Notice to Dog Owners.
As there are a great many stray and worthless dogs in North Platte, it becomes necessary for the dog owners who wish to let them run in the street, to go to the office of the city clerk and procure a tag which must be attached to the dog's collar. This must be done on or before May 1, for after that all dogs without tags that are found at large will be killed.

A June Convention.

North Platte is getting to be known as a convention town; a month or so ago we had the state firemen's convention, then the teachers' association convention, then the ministerial convention, and now on June 7th we will have the convention of the state league of building and loan associations. At the last convention T. C. Patterson was not only elected president of the league, but the members further honored North Platte by naming it as the place for the 1913 convention. This gathering will not be large, probably about fifty delegates, nevertheless the Chamber of Commerce in conjunction with President Patterson and officers of the local association will see that visitors are so treated that they will be anxious to return. The entertainment will include auto rides and a banquet.
