Students Give a Pleasing Recital

The first annual recital of students of the North Platte school of music was held at the studio on west Front street, and was very largely attended. The program included both vocal and piano selections and each number was enthusiastically applauded; in fact the program as a whole was so excellently rendered as to establish the fact that the North Platte School of Music is proving a wonderful benefit in furthering the talents possessed by the young people of the city.

This recital closed the first year of this school, which is affiliated with the state university school of music, and the initial year has surpassed in attendance the expectations of the direcorado to visit relatives for several tor Mrs. Elizabeth Bonner-Cramer and her assistant Mrs. Karr-Langston, the Charles McNamara went to Lewellen, former conducting the piano course and yesterday morning to transact business | the latter the voice course. During the year fifty-seven students were enrolled.

In a talk following the program, Mrs. Cramer outlined the plans for the coming year, which will include a down town studio, the establishing of an elocutionary department and the addition of two teachers to the faculty. Miss Omega McNamara, a former North Platte girl, has been engaged as the teacher evening for Silt, Colo., to spend a of elecution, and a plane teacher secured for the more advanced pupils in that Organize Mothers' Club.

A score or more North Platte matrons met at the public library building Friday afternoon and organized a Mothers' Club by the election of the following officers: President, Mrs. W. J. Redfield; vice-president, Mrs. Charles Bogue; secretary, Mrs. E. W. Crane; treasurer, Mrs. Edmond Dickey. The object of the club, asstated by a resolution adopted, is to bring about a closer relationship between the home and school to co-operate with our teachers in the moral, mental and physical culture of our children and the children of the community; to promote culture in our homes, and to assist any movement that has for its object the betterment of the social and commercial conditions of our city.

The club was organized with a charter membership of twenty-six, which will ing of the club will be held at the public library Friday afternoon of this week,
