Sunday Big Day at Christian Church

Sunday was a day of victories, enthusiasm and rejoicing at the Christian church. The day was beautiful and a arge crowd assembled for the bible dinner after the church service. The evil, the industrial question and the concentration of wealth.

lars being pledged by those present.

After the morning servicedinner was picnic dinner prepared by the ladies.

Knowles preached on "Pressing Forward". This was a stirring message and very practical. He spoke of the need of pressing forward to still greater of labor, but since Alan seemed fitachievements.

After this service a business meeting of all the church was held at which time the recommendation of the board was obliged to prepare himself for his five years was unanimously and enthusiastically adopted. Mr. Knowles was brought in and the audience rose and gave the Chautauqua salute. It was also voted unanimously that Mr. Whiston and wife come back in two years and hold another meeting for the church.

The Christian Endeavor held its first meeting at 6:30 in the church basement a third rate newspaper. At this he about eighty young people being present. Dr. Mangon, the president, led the meeting and all the young people took part well, making a very interesting and live meeting. Fifty signed as charter members and the work of this new organization is promising great things for the future.

The evening service at 7:45 was the climax of a great day. The church was packed to its utmost capacity gand people were turned away for lack of room.

Mr. Whiston preached on the "Priceloss Pearl." This was a great message in which the wonderful love of God for lost men and women was shown. Mr. Whiston said there were three things company quickly returned the picture beyond his comprehension, space, eternity and God's love for sinful men.

There were nine additions during this service bringing the total up to 123. Despite the influence of many disagreeable circumstances the meeting has been a wonderfully successful one. And the enthusiasm shown by the people in unamiously voting to that he forgot that the picture was to that Mr. Knowles be called by this profession in America. A part of a church to be their pastor for the next course in an art school was all the instruction he received. Then he began to try to pick up a living as best he could by making pictures.

Like most persons of artistic nature, he first flew high. He painted on canvas, but no one cared to buy his plctures. Then he tried to get an order to illustrate books; but, the field being occupied, he sank to an illustrator for made just enough to keep body and soul together.

One day Alan saw a baby sleeping in its crib. He was much impressed with the reinxedness of the little one and wondered if he could transfer it to paper. He tried and was eminently successful. The child slept just as sleepily on paper as he did in his crib.

"I'll tell you what you do with that, Alan," said a friend. "Send it to a baby food company and ask for an order to put it in oils for an ad."

Alan shuddered at the suggestion. Was he indeed reduced to applying his art for business purposes? But he needed money to pay his room rent, so he acted on his friend's advice. The with the order he had solicited, offering him $100 for his work. When the picture was finished every one who saw it remarked: "How pretty!" "Dear little thing!"

"Sound asleep, isn't he?"

These remarks and other such ingenuous criticisms so pleased the artist

The Omaha Bee of Sunday contained pictures of the Nebraska consuls of the Lincoln highway, of which the T. C. Patterson is one. Each county in the state through which the highway passes has a consul. The Bee also contained two pictures of Mossers. Patterson, See. berger, Wilcox, Fowles and Hoagland, which was taken while on the road between here and Sutherland, and which is labled as Lincoln county good roads boosters.

When letters were sent out to the 2000 whose names were drawn in the scentland drawing, a card was enclosed asking that reply be made whether he or she desired to select land. These replies have been coming in at a manded a high price was because they lively rate during the past few days 200 were advertised. when he sent it to the food company and received it back again with instructions to put in it a baby's bottle with the words "Perains' Food" on it he almost cried.

However, the promise of a check as soon as the picture was returned with the "essentials" painted in helped to sweeten the dose, and Alan got himself down to the task. He received the self a new outfit of clothes and a good meal. Thus improved in body and mind he bethought himself what next to do. Art is art, even on a sign or an advertisement, and not a few of the world's great artists have been obliged To get that relaxedness on canvas or in marble that Alan had transferred from the sleeping child is one of the main features of genius. Persons who saw the Perkins food advertisement saw simply a sleeping child. Here and the high school teachers, attended the there one who knew the picture's Hallows'en program and "chicken sup- Intrinsic worth supposed that the work per at the Platte Valley; school house of some great artist had been approprinted.

Alan knew he had produced something that he had only seen in drawthe proud parents of a nine pound girl higs which were exhibited as treasures of art. He determined to try it again with a dancing girl. Between the model when placed on the canvas and other pictures of dancers was the same difference as between two girls the one of whom is born graceful and the other is not. He continued to work in this vein till his $100 was exhausted, but by this time one of his pictures was sold, for a song, it is true, but it produced money. This was the first encouragement of a practical kind that the young artist received. That first bank bill paid him, though but a tithe of the price paid him for his ad., was far more grateful to him. But this was a matter of sentiment.

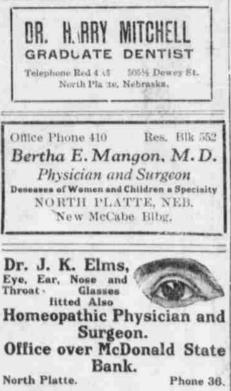

One who saw the picture that Alan had sold and who recognized it for what it was really worth wanted one by the same artist. This led to another sale, and these two led to others, and it was not long before dealers would say to inquirers, "Oh, that's an original Vall, and his pictures come high.

But these earlier prices were dwarfed by those Alan obtained ten years later. In one respect his work did not improve, but in other respects it did A genius for portraying figures with absolutely no stiffness about them was born in him. The accessories were an accumulation of experiences. But the main reason why his pictures comkins' food, depended on their being shown to large numbers of persons, advertised himself.
