

WASN'T GOING INTO DETAILS

Four-Year-Old Had His Own Idea of Propriety of Not Airing Strictly Personal Affairs.

One little four-year-old boy who doesn't live far from Central park west, New York, has as his particular playmate a little girl of about the same age. The children frequently spend their evenings together, and the other morning the girl came to the fence and called him.

"Alton," she cried, "come out and play."

Alton's mother heard the call and said to him:

"Tell her you can't come over just now because you have to take a bath."

So Alton went to the front window. "Elizabeth," he called, "I can't come over now."

Then he turned back to his mother and added:

"I don't sink the rest of it need be said."

HANDS BURNING, ITCHING

905 Lowell Place, Chicago, Ill.—"The trouble began by my hands burning and itching and I rubbed and scratched them till one day I saw little red sores coming out. My hands were disfigured and swollen, and troubled me so that I could not sleep. They were cracked and when the small sores broke a white matter would come out. I could not do any hard work; if I did the sores would come out worse. For two years nobody could cure my eczema, until one day I thought I would try the Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I used warm water with the Cuticura Soap and after that I put the Cuticura Ointment on my hands twice a day for about five or six months when I was cured." (Signed) Sam Marcus, Nov. 28, 1911. Cuticura Soap and Ointment sold throughout the world. Sample of each free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. L, Boston." Adv.

Aged Survivors of Our Wars.

I am informed by the United States pension office that the last soldier of the rebellion will die in 1955. That is the estimate made by those who make a study of vital statistics. If the last veteran survives until that date he will have lived ninety years after the surrender of Lee.

Kronk, who died a couple of years ago in New York state, was the last soldier of the War of 1812, and he lived considerably more than ninety years after peace had been signed. Hakeman, the last soldier of the Revolution, lived for eighty-six years after the peace of 1783.—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Their Message.

The evening callers were chatting with their hosts when there came a patter of little feet along the hall.

"Hush," whispered the hostess, raising her hand; "the children are coming with their good-night message. It always gives me a feeling of reverence to hear them. They are so much nearer to heaven than we, and they speak from the fullness of their little hearts never so freely as when the dark has come. Listen!"

There was a moment's pause, and then the message came in a shrill whisper: "Mama," it ran, "Willis found a cockroach in the tub."

His Honor Was Safe.

Chief Justice Isaac Russell of the court of special sessions tells how he went to the city hall to call on the mayor on a rainy day, and as he was leaving the building he slipped and bumped all the way down the stone steps. A man rushed up, helped him to his feet and asked:

"Is your honor hurt?" "No," replied the judge; "my honor remains intact, but my spine seems to be jarred."—New York Sun.

Opportunity probably knocked at your door while you were out gossiping with the neighbors.

"LIKE MAGIC"

New Food Makes Wonderful Changes.

When a man has suffered from dyspepsia so many years that he can't remember when he had a natural appetite, and then hits on a way out of trouble he may be excused for saying "It acts like magic."

When it is a simple, wholesome food instead of any one of a large number of so-called remedies in the form of drugs, he is more than ever likely to feel as though a sort of miracle has been performed.

A Chicago man, in the delight of restored digestion, puts it in this way: "Like magic, fittingly describes the manner in which Grape-Nuts relieved me of poor digestion, coated tongue and loss of appetite, of many years standing."

"I tried about every medicine that was recommended to me, without relief. Then I tried Grape-Nuts on the suggestion of a friend. By the time I had finished the fourth package, my stomach was all right, and for the past two months I have been eating with a relish anything set before me. That is something I had been unable to do previously for years."

"I am stronger than ever and I consider the effects of Grape-Nuts on a weak stomach as something really wonderful. It builds up the entire body as well as the brain and nerves." Name given by the Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

"There's a reason," and it is explained in the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

IS GIVEN LOVE SUIT

Arkansan Appeals to U. S. Court in Breach of Promise Case.

Girl Given Verdict of $100,000 by Jury That Was Out Thirty Minutes in Federal Court at Little Rock, Arkansas.

Little Rock, Ark.—The Supreme court of the United States is to have the unusual experience of reviewing a breach of promise case which, in the federal circuit court here, was compared to the play "Everywoman," by the attorney for the plaintiff.

William C. Faucette has appealed to that tribunal the judgment of $100,000 given to Loda Anderson, who charged that he had broken his repeated promises to marry her.

Miss Anderson told the jury that Faucette came into her life when she was but fifteen years old. At that time he frequently met her as she left her mother's boarding house on errands and always talked to her, complimenting her beauty and commenting on what fine clothing would do for her.

Jan. 1, 1911, she testified, she went to his office at his invitation. Soon after that, she told the jury, he sent her to Central college at Conway, Ark., to fit her to become his wife. She said that there was not any time an intimation that he was not to marry her. He provided for all of her expenses, including two operations.

She was compelled to withdraw from Central college because the president disapproved of her acquaintance with Faucette and she went to Springfield, Mo. While in the latter city she received several endearing letters. This was after she had copied, at Faucette's request, she testified, a letter releasing him from their engagement. She said that he asked her to do this merely to please his family. He would still regard her as previously.

Faucette's defense was an attack on Miss Anderson's character.

Attorney Chamberlain, for the plaintiff, in summing up the case to the jury, drew his argument from the play "Everywoman," and quoted the play freely. Attorney Blackwood, for the defense, drew a picture of the business man as a prey of designing women.

Judge Trieber in his charge to the jury stripped the case of romance and sentiment and asked the jury to decide two questions: Was there an engagement to wed? And was Faucette responsible for Loda Anderson's moral standing? The jury was out only thirty minutes and returned a judgment for $100,000, the full amount asked.

Mrs. Barney Hemmick Declares Women Will Then Wear Trousers.

Washington.—In 2013 A. D. men and women will both wear trousers and kissing will be a lost art, according to the prophecy in a new playlet written by Mrs. Barney Hemmick, the fairy godmother of Washington society.

Mrs. Hemmick will produce the play for the first time as the curtain raiser to her suffrage play.

In addition to the above noted changes, Mrs. Hemmick predicts that in 2013 character as well as health certificates will be required attachments to marriage licenses.

HAS BULL THAT GIVES MILK

Animal Was Raised at the Delaware College Experimental Farm.

Newark, Del.—The Delaware college experimental farm has a curiosity in the shape of a Guernsey bull which gives milk Professor Harry Hayward, director of the farm, admitted the presence of the phenomenon saying: "It is unusual for a bull to give milk, but it is not impossible for males of the bovine family to develop mammary glands."

King Beda is the name of this bull and his milk is rich in fats.

MANY LOST ARTICLES HERE

Wonderful Depot in Paris Removed to Larger Quarters—100,000 Pieces Await Owners.

Paris.—The wonderful depot of lost articles, which for thirty years had its temporary headquarters at the Prefecture of Police, is about to be removed to the Caserne de la Clite, with its stocks of 100,000 heterogeneous articles. According to these figures, one out of thirty adult Parisians loses something every day, and the police depot was really growing too small.

There is a story of one particularly oblivious lady who lost the same umbrella twenty-three times. She went to fetch it twenty-two times, but the twenty-third time she was too much ashamed to redeem it. However, a few days later she thought she would just go out of curiosity and see if her umbrella was there. Sure enough it was, and as all the employees by that time knew her, one of them said to her with a smile, "Madame, will you not come and take your umbrella?" She had to take it the twenty-third time, even against her desire. We are not told how many times she lost it after that.

Other stories which the police have to tell are scarcely less amusing. Loads of lost articles find their way to the depot after some great celebration. The day after the departure of the king of Spain the most astounding finds were made. The depot received two swords with damask blades and handles of solid gold, a neck chain of diamonds, rubies and emeralds, ear

WILL ENTER ARCTICS

J. K. Cornwall Will Guide Expedition on Mackenzie.

Party of Writers and Artists Will Explore the Far North That Its Resources May Be Made Known to All.

Edmonton, Alta.—James K. Cornwall of Edmonton, member of the provincial parliament for Peace river, will conduct a party of writers, artists and moving picture photographers down the Mackenzie river, to the hinterland of Alberta, to the fringe of the Arctic circle, to show the life of the Indian, fur trapper, traders and settlers and the development of the country. A film company will send two machines and an operator. The party will return about the end of the year.

Among others the party will include Mr. Cornwall, who has passed a quarter century in the northland; Charles Russell, the Indian artist of Montana; Emerson Hough, author and special writer; P. K. Miller, scientist, and George Fraser, chronologist.

The route is from Edmonton to Athabasca Landing by rail, along the Athabasca river to the Mackenzie river by way of Lesser Slave and Great Slave lakes, down the Mackenzie to Porcupine, to the Yukon, visiting Dawson and Whitehorse and going thence to Herschell's island.

The explorers, traveling in scows, skiffs and steamers, will visit the numerous trading posts in the north, and it is probable that several photographs will be worked out by the real pioneers of the country.

Mr. Cornwall, who is financing the project, is the head of the Northern Trading company, which operates a line of boats on northern waters. He has been over thousands of miles of the virgin territory, and is known among the dwellers of the north as far as any white man has yet penetrated the interior.

HAS MACHINE TO CUT SKULLS

Doctor Demonstrates Electrical Apparatus for Trepanning—Reduces the Pain.

Chicago.—Skull cutting by machinery is the latest development in cranial surgery. And a doctor in Chicago is the inventor. A secret demonstration was given at a meeting of a medical society and surgeons who were permitted to witness the operation are said to have been greatly interested.

The machine is a cylindrical saw operated at high speed by electricity. A patient can be trepanned by this method in a fraction of the time required by the old chisel and hand-worked saw.

In emergency, it was stated, the new machine can be attached to any kind of electric current. In cases requiring instant operation it is claimed that the new machine will save many patients who formerly would have been considered hopeless cases.

Its greatest usefulness, however, is said to lie in the fact that the number of operable cases will be increased to include many whose weakness of heart action would prohibit them from being anesthetized long enough for operation by the old method.

His electrically driven saw will rotate at an exceedingly high speed, cutting at a mere touch, so that in the hands of a skilled surgeon the trepanning operation will be relieved of a great portion of its danger.

The machine has not yet been tried on a living subject, for the doctor wanted an authoritative confirmation of his own views.

TENDERFEET WIN WORLD CHAMPIONSHIP

HILL AND SONS, THE OAT CHAMPIONS, ARE COCKNEYS BORN AND BRED.

City-bred in the world's greatest metropolis and untrained as to things agricultural, were J. C. Hill and his three boys when they settled on homesteads at Lloydminster, in the Province of Saskatchewan (western Canada), eight years ago. Today they are the recognized champion oat growers of the North American continent, having won twice in succession the silver challenge cup, valued at $1,500, at the Fifth National Corn exposition, Columbia, S. C. The Plate, officially known as the Colorado Oat trophy, is emblematic of the grand championship prize for the best bushel of oats exhibited by individual farmers or experiment farms at these expositions.

The Hill entry won this year in the face of the keenest competition, hundreds of exhibits being sent by experienced farmers from all parts of the United States and Canada. The oats were grown on land which was wild prairie less than four years ago.

When Mr. Hill and his three sons, who probably never saw a wider acreage than the hills of Hampstead Heath, or the parks of London, came to Saskatchewan eight years ago, they had little more capital than was required for homestead entry fees. They filed on four homesteads, in the Lloydminster district, which straddles the boundary of Alberta and Saskatchewan. They went to work with a will, ripping the rich brown sod with breaking plows and put in a crop, which yielded fair returns.

They labored early and late and denied themselves paltry pleasures, glad to stand the gaff for a while in rising to their possibilities. They talked with successful farmers and studied crops and conditions and profited by both. The new life on the farm was strange but they never lost heart, handicapped as they were by lack of experience and capital.

The farm house, modern in every respect, compares favorably with any residence in the city. The Hills have substantial bank accounts and their credit is gilt-edge from Edmonton to Winnipeg and beyond.

"There is nothing secret about our methods nor is our plan copyrighted. We first made a thorough study of climatic conditions, soil and seed," said Mr. Hill. "We tended our crops carefully and gradually added live stock, realizing from the beginning that mixed farming would pay larger and more certain returns than straight grain growing. We have demonstrated that fact to our satisfaction and the result is that many of the farmers in the district are following our example."

The land that the Hills work is of the same class as may be found anywhere in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta.—Advertisement.

WOMAN COULD NOT WALK

She Was So Ill—Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Pentwater, Mich.—"A year ago I was very weak and the doctor said I had a serious displacement. I had backache and bearing down pains so bad that I could not sit in a chair or walk across the floor and I was in severe pain all the time. I felt discouraged as I had taken everything I could think of and was no better. I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and now I am strong and healthy."—Mrs. ALICE DARLING, R.F.D. No. 2, Box 77, Pentwater, Mich.

Read What Another Woman says: Peoria, Ill.—"I had such backaches that I could hardly stand on my feet. I would feel like crying out lots of times, and had such a heavy feeling in my right side. I had such terrible dull headaches every day and they would make me feel so drowsy and sleepy all the time, yet I could not sleep at night."

"After I had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a week I began to improve. My backache was less and that heavy feeling in my side went away. I continued to take the Compound and am cured."

"You may publish this if you wish."

The Effects of Opiates.

THAT INFANTS are peculiarly susceptible to opium and its various preparations, all of which are narcotic, is well known. Even in the smallest doses, if continued, these opiates cause changes in the functions and growth of the cells which are likely to become permanent, causing imbecility, mental perversion, a craving for alcohol or narcotics in later life. Nervous diseases, such as intractable nervous dyspepsia and lack of staying powers are a result of dosing with opiates or narcotics to keep children quiet in their infancy. The rule among physicians is that children should never receive opiates in the smallest doses for more than a day at a time, and only then if unavoidable.

The administration of Anodynes, Drops, Cordials, Soothing Syrups and other narcotics to children by any but a physician cannot be too strongly decried, and the druggist should not be a party to it. Children who are ill need the attention of a physician, and it is nothing less than a crime to dose them willfully with narcotics.

Castoria contains no narcotics if it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. Genuine Castoria always bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.
