

Silverware

In the days of forefathers, Spoons and Forks were strictly utensils. Spoons of one sort or the other, were generally used—but Forks are so modern that few possessed them in the days of the American colonies, and the majority did not know their use. That Spoons and forks should possess beauty of line or have artistic merit in design was not in those days a matter of concern.

Spoons and Forks

are now considered an important factor in one's table appointments and great care should be given to the selection of a pattern. This is as it should be.

Our patterns are the work of skilled designers and offered in sufficient variety to satisfy every taste and in weights to meet every demand.

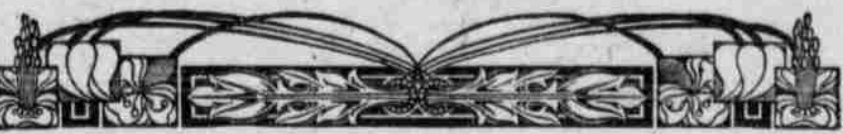

We desire to show you a beautiful stock from which to make your selections.

CRYSTAL THEATRE

Friday Night

"His Friend, the Undertaker" tells the story of a man who thinks that he is adopting a clever ruse to prevent his wife's parents from visiting him but the joke like a curse came home to roost.

"Soul to Soul" a two reel Eclair released July 30th. The situations developed well and one sees the young wife placed where she must either expose her father for killing Dago Bill, or see her husband stand the blame. Nancy Averill takes the part of the wife, Will Sheerer is the father, and J. W. Johnston plays the husband.

Saturday Night

"The Toll of the Desert" is a frontier release with some marvelous views of the desert.

"That Chinese Laundry" is an Imp release of August 2, and is a funny film.

"The Power of Heredity" introduces a subject over which there has been much discussion. The daughter of common people and whose father was a disolute sailor, is adopted by a family of a higher scale in life. Upon falling in love, she writes in her diary, "I must have a yellow streak, I'm in love with the butler." Class distinction may prove things not very commendable at times, but in this picture we see that environment may change us externally, but the unwritten law of heredity invariably asserts itself.
