The committee appointed to receive donations for the Omaha storm sufferers have so far received about five hundred dollars. This is exclusive of the one hundred dollars sent by the Chamber of Commerce, the donations made by railroad employes and sent direct to President Mohler and by him turned over to the relief committee, and the personal contributions which many of our citizens sent direct to the relief committee at Omaha. It is probable that the total contributions by North Platte people will aggregate one thousand dollars.

Methodist Conference a Success.

In face of the severe storm that was raging Wednesday evening, a large crowd assembled to hear Bishop Frank M. Bristol's sermon on "The Use of the Boat." To say the people were delighted is to put it too lightly. Such dramatic eloquence the people of North Platte perhaps never heard before. His message was one direct to the heart of both the laity and the ministry. Every man felt the weight of the argument, and as the Bishop made his appeal for a broader and more brotherly church each man felt it in his heart to make his church such. Following the sermon the men resorted to the Masonic hall where a delightful banquet was served by the ladies. About 60 men were present. Prof. Tout, president of the local Brotherhood, made an address of welcome which was followed by another address by the Bishop. This was a live message to live men. His theme was "The Laity" and every man felt his heart burn within as the appeal was made for a higher manhood.

Cody Opens in Philadelphia.

The Wild West Show opened the 1913 season in the convention hall in Philadelphia Thursday evening of last week. There was a big crowd present and the Colonel received a most enthusiastic reception. In speaking of the performance the Press says: "There was a murmur of surprise as Buffalo Bill made his appearance in the arena seated in a trap behind a pair of cream colored horses instead of in the saddle. The promise of two seasons ago that he intended to retire had been fulfilled. It was the first time in 30 years that the frontiersman had not gone before the public attired in buckskins and mounted on his favorite pony. 'I feel bad about this,' Colonel Cody confided to the audience, 'but I decided to dismount before Father Time bucked me out of the saddle. I am still healthy enough to enjoy seeing some young 'pal' do the two-day, and in the future I shall be still 'on deck,' if not so prominent in the ring."

An April Snow Storm.

This section of Nebraska was favored this week with about eight inches of snow, favored, we say, because it brought needed moisture. The snow was very moist and the amount of water contained therein equaled 1.07 inches. Light rain began falling Tuesday, which later turned to snow, and this kept intermittently falling until Wednesday night. The temperature the greater part of the storm period was above the freezing period, hence the snow has been melting and sinking into the ground gradually.

Seed Oats for Sale.

BUCHANAN & PATTERSON.

Harry Jensen, a boy under eighteen years of age, was arrested Tuesday afternoon by the Sheriff of Keith county on complaint of Fred Maline, who resides near town. The boy is charged with larceny and plead guilty in the county court Wednesday to the theft of several guns, pieces of artillery and $8.00 in cash, all of which were found on his person. The court held over its decision awaiting word from the boy's guardian who resides at McCook. If the latter refuses to pay the costs of the case and take charge of the boy he will be sent to the Kearney industrial school.

You can get your worn-out carpets made into beautiful durable rugs. Write the Lincoln Rug Factory, Lincoln, Neb., for illustrating folder.

By a law passed a few days ago and signed by Governor Morehead the telegraph message rate to points in the state has been reduced from forty to twenty-five cents. The law became effective at once, but on Wednesday, two days after the bill had been signed by the governor, the old rate was charged by both offices in this city. This would indicate that the two companies do not intend to obey the law and will take the matter into the courts.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Henry Cordes was held from the Lutheran church Tuesday afternoon. Rev. C. B. Harman conducted the services which were attended by a large concourse of sorrowing friends. Many beautiful floral offerings were banked on the casket. Interment was made in the North Platte cemetery.

Found a Cure for Rheumatism.

"I suffered with rheumatism for two years and could not get my right hand to my mouth for that length of time," writes Lee L. Chapman, Mapleton, Ia. "I suffered terrible pain so I could not sleep or lie still at night. Five years ago I began using Chamberlain's Liniment and in two months I was well and have not suffered with rheumatism since." For sale by all dealers.

The Time Table.

The time table was invented in the days when the railroads had so many faults that something had to be done to divert attention of the public.

The ordinary one road time table is confusing enough, but the sort that affect to offer information as to the running of trains on connecting lines are the ones that cause strong men to leap from the clutch of their keepers and race choo-chooing hither and yon.

You are going to take No. 8 from Oopspush to Ippelling on the O. G. and N. B. You find that to do this you leave No. 8 at Gosofar and connect with No. 32 on the P. L. and U. C. for Wibbleville, where you catch No. 17. The man who sells you the ticket makes this plain to you. But when you try to unravel the time card you discover that you are also governed by Note B and three or four references. At Wibbleville you learn that No. 17, according to Note Q, runs only on Thursdays when it is raining and you will have to wait until 9:22 p. m. and take No. 13.

The simplest way to use a time table is to add the figures in any one column, divide the sum by the amount of your fare and stay at home.

Ignatius Donnelly cherished a theory that Bacon also wrote the time tables. —Chicago Post.

Pagodas in Burma.

Eight or nine miles below Mandalay, in Burma, the right bank of the Irrawaddy is hilly, and in the neighborhood of the old Burmese town of Saganing the hills are dotted all over with pagodas. These are not temples, says a writer in the Wide World Magazine, but are built by pious people as offerings to the supreme power, it being generally believed that such acts of devotion count to the builders' credit in the next world. The pagodas are of all kinds, according to the means of the builders, from primitive white-washed structures to ornate erections with grotesque gilded lions. The lions have various meanings, but stand chiefly as a reminder of unselfish devotion. An ancient Burmese legend, taught to all Burmese children, is that of a lioness who nursed and guarded the baby son of a king and who died of a broken heart when the prince grew up and went away.

Japan's Anthem.

The Japanese national anthem is the most poetically worded in the world, with the possible exception of the Norwegian, "Ja, vi elsker," written by Bjornstjerne Bjornson. That is, of course, a matter of opinion, but the Japanese anthem is commendably short and makes, in its English form, an eminently pleasing poem. Its ten lines are as follows:

Until this grain of sand,
Tossed by each wavelet's freak,
Grew to a cloud girl peak,
Towering above the land;
Until the dewy flake
Beading this blossom's gold
Swelt to a mighty lake—
Age upon age untold
Joy to joy manifold
Add for our sovereign's sake.
—London Chronicle.

Panoramas.

The panorama was invented by one Robert Barker of Scotland as far back as 1788. In 1788 Barker exhibited at Edinburgh a view of that city painted around the walls of a circular building, the first picture of its kind ever seen. He then commenced similar exhibitions in London, having adopted the name "panorama." He later on built commodious quarters in Leicester square for his exhibitions. Barker died in 1836, leaving his well nigh perfected art to be continued by others.

A Useless Question.

Aunt Eliza came up the walk and said to her small nephew: "Good morning, Willie. Is your mother 'in'?" "Sure she's in," replied Willie truculently. "Do you s'pose I'd be workin' in the garden on Saturday morning if she wasn't?"
