the prisons who look to him for assistance on their release.

It was his success with the first two ex-convicts for whom he obtained employment that led Mr. Mills to keep up the work. As an illustration of the possibilities of reform among men punished for crime, Mr. Mills relates an experience in Chicago a few years ago. On this occasion he was asked to dine with five one-time convicts he had befriended, three of them from the Elmira reformatory. One of the five was Jarvis, then head bookkeeper of the First National bank; another was private secretary to the general manager of one of the most famous railroads in the country; a third was vice-president of a big coal company, and the others were the chief cashier of a manufacturing company and a theatrical manager.

liveliness through Mr. Mills' instrumentality and to men in the prisons who look to him for assistance on their release.

It was his success with the first two ex-convicts for whom he obtained employment that led Mr. Mills to keep up the work. As an illustration of the possibilities of reform among men punished for crime, Mr. Mills relates an experience in Chicago a few years ago. On this occasion he was asked to dine with five one-time convicts he had befriended, three of them from the Elmira reformatory. One of the five was Jarvis, then head bookkeeper of the First National bank; another was private secretary to the general manager of one of the most famous railroads in the country; a third was vice-president of a big coal company, and the others were the chief cashier of a manufacturing company and a theatrical manager.

liveliness through Mr. Mills' instrumentality and to men in the prisons who look to him for assistance on their release.

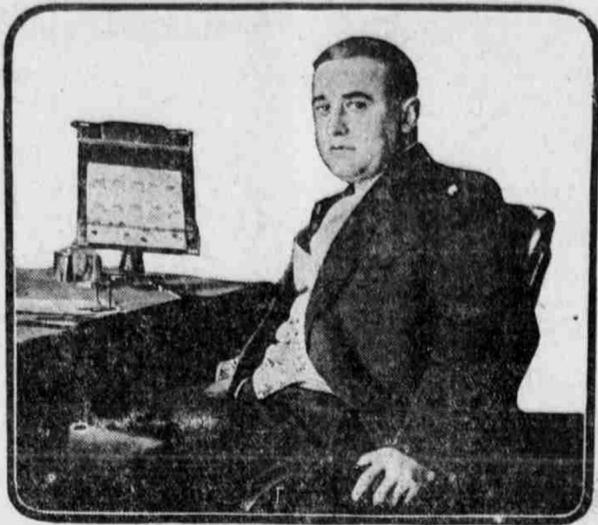

It was his success with the first two ex-convicts for whom he obtained employment that led Mr. Mills to keep up the work. As an illustration of the possibilities of reform among men punished for crime, Mr. Mills relates an experience in Chicago a few years ago. On this occasion he was asked to dine with five one-time convicts he had befriended, three of them from the Elmira reformatory. One of the five was Jarvis, then head bookkeeper of the First National bank; another was private secretary to the general manager of one of the most famous railroads in the country; a third was vice-president of a big coal company, and the others were the chief cashier of a manufacturing company and a theatrical manager.

liveliness through Mr. Mills' instrumentality and to men in the prisons who look to him for assistance on their release.

It was his success with the first two ex-convicts for whom he obtained employment that led Mr. Mills to keep up the work. As an illustration of the possibilities of reform among men punished for crime, Mr. Mills relates an experience in Chicago a few years ago. On this occasion he was asked to dine with five one-time convicts he had befriended, three of them from the Elmira reformatory. One of the five was Jarvis, then head bookkeeper of the First National bank; another was private secretary to the general manager of one of the most famous railroads in the country; a third was vice-president of a big coal company, and the others were the chief cashier of a manufacturing company and a theatrical manager.

liveliness through Mr. Mills' instrumentality and to men in the prisons who look to him for assistance on their release.

HEAD OF NAVY FINGER PRINT BUREAU

Surrounded by files containing over 130,000 cards, holding a silent but positive identification of every man who has enlisted in the navy since 1907, J. E. Taylor, chief of the navy's finger print bureau, is becoming the terror of men who have proved unfaithful in their country's service. In the four years the system has been in operation 1,700 men have been caught. Of those apprehended last year many were deserters, and others had been dishonorably discharged and forbidden to enlist.

that the Elmira graduate should have a place in the bank. The man rose to the position of head bookkeeper in the First National bank of Chicago and was a trusted employe until his health gave out a few years ago. President Gage then sent him to a health resort in California and took care of him until his death.

This incident is only one of many of the same nature that explain why it is that Frederick Hamlin Mills, who offered his resignation as sales agent of the prison department of the state recently in order to promote harmony between Superintendent of Prisons Scott and Governor Sulzer, is a man of many friends. These friends range from the penologists and students of criminology of America and the rest of the world, the prison officials of the United States and a wide church and social circles, to scores of ex-convicts who are today earning an honest livelihood through Mr. Mills' instrumentality and to men in the prisons who look to him for assistance on their release.

It was his success with the first two ex-convicts for whom he obtained employment that led Mr. Mills to keep up the work. As an illustration of the possibilities of reform among men punished for crime, Mr. Mills relates an experience in Chicago a few years ago. On this occasion he was asked to dine with five one-time convicts he had befriended, three of them from the Elmira reformatory. One of the five was Jarvis, then head bookkeeper of the First National bank; another was private secretary to the general manager of one of the most famous railroads in the country; a third was vice-president of a big coal company, and the others were the chief cashier of a manufacturing company and a theatrical manager.

liveliness through Mr. Mills' instrumentality and to men in the prisons who look to him for assistance on their release.

It was his success with the first two ex-convicts for whom he obtained employment that led Mr. Mills to keep up the work. As an illustration of the possibilities of reform among men punished for crime, Mr. Mills relates an experience in Chicago a few years ago. On this occasion he was asked to dine with five one-time convicts he had befriended, three of them from the Elmira reformatory. One of the five was Jarvis, then head bookkeeper of the First National bank; another was private secretary to the general manager of one of the most famous railroads in the country; a third was vice-president of a big coal company, and the others were the chief cashier of a manufacturing company and a theatrical manager.

liveliness through Mr. Mills' instrumentality and to men in the prisons who look to him for assistance on their release.

It was his success with the first two ex-convicts for whom he obtained employment that led Mr. Mills to keep up the work. As an illustration of the possibilities of reform among men punished for crime, Mr. Mills relates an experience in Chicago a few years ago. On this occasion he was asked to dine with five one-time convicts he had befriended, three of them from the Elmira reformatory. One of the five was Jarvis, then head bookkeeper of the First National bank; another was private secretary to the general manager of one of the most famous railroads in the country; a third was vice-president of a big coal company, and the others were the chief cashier of a manufacturing company and a theatrical manager.

liveliness through Mr. Mills' instrumentality and to men in the prisons who look to him for assistance on their release.

It was his success with the first two ex-convicts for whom he obtained employment that led Mr. Mills to keep up the work. As an illustration of the possibilities of reform among men punished for crime, Mr. Mills relates an experience in Chicago a few years ago. On this occasion he was asked to dine with five one-time convicts he had befriended, three of them from the Elmira reformatory. One of the five was Jarvis, then head bookkeeper of the First National bank; another was private secretary to the general manager of one of the most famous railroads in the country; a third was vice-president of a big coal company, and the others were the chief cashier of a manufacturing company and a theatrical manager.

liveliness through Mr. Mills' instrumentality and to men in the prisons who look to him for assistance on their release.

It was his success with the first two ex-convicts for whom he obtained employment that led Mr. Mills to keep up the work. As an illustration of the possibilities of reform among men punished for crime, Mr. Mills relates an experience in Chicago a few years ago. On this occasion he was asked to dine with five one-time convicts he had befriended, three of them from the Elmira reformatory. One of the five was Jarvis, then head bookkeeper of the First National bank; another was private secretary to the general manager of one of the most famous railroads in the country; a third was vice-president of a big coal company, and the others were the chief cashier of a manufacturing company and a theatrical manager.

liveliness through Mr. Mills' instrumentality and to men in the prisons who look to him for assistance on their release.

It was his success with the first two ex-convicts for whom he obtained employment that led Mr. Mills to keep up the work. As an illustration of the possibilities of reform among men punished for crime, Mr. Mills relates an experience in Chicago a few years ago. On this occasion he was asked to dine with five one-time convicts he had befriended, three of them from the Elmira reformatory. One of the five was Jarvis, then head bookkeeper of the First National bank; another was private secretary to the general manager of one of the most famous railroads in the country; a third was vice-president of a big coal company, and the others were the chief cashier of a manufacturing company and a theatrical manager.

liveliness through Mr. Mills' instrumentality and to men in the prisons who look to him for assistance on their release.

It was his success with the first two ex-convicts for whom he obtained employment that led Mr. Mills to keep up the work. As an illustration of the possibilities of reform among men punished for crime, Mr. Mills relates an experience in Chicago a few years ago. On this occasion he was asked to dine with five one-time convicts he had befriended, three of them from the Elmira reformatory. One of the five was Jarvis, then head bookkeeper of the First National bank; another was private secretary to the general manager of one of the most famous railroads in the country; a third was vice-president of a big coal company, and the others were the chief cashier of a manufacturing company and a theatrical manager.

liveliness through Mr. Mills' instrumentality and to men in the prisons who look to him for assistance on their release.

It was his success with the first two ex-convicts for whom he obtained employment that led Mr. Mills to keep up the work. As an illustration of the possibilities of reform among men punished for crime, Mr. Mills relates an experience in Chicago a few years ago. On this occasion he was asked to dine with five one-time convicts he had befriended, three of them from the Elmira reformatory. One of the five was Jarvis, then head bookkeeper of the First National bank; another was private secretary to the general manager of one of the most famous railroads in the country; a third was vice-president of a big coal company, and the others were the chief cashier of a manufacturing company and a theatrical manager.

liveliness through Mr. Mills' instrumentality and to men in the prisons who look to him for assistance on their release.

It was his success with the first two ex-convicts for whom he obtained employment that led Mr. Mills to keep up the work. As an illustration of the possibilities of reform among men punished for crime, Mr. Mills relates an experience in Chicago a few years ago. On this occasion he was asked to dine with five one-time convicts he had befriended, three of them from the Elmira reformatory. One of the five was Jarvis, then head bookkeeper of the First National bank; another was private secretary to the general manager of one of the most famous railroads in the country; a third was vice-president of a big coal company, and the others were the chief cashier of a manufacturing company and a theatrical manager.

liveliness through Mr. Mills' instrumentality and to men in the prisons who look to him for assistance on their release.

It was his success with the first two ex-convicts for whom he obtained employment that led Mr. Mills to keep up the work. As an illustration of the possibilities of reform among men punished for crime, Mr. Mills relates an experience in Chicago a few years ago. On this occasion he was asked to dine with five one-time convicts he had befriended, three of them from the Elmira reformatory. One of the five was Jarvis, then head bookkeeper of the First National bank; another was private secretary to the general manager of one of the most famous railroads in the country; a third was vice-president of a big coal company, and the others were the chief cashier of a manufacturing company and a theatrical manager.

liveliness through Mr. Mills' instrumentality and to men in the prisons who look to him for assistance on their release.

It was his success with the first two ex-convicts for whom he obtained employment that led Mr. Mills to keep up the work. As an illustration of the possibilities of reform among men punished for crime, Mr. Mills relates an experience in Chicago a few years ago. On this occasion he was asked to dine with five one-time convicts he had befriended, three of them from the Elmira reformatory. One of the five was Jarvis, then head bookkeeper of the First National bank; another was private secretary to the general manager of one of the most famous railroads in the country; a third was vice-president of a big coal company, and the others were the chief cashier of a manufacturing company and a theatrical manager.

TAKE PERUNA FOR COUGHS AND COLDS

If you used Peruna at the beginning of every cold you would then appreciate the value of this great remedy. Do not wait until the cold has fastened itself upon you. Take it at the first symptom. This is the way to ward off the cold so that it does you no harm.

Peruna used in the beginning of a cold prevents a cough entirely.

Yes, I mean what I say. It prevents a cough. A cough is an effort to expel catarrhal discharges in the bronchial tubes. There would be no catarrhal discharges in the bronchial tubes if Peruna was taken at the beginning of a cold, therefore there would be no cough. Don't you catch the point?

After the cough begins Peruna will stop it just as quickly as it ought to be stopped. To stop a cough before all of the expectation has been removed is to do great injury. After the expectation has been properly removed the cough will stop itself. That is the only proper way to stop a cough.

Occasionally a cough depends upon an irritable condition of the larynx or bronchial tubes, in which there is little or no expectoration.

The problem of stopping such a cough is a slightly different one. Even in those cases Peruna ought to be taken, but sometimes it is necessary that local treatment be added.

But in any case Peruna is needed. You do not have to stop to write me. Get Peruna at once and commence taking it. You can get rid of that cough sooner I believe than in any other way.

Should you wish to consult me at any time while you are taking Peruna you are at perfect liberty to write me. Your letters will be held strictly confidential and you will receive prompt answer.

I want to stop that cough of yours. I want to stop it before it really begins. I want to stop it before it has a chance to injure your lungs, an injury that you may not recover from during your whole life. Yes, I do. You do your part. I will do mine. No. 54.

COLT DISTEMPER
Can be handled very easily. The sick are cured, and all others in the stable, no matter how "acrossed," kept from having the distemper by using SPOHN'S LIQUID BARK COLT CURE. Give on the tongue, by the feed. Acts on the blood and expels germs of the virus of distemper. Best remedy ever known for horses in foal. One bottle guaranteed to cure one case. See and get a bottle. Send 50 cents of drugists and harness dealers, or send express paid for by manufacturer. Out shows how to position throat. Our formula booklet gives every thing. Local agents wanted. Largest selling horse remedy in existence—twelve years.

SPOHN MEDICAL CO., Chemists and Bacteriologists, Gotham, Ind., U. S. A.

More Money for your Live Stock
by shipping to
ALEX. G. BUCHANAN & SON, South Omaha, Nebraska

Nebraska Directory
Byers Brothers & Co.
Live Stock Commission
SOUTH OMAHA

MURPHY DID IT Auto and Wagon Truck Builders. Repairing, Painting, Trimming, Buggy Wheels repaired and re-rubber tired. Write us for prices. 40 years in the business. Andrew Murphy & Son, Omaha

Consign your HORSES & MULES to WALKER & BLAIN
Union Stock Yards, S. Omaha, Neb., Phone South 679. Auction Sales Every Monday.

COTTON SEED PRODUCTS
We sell all feed used by the feeders, in car and ton lots. Our prices are right. We buy empty sacks. FEEDERS SUPPLY COMPANY
Live Stock Exchange Bldg. South Omaha

FOR HIGHEST PRICES SHIP TO Wood Bros.
LIVE STOCK COMMISSION MERCHANTS
South Omaha Chicago Sioux City So. St. Paul

Try Us—It Will Pay You
Consign your stock to us for good prices, good bills and prompt remittance. Write or wire us for any desired information regarding the market. All communications answered promptly. We are working for your interest and appreciate your business.

N. E. ACKER & CO.,
Live Stock Commission
Room 110-112 Exchange Bldg., Stock Yds. Station, S. Omaha, Neb.

What is a "figure of speech," pa?"
"Well, if talk is cheap, it must be a pretty small figure."

A GRATEFUL OLD MAN.

Mr. W. D. Smith, Ethel, Ky., writes: "I have been using Dodd's Kidney Pills for ten or twelve years and they have done me a great deal of good. I do not think I would be alive today if it were not for Dodd's Kidney Pills. I strained my back about forty years ago, which left it very weak. I was troubled with inflammation of the bladder. Dodd's Kidney Pills cured me of that and the Kidney Trouble. I take Dodd's Kidney Pills now to keep from having Backache. I am 77 years old and a farmer. You are at liberty to publish this testimonial, and you may use my picture in connection with it." Correspond with Mr. Smith about this wonderful remedy.

Dodd's Kidney Pills, 50c. per box at your dealer or Dodd's Medicine Co., Buffalo, N. Y. Write for Household Hints, also music of National Anthem (English and German words) and recipes for dainty dishes. All 3 sent free. Adv.

NEBRASKA TELEPHONE COMPANY
LOCAL LONG DISTANCE TELEPHONE BELL SYSTEM AMERICAN TELEPHONE & TELEGRAPH CO.

The "BELL" Sign
Is the symbol of state-wide and nation-broad telephone service.
Bell Telephone lines reach nearly everywhere.

Why Women Have Nerves
The "blues"—anxiety—sleeplessness—and warnings of pain and distress are sent by the nerves like flying messengers throughout body and limbs. Such feelings may or may not be accompanied by headache or bearing down. The local disorders and inflammation, if there is any, should be treated with Dr. Pierce's Lotion Tablets. Then the nervous system and the entire womanly make-up feels the tonic effect when taken systematically and for any period of time. It is not a "cure-all," but has given uniform satisfaction for over forty years, being designed for the single purpose of curing woman's peculiar ailments.

DR. PIERCE'S FAVORITE PRESCRIPTION

Sold in liquid form or tablets by druggists—or send 50 one-cent stamps for a box of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription Tablets. Ad. Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Every woman ought to possess The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser by R. V. Pierce, M. D., 1008 pages. It answers questions of every kind. Mothers have to care for their children and themselves. It's the best thing you can have. Send 10 one-cent stamps to Dr. Pierce at once.

GOTHAM TO GIVE UP NAVY

Cost of Maintaining Training Ship for Merchant Marine Proves Too Expensive for Results Obtained.

New York.—The navy of New York will be put out of commission within the year, unless something unexpected comes up to rescind the order which has just been issued, and the flag of New York will be seen no more on the high seas or in the ports of the Mediterranean and the north Atlantic.

Ever since 1874 New York has maintained a naval school for the training of officers for the American merchant marine. The fact that there was no American merchant marine to speak of did not at all prevent a great many boys from attending the school and cruising six and eight months at a time, partly at the expense of the state, partly of the city and partly of the nation.

In accordance with a long-established policy, the United States navy has furnished a vessel and a commanding officer for each of the naval schools of the coast states. During the winter the ship lay at a pier in the East river, comfortably housed over and furnishing a convenient and cozy schoolhouse for the boys, numbering from 100 to 250, who were students.

The board of education of New York city has had charge of the school since the organization of Greater New York, and it has grumbled occasionally because of the cost of maintaining the schoolship. A few years ago the St. Mary was recalled and the gun-boat Newport was substituted. The Newport, unlike her predecessor, has engines and she has proved to be a mighty coal eater at a time when coal is costly. Also, the board complained, parents persisted in looking upon the schoolship as a sort of reformatory, where they could load bad boys and get rid of them for half a year in hands that were capable of handling them without gloves, if it was necessary. Accordingly, the board has applied for a change in the city charter abolishing the naval school altogether.

DINNER BY PARCEL POST
Each Guest Mails an Item on the Menu is the Very Latest Social Novelty.

Peekskill, N. Y.—A "parcel post" dinner was introduced as a social novelty by Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Giles of Peekskill, who gave one in their home with a menu of foodstuffs prepared in distant localities and shipped to them by parcel post. The out-of-town guests mailed their contributions to the dinner before starting for Peekskill to enjoy the feast. There was a large roasted chicken from Bound Brook, N. J., corn bread and cheese from Virginia, meat products from Chicago, fruit from Washington, D. C., and pastry from New York. No food was prepared by the host or hostess.

Capt. Roald Amundsen.

discovering the south pole in his undershirt. One would fancy he would have done it in evening clothes.

"Our journey was very pleasant," said the suave Norseman. "We underwent no hardships to speak of. We had a little trouble getting over the great ice range of the Queen Maud mountains at 85 degrees south, but after that we came out on a high plateau, which sloped down in one smooth and unbroken expanse of hard, frozen snow to the pole.

"It was downhill all the way and we were on skis. So you might say we tobogganed to the pole. The sled dogs had hard work to keep up with us.

"There were five of us—Holmer Hansen, Oscar Wisting, Sverre Hassel, Olaf Bjaaland and myself. We had plenty to eat, banqueting every day on pemmican, biscuit, chocolate and powdered milk. The weather was hot. We dripped with perspiration, even in our light clothes.