

Healthy Baby is Precious Blessing

To Make It Healthy and Keep it Healthy Use a Reliable Baby Laxative

In spite of the greatest personal care and the most intelligent attention to diet, babies and children will become constipated, and it is a fact that constipation and indigestion have wrecked many a young life. To start with a good digestive apparatus is to start life without handicap.

But as we cannot all have perfect working bowels we must do the next best thing and acquire them, or train them to become healthy. This can be done by the use of a laxative-remedy very highly recommended by a great many mothers. The remedy is called Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin and has been on the market for two generations. It can be bought conveniently at any drug store for fifty cents or one dollar a bottle, and those who are already convinced of its merits buy the dollar size.

Dorothy Johnson.

"I never saw such rapid improvement in the health of anyone. Syrup Pepsin is a wonderful remedy and I shall never be without it again." Thousands keep Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin constantly in the house, for every member of the family can use it from infancy to old age. The users of Syrup Pepsin have learned to avoid cathartics, salts, mineral waters, pills and other harsh remedies for they do but temporary good and are a shock to any delicate system.

If no member of your family has ever used Syrup Pepsin, and you would like to make a personal trial of it before buying it in the regular way of a druggist, send your address—a postal will do—to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 203 Washington Street, Monticello, Ill., and a free sample bottle will be mailed you.

Wins by Pen; Voice Loses; Refused a License

NEW YORK.—Harry Segal of 107 East 115th street is living proof of the accepted theory that most men who wield a facile pen do not express their views so well orally and that the extemporaneous speaker is not always a literary success.

Segal is a plumber, and he did well in the written examination before the examining board of plumbers for his certificate of competency. But there were seven other candidates who did exactly as well as Segal; in fact, in the same language, which caused the board to investigate. The result was that they and the commissioners of accounts, who took part in the investigation, believed fraud had been perpetrated by the eight whose answers to the questions were the same.

It was decided that either some one had impersonated Segal or else he had a list of the questions asked him before the examination. The certificate granted to Segal was revoked.

Segal was called on when the board first became suspicious to repeat orally some of the things he wrote in his first examination. First he was asked about certain words that appeared on his examination paper. Diamater appeared as "diametar" in the original examination, and on the oral try Segal spelled it "deamete." Frictiou, which he got right the first time, appeared the second time as "fricksen." Circulation he spelled "cerkoolsen."

Segal explained that his answers to questions were based on his reading books on the subject. An examiner of the examining board of plumbers looked over the books, but could find nothing that related to the subject on which Segal was examined.

Here are some of the questions put to Segal by the commissioners of accounts and his answers.

"What is the action of a suction pump?"

"It is known as a pump that takes water from the cellar to the top floor."

"What is a receptacle?"

"It is like a receptacle."

"What does impede mean?"

"Impedes is a thing like—I can't remember."

"What is a pump?"

"I don't remember."

PURELY ACCIDENTAL.

"Had any accident on this road lately?" asked the traveler.

"Yes," replied the man who hangs around the station. "Three trains came in on time last week."

Many a girl with brains enough for two equalizes things by marrying a man without any.

Thousands of Women

Have Been Restored to Health By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

There is no doubt about this fact. Why! during the last 30 years we have published in the newspapers of this country volumes of letters from women who have been relieved of all their suffering by the timely aid of this grand old medicine. Letters like the following, true, genuine and honest expressions of gratitude coming from grateful hearts. Surely you can believe these women.

Mrs. L. S. BRENNER, Hudson, Mich., says:—

"Sometime ago I was taken with a terrible pain in my right side, such sharp pains just like a knife sticking me. I tried hot applications but that did no good. I went to our family doctor (we were living in Fayette, Ohio, at that time) and he said it was organic inflammation. I doctored with him a while but kept getting worse. The pain was so terrible I could hardly stand on my feet. I would have that sharp pain in my right side, and a dull heavy pain the whole length of my limb. I realized that something had to be done quickly, so I looked up all of your advertisements I could find, and saw several that described my case. I got a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it helped me from the first dose, and when I had taken two bottles my trouble was gone. Your medicine has done so much for me that I am willing you should publish this letter for the sake of other suffering women."—Mrs. L. S. BRENNER, Hudson, Michigan.

Mrs. L. E. BOWERS, Girard, Pa., says:—

"I take pleasure in informing you of what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I had a sick spell last February, and for some months after that I was not regular and had many bad feelings. I was tired all the time, had dull headaches, not much appetite, and also what the doctor called organic inflammation. Your Vegetable Compound has entirely cured me and I feel that too much cannot be said in its praise as I am now able to do my own work. You are perfectly welcome to use my testimonial for the benefit of others."—Mrs. L. E. BOWERS, R.F.D. No. 1, Girard, Pa.

Mrs. ELIZABETH GENTILCORE, Buffalo, N.Y., says:—

"I feel that I must write to you about your wonderful remedies. About ten years ago I was troubled with female weakness and was all run down. I was tired all the time and could hardly walk without feeling dizzy. I heard about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, took it, and also used the Sanative Wash. I got stronger, and have not had those dizzy spells since. I feel that I owe my health to you, and hope your remedies will help others as they have me. I tried most everything I heard of, and yours are the best medicines for women's ailments."—Mrs. ELIZABETH GENTILCORE, 26 Gior Street, Buffalo, New York.

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No one sick with woman's ailments does justice to herself if she does not try this famous medicine made from roots and herbs, it has restored so many suffering women to health.

Write to LYDIA E. PINKHAM MEDICINE CO., (CONFIDENTIAL) LYNN, MASS., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

Mare Tries Suicide; Fire Tug Has Narrow Escape

CLEVELAND, O.—A small, black, untamed mare, fresh from the wilds of Arkansas, jumped in the river across from the life-saving station after being unloaded from a box car at the foot of W. 9th street early the other morning.

In effecting the horse's rescue the fire tug Cleveland struck a log which stove in a hole about a foot square on the starboard side below the water line, and the boat nearly sank before it could be tied up in a shallow spot in the Sycamore slip.

Hugh O'Neil, to whom the consignment of wild horses was made, received a kick in the stomach when, together with Captain James Nimmo, of the Cleveland, three of his crew and Captain Hansen of the life-saving crew, attempted to lead the animal over the concrete pier to shore.

When released from the car the animal broke away from the others and ran through the railroad yards, out past the freight houses on the river front to a point near the customs office and opposite the life saving station.

Hesitating only a moment, she jumped to the ice and skated about ten or fifteen minutes, apparently enjoying the experience. The mare's unfamiliarity with so large an expanse of ice proved her undoing. She got near the edge and it broke, throwing her into the water.

The men on shore called for the fire tug, which steamed down the river and broke a channel through the ice, from the horse to a concrete runway leading up to the life saving station.

For an hour and fifteen minutes she swam about in the cold water, resting her nose on cakes of ice when tired. Considering that it was probably her first swimming lesson, and that under untoward conditions, she proved herself an Annette Kellerman among horses.

She displayed an unreasonable desire to swim in the general direction of Canada. Having opened up a channel the crew of the tug lassoed her and towed her across. She walked up the runway and shook herself, seemingly grateful for being saved.

Brave Bulldog Captures a Supposed Safe Blower

CHICAGO.—A dog the other night captured a youth supposed to be a member of a band of safeblowers and held him until the police arrived to take him into custody.

While only a volunteer aid to the overworked police department, the bulldog took hold of things when they got beyond the grasp of Detective Sergeants Mullin and Burns.

So careful was he that his prisoner should not escape that it required all the persuasive power of the two policemen, two other members of the band to which the youth is supposed to belong and the prisoner himself to effect his transfer to the arms of the law. Then a weak spot in the things the dog took hold of when they got beyond the grasp of the detectives was largely responsible for the transfer. The dog kept the weak spot.

The detectives arrested three young men, Michael Meff, 18 years old; Joseph Misina, 22 years old, and William Pisano, 18 years old, at 18th and State streets. They started toward the loop with them on a State street car. At 16th street Pisano leaped from the car and ran toward the lake. Forcing their other two captives ahead of them, the detectives followed, but Pisano, unhampered, easily outdistanced them and disappeared in a yard at 16th street and the Illinois Central tracks.

It was here that the dog became interested. He resented Pisano's intrusion upon his undivided occupancy of the yard, but once he grasped things beyond the officers, he held on.

Pisano's cries attracted the panting minions of the law and the struggle for his transfer began.

Mullin and Burns failed to learn the address of the owner of the dog. They did not have time. He transferred his dislike when he was forced to transfer his prisoner, and took no trouble to conceal that fact.

Bees Brimming With Energy Give Grocer Worry

PITTSBURG, Pa.—There is a grocer in the East End who knows the answer to the question, "How doth the little busy bee?"

What he doesn't know is just what to do when the bees get busy.

The industrious little critters own one complete window section of his store. They are feeding on his sugar, sampling his candy, profiting by his figs and mixing up his dates; and now they are about ready to start a hive.

It all began when an eastern firm made arrangements with the grocer to give a demonstration of the making of honey. With a pretty girl and a bunch of industrious bees the demonstration was bound to be a success.

The girl arrived, and she was according to specifications. The bees arrived by parcel post, and everything was ready for the big advertising stunt. Then Fate butted in and broke the cute little glass house the bees inhabited.

Instantly the honey-makers started out on a foraging expedition. There was nothing in the store they didn't sample.

"Shut the door! Shut the door!" cried the demonstrator. "or they'll get out."

"All right, honey," replied a grocery clerk, forgetting himself in his excitement.

But the stout woman customer waxed hot when she was urged to "shoo" them. "I'd rather slipper 'em," she declared.

But everybody else "shooed," and by and by the bees were corralled in the window section and the section door shut.

The perplexed demonstrator wired east for instructions. In the meantime the bees held the fort.

"Stung!" says the grocer.
